NDP MAY WALK OUT IF MAULING CONTINUES

TORONTO (CP)—Reid Scott (NDP—Danforth) says the 21 New Democratic Party members of Parliament might walk out of the House today if the two major parties continue to maul each other over the Munsinger affair.

Mr. Scott, one of a number of Toronto-area MPs interviewed during the weekend over the sex-and-security Munsinger situation, said he advocated the measure last week and will again today unless the issue is resolved.

'Cardin Must Go' —Fulton

OTTAWA (UPI) — Former Conservative Justice Minister Davie Fulton called today for the resignation of Prime Minister Pearson unless he can secure Justice Minister Lucien Cardin's departure from the cabinet.

Times News Services

OTTAWA—With a plea to members of parliament not to betray the trust of the voters who sent them here, Prime Minister Pearson today announced establishment of a judicial inquiry into all aspects of the Munsinger case.

Pearson told a tense and jammed Commons the inquiry would be headed by Mr. Justice Wishart F. Spence, 62, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

He said he hoped to be able to table the terms of reference for the inquiry later in the day.

Speaking to near-full benches on both government and opposition sides of the Commons—and to overflowing visitors' galleries—Pearson said the inquiry's scope specifically laid out the charge that the entanglement of former Conservative ministers with blonde Gerda Munsinger jeopardized the country's safety.

IN UPROAR

The Commons has been in an uproar since last Thursday when Justice Minister Lucien Cardin told a news conference more than one minister in John Diefenbaker's past Conservative government had been involved in a "bona fide security case" with Mrs. Munsinger.

Cardin also accused Diefenbaker of mishandling the case by not referring it to the law officers of the crown and trying to sweep it under the rug.

The House was quiet and seemingly subdued and perhaps remorseful as the prime minister spoke today. Mr. Pearson called the affair "unhappy and distressing."

Mr. Pearson said Parliament had reached a "frightening situation."

The atmosphere and attitudes which degraded Parliament and demeaned democracy must be changed.

Mr. Pearson said he would make no attempt to assess the blame for the situation.

MENTIONS BITTERNESS

But it had not developed suddenly. It was the culmination of long sessions carried on in an atmosphere of extreme partisanship, bitterness and suspicion.

Three consecutive elections which had returned minority governments also contributed to the situation.

"Nothing to do with it," an unidentified Opposition MP snapped.

Former Conservative Justice Minister Davie Fulton said today in the Commons he was told by the Liberals eight days before the Munsinger case broke that the affair would be disclosed by the government if the Conservatives persisted in

GERDA SELLS STORY

By PETER BUCKLEY

MUNICH, West Germany (CP) — Gerda Munsinger, blonde central figure in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, will fly to Canada to clear her name, her new literary agent said today.

The agent, Josef von Ferenczy, said in a statement that Mrs. Munsinger has left Munich to escape reporters, but would remain in West Germany, working with his writers, for two or three days.

In his statement, Ferenczy confirmed that Mrs. Munsinger, a 37-year-old former beauty queen, is the woman named in the Canadian allegations that she had links with two or more former Conservative cabinet ministers.

Ferenczy, who has bought the world rights to her story for his feature agency, Ferenczy Presse Agentur, said he paid hundreds of thousands of marks for Mrs. Munsinger's "shocking story."

The West German mark is worth slightly less than 27 cents in Canadian funds.

LEAVES APARTMENT

Mrs. Munsinger, described by her neighbors as pleasant and respectable, slipped out of her modest apartment Sunday night with two unidentified men and entered a car which had just pulled out. The escorts pushed away one reporter and their car struck another as they drove off.

Meanwhile, the Bild Zeitung, West Germany's largest circulation newspaper, quotes her as saying:

"I am no spy, I skipped out of the East in 1948 because it didn't suit me over there anymore. Of all people, why should I stick out my neck for Canadian politics?

"What's all the fuss? What have I done that's so criminal? Let them bring down the government. That's none of my business any more.

"Naturally I knew Pierre Sevigny (former Conservative cabinet minister); I knew lots of men. But that's my private affair."

'CHARMING GUY'

Then referring to Sevigny, she was quoted as adding thoughtfully:

"It's too bad about Pierre. He was such a charming guy. Just imagine, they want to trip him up on something like that."

Before leaving the apartment Sunday night, Mrs. Munsinger had holed up for 36 hours as she negotiated with persons seeking to buy her story.

Mrs. Munsinger moved into her apartment about three years ago, apparently after spending some time in a Swiss hotel after leaving Canada in 1961. She went to Canada in 1955. The apartment is said to rent for 150 marks ($40) a month.

Klaus Reissner, manager of the Scotch - Kneipe Discoteque, said Mrs. Munsinger had been working on and off there for the last few months, earning $7.50 a night managing the buffet.

He described her as pleasant and obliging and said "she must have been a beauty at one time."

She also left a good impres-

NEW DELHI RIOT

Sikhs Attack With Spears

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Turbaned Sikh volunteers shouting religious war cries counterattacked thousands of stone-throwing Hindus with spears and swords today after the Hindus marched on the holiest Sikh shrine in New Delhi.

Scores of persons were stabbed and many others were injured by club-swinging police trying to break up the rioting mob.

It was the fourth consecutive day of rioting in India by Hindus protesting the federal government decision to establish an official Punjabi - speaking state. Punjab is the language of the Sikhs.

Thousands of Hindu members of the militant rightwing Jan Sangh party coursed through the streets of old Delhi, burning Sikh shops in the city's largest shopping area.

Police fired tear gas in an effort to quell the riots.

The violence here erupted after two weeks of food riots in West Bengal state which claimed the lives of 26 persons.

Thirty jailed leftist political leaders were scheduled to be released following an amnesty proclaimed by the state governor on the recommendation of the federal home minister, G. L. Nanda.

MARTYRS' DAY

The jailed men included 12 state legislators and a number of communists.

A Martyrs' Day parade was staged Sunday by 50,000 persons honoring the memory of the 26 persons killed in the food riots.

Police also put down disturbances Sunday in the Sikh holy city of Amritsar and at Jullundar in the Punjab.

Space Shot Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Gemini 8 orbital hookup and spacewalk spectacular was postponed today from Tuesday to at least Wednesday by leaks in the rendezvous target's Atlas booster and in the two-seater capsule's breathing system.

Ronning Returning

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Chester Ronning, Canadian diplomat who made a three-day visit to Hanoi, is due to leave for Canada Tuesday, informed sources said today. Ronning was not available for comment on reports that he had talks with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and that he delivered a message from Prime Minister Pearson.

Children Trampled

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Children were trampled as police clashed with anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators at a Labor Day parade here today. The procession of floats was held up for five minutes as police wrestled to control the crowd. No injuries were reported.

CPR PRESIDENT R. A. Emerson died at 54 in Montreal Sunday, it was announced today. First reports indicated he suffered a heart attack. He had been president since October, 1964. Story on page 15.

4 MINISTERS KNEW WOMAN, SAYS FISHER

TORONTO (CP) — Douglas Fisher, former New Democratic Party member of Parliament for Port Arthur, says he heard the names of four cabinet ministers connected with Gerda Munsinger.

Mrs. Munsinger is the central figure in an uproar that has rocked Parliament with allegations of sex and security cases.

Mr. Fisher, appearing Sunday night on the CBC television program This Hour Has Seven Days, said two of the men he heard of were English-speaking and two French-speaking.

SEVIGNY SAYS:

I Was Flabbergasted By Telephone Call

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Sevigny, former associate defence minister in the Diefenbaker government, said today he received a telephone call Friday from Gerda Munsinger and he was flabbergasted.

He said in an interview the call from Munich, West Germany, came to his home and was directed to him at his office.

Mr. Sevigny gave no details of the telephone conversation.

"Naturally I was flabbergasted," he said. "I had not seen this person in six years and I assumed that she was dead after the announcement to that effect in the House."

The former cabinet minister said the whole affair had been blown "out of all proportion," and that security is not an issue in the matter.

He said there had never been any personal animosity between himself and Justice Minister Cardin, who brought up the Munsinger matter in the House of Commons.

"It is incredible to think the government would paralyze the nation's business over this totally absurd affair . . . it is sheer nonsense."

Mr. Sevigny said he has no objection to a judicial inquiry.

HOUSE INFORMED

'Recognize Picture But Not Name:' Hees

Times News Services

OTTAWA—George Hees said in the Commons today he recognizes pictures of Gerda Munsinger as a person he once knew but still does not recall knowing her by that name.

He said that at no time had his personal conduct jeopardized the security of the nation and added:

"I defy the prime minister and the minister of justice to say that I ever did anything to jeopardize or affect the security of my country.

"I challenge them now to state that I did."

Mr. Hees rose on a question of privilege shortly after the opening of the sitting to read a 225-word statement.

He began by recalling that "on several occasions in the last 10 days I have publicly stated that I did not know a person by the name of Olga Munsinger."

"A person of that name now is reported to have said that she lunched with me twice, seven or eight years ago."

Gerda Munsinger was quoted today by the Toronto Star to that effect.

"She may well be right," Mr. Hees went on. "Although I still do not recall knowing any person by that name, I have examined the pictures of that person in the Saturday newspapers and I believe I recognize the woman pictured there."

The Star quotes Gerda as saying in Munich:

"I met George Hees exactly twice. Both times we had lunch at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa in the downstairs dining room. After lunch we parted.

"Mr. Hees knew me by sight and asked me to have lunch with him as his guest because he knew I was a friend of (Pierre) Sevigny."

Hees said he left hospital to make the statement in the Commons.

Mr. Hees, who said he was in hospital for tests to determine whether he is losing the sight of his right eye, said he had wanted to make a statement about the case for the last two days.

NDP to Vote Against Grits On Munsinger

VANCOUVER (UPI) — National NDP leader T. C. Douglas said today his party would vote to defeat the government over its handling of the Munsinger case.

But he doubts the Liberal administration will be toppled because the Creditistes have said "they will support the government, and the Social Credit will probably follow suit," he added.

Douglas, in Vancouver for a speaking engagement, criticized Justice Minister Lucien Cardin especially.

"He handled the whole situation very badly, and the prime minister looks exceptionally incompetent in the face of the current situation," he added.

Douglas condemned Cardin's actions in calling a press conference "and making buckshot accusations which he wouldn't substantiate in the House . . ."

He said the prime minister should have intervened long before now, and Cardin is no longer fit to be minister of justice.

CROWDS GATHER

Circus Atmosphere Around Parliament

OTTAWA (UPI)—"This is nuts. This is nuts."

Such were the words of a harried Parliament Hill security officer Monday as dozens of curious onlookers flocked into the Centre Block in anticipation of an explosive Commons debate on the Munsinger sex and security scandal.

More than two hours before the Commons met more than 100 spectators had congregated in the high-domed main floor lobby of the historic building.

"What time does the House sit?" a grey-haired woman asked the security officer.

Can't I just wander around the building and see what's happening?" an attractive young girl with dark shoulder-length hair wondered.

Extra security staff were called in to handle the expected crush of spectators from normally blase Ottawa.

The main switchboard on Parliament Hill was flooded with callers asking when the sitting started, security officers reported.

The unusual interest wasn't confined only to the public.

By noon, the parliamentary press gallery has issued about 25 temporary passes to visiting newsmen and photographers from Canada and the United States.

The extra newsmen were forced to sit in the public galleries for the day.

Parliament Hill almost took on the appearance of a movie film lot.

Both television networks moved lights and cameras in to put on film for viewers across the continent the events of what was expected to be one of the most extraordinary days in Canadian parliamentary history.

SECOND VIETNAMESE SENTENCED TO DEATH

Family Wails As Saigon Profiteer Shot

By BRYCE MILLER

SAIGON (UPI)—A convicted war profiteer was executed by a firing squad today in Saigon's central market place while police restrained his hysterical wife and eight children. Another "economic criminal" was sentenced to death later in the day for embezzling government funds.

Ta Vinh, a 34-year-old Chinese millionaire businessman, was executed in the sandbagged square for attempting to bribe government officials, hoarding and violating government price controls on vital goods.

His wailing wife and eight children clawed at the tangles of barbed wire and pushed at the police cordon even as the shots were fired by the 10-man firing squad.

Vinh was the first man convicted by the government's new special court for economic crimes.

A few hours later, the court handed down a death sentence for Dang Cao Sach, 54, former government treasurer in Dalat province. He was convicted of embezzling millions of Vietnamese piastres from the treasury safe, replacing it with old newspapers, lottery slips and scrap paper cut in neat bundles to resemble stacks of currency.

The short, thin greying Sach sat whimpering and weeping, his head in his hands, as the court heard testimony and later deliberated his fate. He wore an old, rumpled suit, no tie, and pleaded for leniency.

The three justices deliberated 40 minutes before finding him guilty and handing down the death penalty. Sach's wife and other relatives crowding the courtroom broke into screams and wails of anguish.

The condemned man has six children. His eldest son, a sergeant in the Vietnamese army, was killed in action last February.

Sach's only defence was that he took the money periodically to cover his losses at poker and lottery drawings.

Reliable sources said the U.S. mission in Viet Nam tried to exert pressure on the Saigon government to send Vinh to prison instead of the stake. Officially, the embassy said, it was "an internal matter of justice" and declined further comment.

It was said that Vinh, convicted one week ago today, was worth upwards of $40 million.

He was accompanied to the stake at 5:20 a.m. by two priests. He asked for a blindfold. Vinh was garbed in a dark blue suit, white shirt and flowered tie.

Slugs tore into his chest and stomach and Vinh lurched forward, straining at the ropes. He kept his feet until an officer quickly walked up and delivered the coup de grace from a 45-calibre pistol.

U.S. Denied Visa in '53

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. state department said Monday that Gerda Munsinger, the German woman in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, was refused an American visa in 1953 at Munich, West Germany.

Press officer Robert McCloskey declined to say "at this time" why the visa was denied by a consular official.

But he said that the Canadian government has been informed "very recently" of the reasons.

McCloskey said he does not know whether the blonde, 37-year former beauty queen was married at that time to Mike Munsinger, now a New York city policeman. Munsinger had met her in Europe during U.S. military service.

MONUMENT BOMBERS NEEDED FOR CLEANUP

DUBLIN (AP)—The Irish Army blew up the remnant of Dublin's Nelson Monument today and broke windows all around in the process.

The plan called for the rest of the column to topple more or less in one piece into an open space. Instead it disintegrated, peppering the area with fragments.

"They should have called in the boys who did the first part of the job," said one onlooker.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army is generally thought responsible for the explosion last Tuesday which brought down the 20-foot statue of Admiral Lord Nelson and the top 40 to 60 feet of the 114-foot column which supported him.

The sabotaging of the 157-year-old landmark, a symbol of Irish nationalists of British oppression, presumably was in preparation for the 50th anniversary next month of the 1916 Easter uprising against British rule.

ing to say on the subject," Mr. Sevigny said. He declined to comment on a report he had given her a birthstone ring or whether she had ever been part of a group he took on private airplane trips.

"I've just spent the most abominable weekend of my life, and I woke up today, looked in the mirror and said 'this can't be happening to me.' "

A Toronto Star dispatch from Munich Friday quoted Mrs. Munsinger as saying that she was a frequent companion of Mr. Sevigny from 1958 to 1960. Mr. Sevigny was deputy speaker of the Commons in 1958 and associate defence minister from 1959 to 1963.

Sevigny Saturday night described Gerda Munsinger as pretty and "full of fun"—and no security risk.

Mr. Sevigny said in a CBC television interview that if he appears before a judicial inquiry into the case, "I have nothing to hide."

An inquiry will "amply prove that frankly there was no security risk involved during the stay of this woman in Canada."

Mr. Sevigny said in the television interview that he met the woman and that she was "very pretty, very amusing and full of fun." Her "main interest seemed to be fun."

He said that at no time in any conversation he had with her was there any reference to business or political matters,' nor was there any indication that she might be a security risk.

The former minister termed as "completely absurd" Mrs. Munsinger's statement in Munich that she once flew with Mr. Sevigny in a government plane to Boston to "the races."

sion at a Munich coffee shop where she worked recently.

None of her neighbors could give any information on her background, although all of them had kind words for her.

"She always looked nice—well dressed and pleasant," said a neighbor, a car salesman. "I would not have thought she could have been involved in a scandal."

"She always dressed well, although not flashy," said a free-lance writer who has a nearby apartment.

Heinrich A. Kutzer, lawyer for Mrs. Munsinger, said an agreement with the Toronto Star would end at midnight tonight.

Mrs. Munsinger was first located in Munich by Robert Reguly, a reporter for The Star, who quoted her as saying she knew Pierre Sevigny in a social manner but denied she was a spy. Sevigny said he knew Mrs. Munsinger "very casually."

CARDIN STARTED IT

The Munsinger affair erupted last week when Justice Minister Lucien Cardin said two or more former cabinet ministers in the Diefenbaker government had been involved with the German woman. He said she had been engaged in espionage for the Communists but didn't say when.

Lawyer Kutzer told reporters Ms. Munsinger could not see anyone because she was suffering from "nervous strain."

An interpreter, who came to the door of the apartment, was told the "fate of the Canadian government probably hung on Mrs. Munsinger's story."

"We are not concerned with the fate of the government," said the interpreter, an elderly Munich English teacher.

" . . . Her lawyer and I are only concerned with the personal affairs of the lawyer's client."

The many reporters who were attempting to get the Munsinger story were forced out into the street Sunday after a dispute with the building's janitor in which one reporter (George Graham of the Toronto Telegram) was punched in the face. Formerly the reporters had camped on the third-floor landing of the building.

110 New Homes For Rumble Beach

Rayonier Canada (B.C.) Limited has launched a $2 million construction program for 110 new houses at British Columbia's first "instant" municipality, Rumble Beach on northern Vancouver Island.

W. E. Breitenbach, president, said Rayonier's decision to finance further construction in the townsite results from a big demand for new accommodation.

The Rumble Beach townsite is between Rayonier's Port Alice pulp mill and the adjacent logging operation at Jeune Landing. The Town, on which the municipality is centred, already has six apartment buildings, 23 homes, a new large shopping centre, and a television receiving unit.

Dawson Housing Development Limited will be responsible for all housing construction.

calling for a judicial inquiry into the Spencer case.

(He made a similar statement in an interview in New Westminster Saturday night. See story on Page 3.)

He said he was called to the office of Privy Council President Guy Favreau and told this.

He did not say that Mr. Favreau himself delivered the message.

There were opposition shouts of "shame, shame" as Mr. Fulton made the disclosure.

Mr. Fulton said he stated at that interview that the government must accept responsibility for its own actions.

DELIBERATE CAUSE

Mr. Fulton said the government, including the prime minister, had followed a deliberate course in the Munsinger case.

"The government long ago decided to teach the Opposition a lesson no matter how disastrous the consequences," Mr. Fulton declared.

The government's tactics constituted an invitation to all future governments to hunt through the files to find anything embarrassing to a former administration.

Who could be so conceited that he could declare that nothing embarrassing could be found?

WON'T USE SAME TACTICS

Government wouldn't work on this basis. The present tactics would force the ruin of Canada's democratic system and institutions.

Mr. Fulton also said he wrote Mr. Pearson asking that the RCMP's 1961 file on the Munsinger case be shown to him.

He said the government has refused to let him see the file.

Later, Mr. Fulton read the text of a telegram he received from Mr. Pearson in which the prime minister reported that the government would turn the Munsinger file over to the judicial inquiry.

Conservative Leader Diefenbaker flew to the capital Sunday from British Columbia.

Unusually subdued and uncommunicative, Mr. Diefenbaker twice told reporters there was no question of a security risk in the affair disclosed while he was away on a fishing and speaking trip.

Meanwhile, officials are keeping watch at major Canadian airports in case Mrs. Munsinger drops in.

SAW FILE IN 1961

Mr. Fulton said he sent a telegram Saturday to Mr. Pearson recalling that he had not seen the file since he left the justice ministry in 1961, and simply wanted to see it to refresh his memory as to facts before speaking in the Commons.

As minister of justice who had received the file from the RCMP, Mr. Fulton said, he was entitled to see it again. He did not want to see any papers added to the file after he left the justice ministry, such as comments by the present government or recommendations made by its advisers.

But, Mr. Fulton said, he received a letter from Mr. Pearson 40 minutes before today's sitting opened, saying the file would be submitted to the commission set up to investigate the Munsinger affair.

"This reasonable request was refused with no adequate reason assigned," Mr. Fulton said. "The only inference to be drawn from the fact is that it is all right for Mr. Cardin to make charges and innuendoes without looking at the file but it is not all right to let the former minister most directly concerned see it to refresh his memory."

DRAWS INFERENCE

Mr. Fulton also said he had to draw the inference that the file "refutes the charges made by Mr. Cardin, and the government knows it." He said Mr. Pearson is "deficient in courtesy and courage."

Mr. Fulton said Mr. Cardin will have to prove before the commission that two or more Diefenbaker ministers were improperly involved with Mrs. Munsinger, that a definite security risk to Canada resulted, that this was a bona fide security case, and that a break of national security or some other offence was committed which the Diefenbaker government and Mr. Fulton as minister of justice did not turn over to the law officers of the Crown for prosecution.

Near Disaster For 3 Youths

A sightseeing trip to Port Angeles almost ended in disaster for three Sooke 14-year-olds Saturday.

They ran into gale-force winds before safely beaching their 18-foot open boat, which was out of gas, at the American city.

Port Angeles police, who described the youths as "runaways" said they were returned to their parents' custody Sunday.

The boys told them they crossed the strait to go "sightseeing" in Port Angeles.

They were taken home by an uncle and a Sooke fisherman, Sooke RCMP said.

It is not known if any charges will be laid against the youths—two white boys and an Indian.

Their names have not been released by police.

Police said they took the boat which belonged to one of the boy's uncles from Pallister's wharf in Sooke Harbor at 4 a.m.

When the boat was discovered missing Sooke RCMP reported the trio to RCAF search and rescue.

The boat was found beached at the foot of Lincoln Street in Port Angeles. The youths left it to get gas.

CANDY BARS

Police said they also bought candy bars and cigarettes during their stay in Port Angeles.

The youths told them they came there to go "sightseeing."

But when they returned to their craft they found it left high and dry by the tide.

Two Beaten to Death

EDMONTON (CP) — A partially-blind 100-year-old woman and an hotel night clerk were beaten to death in separate incidents during the weekend. Madeline Lemire died in hospital today after receiving a broken arm and multiple cuts to her head, arms and legs in a beating Saturday night during a house party.

Ralph Alex, 30, of Edmonton, was remanded until March 21 for plea to a non-capital murder charge in the death of Louis Kobie, 59, a clerk at the Commercial Hotel on the city's south side.

It did such a good job, in fact, most people began to think only of our price. And not the many ways you can arrange to buy a VW.

Most people weren't aware of just how easy it is to get a Volkswagen financed through a Volkswagen dealer. On the best of terms.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Mild Pacific air continues to cover B.C. Overnight low temperatures ranged from 26 at Quesnel to 45 at Comox. An intense storm centered 300 miles west of the Washington coast is producing rain along the south coastal area. Southeasterly gales associated with the storm were to start this morning over all B.C. coastal waters. A weather system moving out of the storm centre will move eastward across the province producing intermittent rain to the interior during the day. Behind this system skies will clear in most interior districts but the coast will remain showery today. The storm centre will move northeastward in the Gulf of Alaska and weaken this evening. Another approaching Pacific disturbance will bring more rain to the coast Tuesday and spread inland in the afternoon.

CARDIN 'IN A FIT OF RAGE' WHEN HE MENTIONED NAME

By Staff Writer

NEW WESTMINSTER — Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker charged here Saturday night that Justice Minister Cardin made public the Munsinger case in a fit of rage.

Mr. Cardin was annoyed because the opposition had forced Prime Minister Pearson to call an inquiry into the loss of pension rights for suspected spy Victor Spencer, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"I don't blame Mr. Cardin for being annoyed. The prime minister pulled the rug out from under him. He injured his anatomy," Mr. Diefenbaker told the provincial Conservative convention.

Mr. Cardin claimed last week that Gerda Munsinger, a blonde German ex-beauty queen, had been involved with two Diefenbaker cabinet ministers while she was living in Canada.

Mr. Cardin said there was a security risk involved in the alliances.

FRIGHTFUL ATTACK

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "Mr. Cardin made a frightful attack. In all history there has never been such a rage" since King John was forced to sign the Magna Carta.

He said the Liberals only agreed to a hearing for Spencer because of opposition pressure. He said Mr. Pearson was forced into a tremendous reversal of policy.

"Then they were in difficulty. They awaited my departure. They launched an attack.

"But we don't blackmail easily in the Conservative party."

Mr. Diefenbaker did not refer to Gerda Munsinger by name during the 12 minutes he devoted to the case in his 70-minute address. He called her 'the woman."

MANY DISMAYED

He said many people are dismayed at the name-calling at Ottawa and others cynically say that low blows are part of political life.

'This hasn't been my experience. I speak more in sorrow than in condemnation when I say that this government has failed to enforce the law.

"It wasn't like this when Mr. (Davie) Fulton was minister of justice," Mr. Diefenbaker said, pointing to the Kamloops MP. The delegates applauded.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he was withholding further comment until he could discuss in caucus recent developments, including the locating of Mrs. Munsinger alive in Munich.

He said he would have plenty to say in the House of Commons today.

On other matters the Tory leader said only public opinion surveys and election forecasters stood in the way of an election victory for Conservatives in 1965. A turnover of 15 or 16 seats could have returned Conservatives to power, he said. Conservatives hold 97 seats in the House while Liberals hold 131.

He said urgent matters needing attention are:

- The Canadian balance of payments deficit;
- Cost of living increases which are hurting workers and persons on fixed incomes;
- Taxation which he said is the highest in Canadian history and which needs reform and reduction, especially the 11 per cent sales tax on building materials and production machinery;
- The need for increases in the old age pension; and
- The proposed abandonment of railway lines.

He repeated his call for a one-nation concept and charged Liberals are carrying Canada into a republic.

The Liberal government's policy, he said, is a case of yes today, no tomorrow and maybe the next day.

"The government seems to be completely incapable of adopting a line of policy and sticking to it," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker arrived at the convention shortly after 2:30 p.m. Saturday, addressed the Saturday night banquet and flew to Ottawa Sunday morning.

He spent Thursday and Friday fishing on Vancouver Island near Port Hardy.

'DON'T KNOW WHERE WE STAND:' DIEFENBAKER

Gerda Was No Security Risk: Fulton

By AL FORREST
Times Staff Reporter

NEW WESTMINSTER — When Opposition Leader John Diefebaker defied Justice Minister Cardin to make public the details of the Munsinger case he thought the woman was dead.

Saturday night he admitted: "Now I don't know where we stand."

But he scrapped his prepared speech and told a cheering, jammed provincial Conservative convention here he would come back swinging no matter what blonde ex-beauty queen Gerda Munsinger might say from the witness stand at Ottawa.

In an interview after his speech he said:

"We were told she was dead. Now we are told she is alive and is being brought to Canada. This is all very strange."

Then he reverted to the attack:

CHALLENGE

"We challenged them (the Liberals) to make the facts known. We asked them for a full inquiry into security in this country. We told them we wouldn't be intimidated by threats."

Earlier Saturday, former justice minister E. Davie Fulton confirmed the existence of an RCMP file on Gerda Munsinger prepared while he held the justice portfolio.

"My recollection is that it shows that she was not a security risk. It will refute the charges made by Mr. Cardin."

Would a live, testifying Gerda Munsinger also refute the charges?

"I have no comment on that," Mr. Fulton said.

He charged that Liberal cabinet minister Guy Favreau tried to "blackmail" the Conservatives by allegedly threatening to mention the Munsinger case unless the Tories halted criticism of the government's handling of the Spencer case.

Favreau was justice minister before the Dorion inquiry was held and currently is Privy Council president.

Mr. Fulton said he was called to Mr. Favreau's office where "the blackmail threat" was made.

"Eight days after the threat was made, Mr. Cardin mentioned the name Munsinger in the House," Mr. Fulton said.

'CAREFULLY PLANNED'

"It wasn't blurted out. Everything was carefully planned step by step.

"I told them (the Liberals) we wouldn't back down in the face of threats and intimidation. Mr. Diefenbaker took the same stand."

Mr. Fulton wired Prime Minister Pearson Saturday demanding the right to see the Munsinger file before today's debates got under way.

"I know the substance of the file but I'm not certain of the details. It was some years ago. I want to refresh my memory."

Asked why a file was kept on her, he said:

"Why do you think?"

Was she suspected of being a security risk?

NO EVIDENCE

"The RCMP investigated and, I believe, found no such evidence. That's as far as I can go without reviewing the report."

Whatever flurry it may have caused at Ottawa, the Munsinger affair made a financial success of the Conservatives' $4-a-plate convention banquet.

Only 200 were expected before the Munsinger story broke. When Mr. Diefenbaker was piped in, relaxed and fit after a two-day fishing holiday, there were 515 squeezed into the convention hall of the Royal Towers Hotel and 33 others clamored for tickets in the foyer.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in top oratorical form but he devoted only 12 minutes to the Munsinger case in a 70-minute attack on the Liberal government.

He charged that Mr. Cardin had broken an agreement that Thursday and Friday sessions in the House of Commons were to be devoted to non-controversial matters.

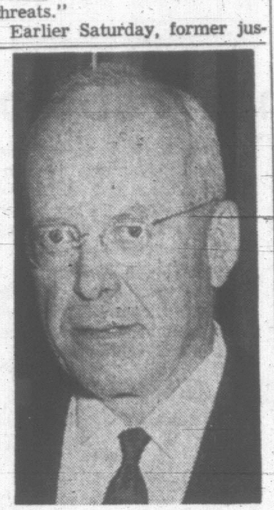
He said Mr. Cardin took advantage of his absence to make public the details of the Munsinger case.

The national Tory leader caused a ripple of excitement when he arrived at the convention at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

He had landed in a helicopter at Lester B. Pearson School near the convention hotel.

Mr. Diefenbaker caught two steelhead trout (which he threw back alive) during his two-day vacation near Port Hardy.

An earlier report said he caught three but the third was handed to him by a member of the fishing party so a picture could be taken.



HEADING a campaign to raise money for Shawnigan Lake School is former head boy A. Bruce Robertson, Q.C. of Vancouver. Mr. Robertson, who left the school in 1918, will head a team of old boys in an effort to collect $650,000 for the school's 50th anniversary. The money will be used to improve existing facilities and construct three new buildings.

B.C. Tories in No Rush To Name a New Leader

By Staff Reporter

NEW WESTMINSTER—Former Okanagan-Revelstoke MP Stuart Fleming emerged here as the favorite to succeed E. Davie Fulton as provincial Conservative leader.

But delegates to the provincial annual meeting were in no rush to present him with the crown.

They settled for electing him president and postponed the calling of a leadership convention.

Mr. Fleming was in no hurry either.

He said months of provincial organization work is needed before the party should name a new leader.

He called for a search for ideas to lead the Tories back from the provincial wilderness.

There are no Conservatives in the provincial legislature.

'PUSH MUST WAIT'

In buzz sessions, delegates said the 42-year-old Fleming is the man to lead them back but any big push would have to await the retirement of Premier Bennett.

"There are some pretty good Conservatives in the legislature right now," a North Vancouver delegate said.

He named Mr. Bennett a Conservative and Coalition member of the legislature before joining Social Credit, and Attorney-General Robert Bonner, a former Conservative.

He said the feeling of most of the delegates is "After Bennett maybe."

As a result provincial matters got scant attention at the two-day convention compared with federal problems.

A highlight was a panel on national unity featuring Mr. Fulton and Quebec Tory MPs Clement Vincent and Roger Regimbal.

Mr. Fulton advocated a revision in division of responsibilities between provincial and federal governments.

YOUNGEST DELEGATE

Youngest of the 250 delegates was Jennifer Fraser, the 19-day-old daughter of retiring provincial Young Progressive Conservative president Pat Fraser. Mother and daughter both received ovations from the delegates.

Former Vancouver-Quadra MP Howard Green received a spontaneous standing ovation when he was introduced as a head table guest. Esquimalt-Saanich Tory MP George Chatterton was a prominent representative from the Victoria area along with Clifford Waite who ran as federal Conservative candidate in Victoria.

Other provincial officers elected were Malcolm Wickson of Vancouver, vice-president, and regional vice-presidents Walter MacDonald for the lower mainland, Russell Simpson for Vancouver Island, Mrs. Ev McElroy for lower interior, Dr. W. O. Green for Kootenays and Galt Wilson for northern B.C.

New president of the Young Progressive Conservatives is Peter Hyndman of Vancouver. Vice-presidents are Judy Creighton of Victoria, Bruce Howe of Vancouver, Jim McNeil of Mount Lehman and Wayne Rybarchuk of Kamloops.

Nation of 'Fatties' Scored by Doctor

LONDON (CP)—Britons, long noted for their huge consumption of candies, are on the way to becoming a nation of "fatties," says a Liverpool doctor who has compiled an "obesity file" on his patients during the last 10 years.

There are more overweight children than ever before, says Dr. Robert Kemp, writing in the medical journal Practitioner. He atttributes the cause to heavy consumption of bread, potatoes, sugar, candy and beer.

"The fat person loses his ability to cope with the sugar and starch-laden menus so usual today."

Of 684 patients treated for obesity since 1956, Dr. Kemp has been successful in 239 cases with a diet low in sugar and starch. Some lost more than 100 per cent of their surplus weight. The average amount of overweight was 32 pounds and the average loss of weight 26 pounds.

Dr. Kemp says children account for 40 per cent of obesity cases. "It is doubtful whether many children grow out of their obesity," he writes.

Other main factors causing overweight are linked with pregnancy. Inactivity after the age of 40, coupled with failure to adjust food intake, largely accounts for overweight in middle life.

SEVEN WORKERS FINED

Union Trials Rock U.K. Election Scene

LONDON (Reuters)—A labor union trial of workers for refusing to join a wildcat strike threatens to become a major issue in Britain's March 31 general election.

The illegal court, whose existence was disclosed last week, was condemned by the country's three major parties. It sparked a sharp weekend clash between the Conservatives and the governing Labor party, which has strong union backing.

The trial, with shop stewards sitting as judges, took place under a hangman's noose on the shop floor of the British Motor Corp. plant at Cowley, in central England.

Seven BMC workers were fined by the stewards for defying the wildcat strike.

No sooner had a wave of protest over the incident passed when it was disclosed Saturday that there had been a similar union trial in November.

FINED BY COURT

A factory inspector at a refrigerator plant west of London said he was one of 15 men and women fined by a shop steward's court for failing to join a wildcat strike.

Conservative Leader Edward Heath told a meeting Saturday government legislation has given some union men the impression they have immunity to intimidate others into breaking agreements.

Leaders of the 1,500,000-member Transport and General Workers Union—Britain's biggest—announced Saturday they will begin an inquiry into the BMC trial.

Next Time Perhaps?

HOPES THAT THE ANGUS commission report on redistribution of provincial legislative seats would put the whole matter permanently on a non-political basis have now been destroyed.

In departing from the commission's recommendations in regard to the northern constituencies, Mr. Bennett broke away from the scientific or expert's approach and injected political and geographical factors into the system. While some argument could be made for his action—about one-third of the province would have been included in the most northerly riding and still have held only a normal number of voters—the chief criticism against it was that it weakened the principle.

That weakness has now been demonstrated in a further amendment to the Angus recommendations. The Columbia riding will be split into two, to meet the protests of members concerned with the Kootenay area. With these precedents there is little defence left against still more tampering with the original constituency plan. An excellent chance to take redistribution out of the politicians' hands has been lost.

It is recognized, of course, that strong pressures have been brought to bear by members who face the elimination or depreciation of constituencies in which they have built up support. That is only a human response to the threat of political oblivion. But the representation of the province as a whole is of greater importance than the political convenience of individual members.

A systematic, non-partisan, equalized division of voting districts should be established, free from the dangers of tampering and personalized readjustment. We had a chance to achieve this at the present session, but Mr. Bennett weakened and we must wait for a more courageous moment.

Bridging the School Gap

BY CASTING BETTER THAN two votes to one for the supplementary school bylaw Saturday, Greater Victorians who went to the polls have made it possible for the school board to go ahead with the building and equipment program the district had already approved.

This provides the funds to bridge the gap between original estimates and the rising costs of construction and shows a wholesome regard by the property owners for the educational welfare of all children in the community.

There are, however, two elements in the result which should cause concern. Fewer than three in 10 qualified voters turned out to mark ballots. This is not a healthy situation. Moreover, while we believe that the decision rendered by those who voted is the correct one, a basic problem of school construction and equipment remains to confront future boards as rising population or renewal demands call for further expansion in the years ahead.

Greater Victoria, as it was obvious from the first of the postwar building programs, is barely meeting requirements. Not that there should be a surplus of unused school accommodation, but it is apparent that this community is cutting its margin too thin. There is no assurance that passage of Saturday's vote will avoid some use of the shift system in September—with its attendant handicap to children forced into that procedure. In the meantime some of our old schools that should be replaced must continue in service. Reasonable precautions can be taken to care for the physical safety of pupils in these buildings, but the young people required to attend them are being ill-served by the obsolete character of the old structures.

A review of the whole question of planning and providing schools is overdue. The board has expressed its desire to extend the planning term to five years instead of the present three and the question of school finance weighs heavily on the mind of the property owner. Revision of present approaches to both issues deserves immediate consideration from the minister of education and the government.

Blessed are the Peace Makers . . .

THAT SOVIET INVOLVEMENT in the attempted settlement of the Indian-Pakistan Kashmir dispute goes deeper than was at first supposed has been revealed in recent reports from New Delhi.

With the quiet support of Indian Communist leaders, Mr. Jagjivan Ram, a member of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's cabinet, has proposed that both India and Pakistan should accept the 1949 cease-fire line in Kashmir as a permanent boundary between the two countries. This, Mr. Ram has declared, would implement the real intent of the Soviet-sponsored Tashkent conference which was to foster amity between the two nations after nearly two decades of quarreling and fighting.

This argument has been supported by Mr. Bhupesh Gupta, leader of the Indian Right Communist (Moscow line) party and it is considered doubtful that he would act in so important a matter without the approval of Russia. Interesting also is the fact that Mr. E. M. S. Namboodiripad, leader of the Left Communist (Peking line) party, favors this solution as well. Indeed, Mr. Namboodiripad, at considerable physical risk to his person, advocated elevating the cease-fire line to the status of an international boundary during the recent fighting in Kashmir, when it was a very unpopular idea among the Indian people.

Although the sponsorship of this plan may appear rather dubious to some Indians, it can be pointed out that the late Prime Minister Nehru himself advised settlement of the conflict between India and Pakistan on a realistic acceptance of the 1949 border as permanent.

So far there has been no hint from Pakistan as to how the idea would be accepted. There is reason to believe, however, that Russian influence is also at work there urging a realistic approval to the problem.

If the Soviet Union could follow up the limited success of Tashkent with a full settlement of the one most difficult block between India and Pakistan it would have done much to bring peace to a long-troubled area of the world. It would also have done much to consolidate its entry into Asian affairs—undoubtedly to the discomfiture of China, and perhaps to the West as well.

Cap-Fitting or Mad-Hatting?

MR. DIEFENBAKER MAKES A cheerful little play on the deerstalker cap presented to him the other day by admirers in Vancouver.

He calls it "a Liberal minister's cap—when you've got it on nobody knows which way you're going."

Mr. Diefenbaker is no stranger to the deerstalker. He seemed to wear the style comfortably when he borrowed one from local Tory hopeful Eric Charman on his visit here in January, 1964.

And if the cap fits, why change its politics?

Another 'Fabulous' Budget

Gray

THERE was only one word to describe the shattering $681,000,000 budget which the Manning government brought down for Alberta the other day. The word was "fabulous" and it was the provincial treasurer himself who came up with it. Mr. A. O. Aalborg said this was a "fabulous" budget for a "fabulous" province of the "soaring sixties." He did not exaggerate, for Mr. Aalborg is a provincial treasurer with a unique problem—finding enough ways of spending money to take up the province's "fabulous" income. More than a third of that income, in this as in the past 15 years, has come from gas and oil.

Mines and minerals — which means mainly gas and oil—will yield Alberta $248,000,000 in the coming year. That is just about what the government of Canada spent to run a country of 11,000,000 people 30 years ago. It exceeds, by $16,000,000, all the ordinary revenues of all the provinces in Canada in 1936. And what is more important, it is going to be a permanent factor of life in Alberta for as far as the future can be seen.

Leases, Royalties, Rentals

A litte more than a third of the $248,000,000 oil and gas income will come from sales of petroleum leases. Slightly under two-thirds will come from royalties and rentals of producing oil and gas land. Income from lease auctions can fluctuate rather widely from year to year because there is often a hiatus between hot discoveries. But the income from royalties and rentals is bound to rise steadily for years to come.

The government of Alberta gets a royalty of between 12 and 15 per cent on all the gas and oil and sulphur produced in the province. It takes its share of the corporation taxes on the profits of all the oil and gas companies. Many of the companies are now getting into the taxable category after years of huge write-offs for exploration expenditures.

Alberta is one of the lowest ratio producing areas on the continent. It is marketing its oil at about half the rated capacity of its fields. If no more discoveries are made, it now has produceable reserves capable of maintaining production at current rates for 23 years.

The story is almost the same with natural gas. This year it will likely send a record 3 trillion cubic feet of gas to market. It has a full 10 years of gas supply at that rate of production without any new production.

But new discoveries are being made. In the last decade, reserves of crude oil have tripled while reserves of natural gas are increasing much faster than the gas is being produced.

In Clover

Obviously the government will be in clover for years to come, even if the oil companies stop finding oil and gas. There is no sign that this is likely to happen, not in face of the rich discoveries made during the past two years.

All this helps to explain why the Manning administration goes on getting re-elected. There are many thousands of Albertans still around who remember the province before Social Credit and equate their present prosperity with Manning and not with oil.

Part of the explanation lies in the fact that so much of the oil and gas development has taken place deep in the unsettled wilderness. Huge reserves have been found in the Pembina, Swan Hills, Virginia Hills, Redwater, Slave Lake, Cold Lake and Rainbow Lakes areas. All are remote from settlement, were mainly bushland before the oil finders moved in.

Thus a huge segment of the oil and gas development could take place without irritating the farmers or townsfolk in the area. In Alberta, the minerals under the soil do not belong to the farmers on the land. They are reserved to the Crown in the original titles, and are sold separately. The farmers of the settled areas discovered this with a shock in the early days of oil production and they have not yet got over being angry.

The oil companies have to deal with the farmers. Settlements must be made with them for use of small patches of the surface for well sites and pipelines. These settlements, which the oil industry and the government regard as most generous, look picayune to the farmers. Rancorous as relations between the oil companies and the farmers have become in many areas, there simply are not enough indignant farmers on the prowl to blow up a political storm for the government.

Answer to Farmers

Indeed, when the farmers have cried foul and demanded their mineral rights, the government has been able to make political capital for itself. "Is it not better," it demands of the electorate, "for all Albertans to share in the profits from oil than make millionaires of a few hundred farmers?" To which the non-farm majority has shouted "aye" with unanimity.

It is hardly surprising, therefore, with such an embarrassment of riches, Premier Manning and his administration has been able to reduce the function of his opposition to ill-tempered nit-picking. If Hell for an opposition politician could be defined as a province in which there is nothing left for him to promise the electors, Alberta is surely Hell for opposition politicians.

DEFENCE Secretary Robert McNamara may stand second only to State Secretary Dean Rusk in President Johnson's estimation, but the Pentagon's embattled "whiz kid" is at war with more than North Viet Nam. He is at war with military conservatives who dislike his disregard for the fine points of service tradition, he is at war with those who doubt that the computerized cost-effectiveness programs he imported from Ford Motor Co. are applicable to defence, and he is at war with those who blame him for Viet Nam.

He is at war with congressmen for cutting defence spending in their districts and for awarding contracts solely on grounds of merit. He is at war with those who, while not blaming him for getting the United States into the Viet Nam war, blame him for failure in its conduct. Most of all, he is blamed for misleading the people—and this has led him further into war with portions of the press and Congress.

Mr. McNamara is a walking container of facts, and he is able to rattle them off briskly and effectively in presentations to either group. But his sense of assurance has also been read as glibness, and his "facts" as cover-ups or partial facts. A history of what is politely called "news management" by the Pentagon, plus his own history of erroneously optimistic pronouncements about Viet Nam by Mr. McNamara himself, contribute to the skepticism with which his authority in sometimes greeted.

The secretary rarely loses his temper when called upon to defend his views, but the present controversy proved too much for his patience. A lengthy critique of the nation's military preparedness written last month by Mr. Hanson Baldwin, the best known U.S. newspaper commentator on defence affairs, set him simmering. Nine days later he came out firing with an equally lengthy point-by-point statement of rebuttal. The assmbled press did not take his statement as gospel, but questioned him closely on it. He blasted angrily at a German reporter who dared to suggest that the Viet Nam buildup may threaten U.S. strength in Europe.

Revised Text

Mr. McNamara's performance did not sit well with some congressmen. Much of the information in his statement had earlier been deleted by military censors from the about-to-be-published version of his testimony to a closed session of a House committee. The committee promptly sent the text back to the Pentagon for re-inclusion of the deleted items. Rep. Glenard Lipscomb (Republican, California) commented that it was "ridiculous that the secretary would classify things before the appropriations committee and then at some time when he thinks it convenient go ahead and release them to show how correct he is."

Sen. Wayne Morse, whose habit of overstatement has greatly weakened his credibility as the chief critic of U.S. Viet Nam policy, naturally went farther and accused Mr. McNamara of "devious and dishonest practice," claiming that he had "forfeited all right to have the committee questions and discussions kept secret."

Senators Annoyed

But several senators besides Mr. Morse were already annoyed at Mr. McNamara's refusal to appear in open session before the foreign relations committee, where the administration's opponents are excessively represented.

With the military preparedness question resting unsettled, Mr. McNamara now is in conflict with dissident senators on China policy. Sen. J. W. Fulbright's foreign relations committee went into open session for a series of what he called "educational" hearings on U.S. attitudes toward China, which administration supporters suspected would again turn into protest hearings.

One subtle question seeming to underlie the new shift of one part of the discussion from Viet Nam to China is this: Is China intrinsically evil in its intentions toward the United States, or does it appear evil because it believes American intentions toward itself are evil?

It sounded like a replay of the old chicken-and-egg type discussion of U.S.-Soviet relations.

HEART OF A UNIVERSITY

Just as it is the scholar's basic job to be a scholar and pursue learning, so the student's job at a university is "learning," not merely "being taught"—even if at first he is only learning to learn. This does not mean cutting out vocational education or forbidding the joys of youth. Perhaps there never was a majority of dedicated students at any university. But it does mean insisting that unless, at the heart of university life, there exists an intense concern for learning for its own sake, then the university has lost its essential raison d'etre.

Looking Back

From The Times of March 14, 1906:

Plans and specifications for the new wooden lighthouse and tower, fog alarm buildings and outbuildings connected therewith, to be constructed on Trial Island, have arrived from Ottawa. This is a point about three miles from the city on the southern shore. It is surrounded by very dangerous waters and has been the scene of many an accident. A lighthouse for the place has been advocated ever since the Clallam disaster. The building to be erected will be of a substantial character.

Letters

Where the Action Is?

Why can't Victoria drivers be as courteous as those in Duncan, Nanaimo, Parksville and Courtenay?

I've just returned from up-Island where in the course of two weeks I wasn't nearly hit once. In fact, in those four places drivers frequently stopped and waved me on.

Here in Victoria I have to run forward or jump backward on an average of about three times a week to avoid being hit by drivers who turn corners too close and/or too fast.—Ethel D. Miller, 532 Dallas.

So Why Give Thanks?

Since on the authority of the Moderator of the First United Church of Canada, as expressed in the March 1 issue of United Church Observer, it is no longer sensible or in any way useful to pray for rain, and since the plight, the famine, with its starving millions in India furnish ample proof of that new discovery; are not we, all of us now faced with the trial, the test of our honesty, in discarding completely the long hypocrisy of our "Thanksgiving Day?"

In our day, with our knowledge we have long known that nature alone, with no supernatural control or interference has been responsible for the rain needed to give us the needed food for our survival.—L. J. Pepper, 895 Heywood.

Clergy and Jury

Many thoughtful people were astounded, I am sure, to read in the Times recently of the brief submitted by the Victoria Council of Churches to the provincial government, protesting the Jury Amendment Act. Bishop Rankilor's attempts at explaining the clergy's position are equally astonishing.

"The clergy is committed to the practice of forgiveness," the bishop is quoted as saying, "so cannot impose punishment." Why does he not speak the whole truth, which is that all true followers of Christ are so committed, whether they wear a round collar or not? In asking for preferential treatment clergymen make second-class Christians out of their non-ordained brethren. — "Non-Professional Christian."

Christian Ethics and Freedom

Communists openly proclaim their freedom from belief in God, in religion, and in the Christian ethic.

Americans in South Viet Nam, caring for other people, not only for themselves, are helping a little people to save themselves from subjection to the opposite of all that Christians profess to hold most dear.

Yet a preacher of Christianity is recently reported to have proclaimed from his pulpit in Victoria that Americans aim to "keep Viet Nam as a dependency"—a message that would elicit cheers from this world's chief enemies of freedom.—H. G. Wyatt, 2072 Hampshire.

Middle West Voice

The rough concrete fountain in your Centennial Square with its mosaic copy of the design on the Montreal Trust Building by Andres Salgo, is somewhat pleasing with its use of gold tiles. However, I feel that it is spoiled by its use of modern art, figures with triangular heads and rather poor copy of native totem pole art. I feel a design more truly representative of the west coast flora and fauna would be more aesthetically pleasing. As an example I find the fountain behind the legislative buildings with its true-to-life wolf, eagle, etc., most attractive.

Those adherents of modern art with their pseudo-intellectualism will no doubt defend the artist of the Centennial fountain. They will no doubt say that by expressing my distaste for so-called modern art I am exposing myself as an ignoramus. For my part, I would feel that they were merely being taken in by con-artists. Any sign painter can mass produce modern art at some three dollars per canvas.—Roy Thorns, Detroit, Mich., U.S.A.

Time to Criticize

Please may I protest the mayor of Vancouver's saying "let the provincial government give Vancouver a fountain, it will be time enough to criticize it when it is here." That time will be too late. After the fountain has been made with so much of our B.C. taxpayers' money, how then, could it be changed?

Before the building of Victoria's Centennial Square, a model was on view, and everyone was allowed to see and criticize the plans.

Why now, especially as the Council of Arts have volunteered to pay for a design, may not those who are paying for the fountain see both this donated design, and the one ordered by the minister of public works?

Why may we not criticize whilst our criticisms are still constructive?—Mrs. J. S. Horner Harrison, 6380 Old West Road.

Veteran Spencer

The Daily Times reported that Spencer appeared "half bald and bespectled" on the screen. The TV screen did not show that he has also lost a lung. Cancer of the lung is common after gas attacks. Spencer's tragic ill looks reminded viewers that he is a war veteran, decorated for bravery when fighting for his country at a time when Russia fought too as our ally.—G. Horner-Harrison, 6380 Old West Rd.

'Licence Lift Law'

Admittedly any suggestion of a "police state" is distasteful, but surely those who bleat about the proposed law as an "infringement of civil liberties" are lacking in a sense of proportion? The temporary "lifting" of a licence appears to be a less drastic action than making an arrest, the privilege of any policeman.

With the police, in any case, public opinion still carries some weight, and any undue or vindictive action would be liable to raise a storm of protest; but when insurance companies or licencing authorities, by economic pressure or vexatious regulations "lift" licences just as effectively and permanently, there is a far more grievous infringement of civil rights with little or no practicable means of redress.—N. T. Porter, 245 Linden.

British Expedition Prepares To Test Early 'Vinland' Map

By J. R. L. ANDERSON
The Manchester Guardian

MANCHESTER — The Guardian is fitting out an expedition to sail in May to try to cast new light on early Norse voyages Vinland, the Norse name for their settlements in North America.

No historical find of recent times has stimulated so much interest — and dispute — as the discovery by Yale University Library of a medieval manuscript, dated about 1440, containing a map, apparently a copy of an earlier Norse or Icelandic original, showing a recognizable outline of the coast of North America. If it is genuine, this map of Vinland provides convincing documentary proof of Norse voyages to America between the late 10th and 12th centuries.

Is it genuine? A formidable body of scholarship holds that it is. Yale called in the help of the British Museum. Thomas E. Marston, curator of medieval and renaissance literature in Yale University Library, R. A. Skelton, superintendent of maps at the British Museum, and George D. Painter, also of the British Museum, worked on the map and its accompanying documents for nearly eight years before a word was said about it.

Controversy seems likely to go on for years: perhaps all doubts will never be settled finally. Whatever may be the outcome, the Yale map has focused new attention of early Norse voyages to America — for which there is much other evidence in Icelandic sagas — and it should be well worth while to take a fresh look at the evidence from the sea.

To Reproduce Leif's Voyage

To this end the Guardian expedition will attempt to reproduce the voyage of the Norseman Leif Eiriksson to Vinland early in the 11th century of our calendar, to see if landfalls influenced by the prevailing currents and winds correspond with the topographical and navigational descriptions in the sagas.

This cannot prove whether the Yale Map is genuine or not. All that the expedition may be able to do is to reassess the probability (or improbability) that those early Norse voyagers acquired sufficient knowledge of the North American coastline to establish the navigational tradition on which the Yale map, if genuine, is based.

It has long been accepted that Leif Eiriksson, son of Eirik The Red, the first Norse settler in Greenland, got to North America from Greenland early in the 11th century. His voyage, and subsequent colonizing voyages by Norsemen from Greenland, are recorded in the old Icelandic sagas. But no one knows precisely where these Norse settlements were, and the sagas, based on oral tradition and not written down until long after the events they describe are not historical evidence in the commonly accepted sense of written history.

The discovery of the Yale map, and the work done on it by scholars at Yale and at the British Museum, have transformed the situation. Even if the authenticity of the map itself is questioned, as some question it, it is no longer really possible to doubt not only that these early Norsemen reached America, but that Norse colonization in the 11th and 12th centuries was on a scale much greater than has been realized previously. The Norsemen called the country where they settled Vinland, naming it after the wild grapes that they found growing there and the wine made from them.

Ice Conditions Too Difficult

Ice conditions off Greenland and on the North American coast of the Davis Strait make it impossible for a voyage of this sort to be undertaken in winter. May will bring the first practical possibility of making it. Ice will still be a considerable hazard, but with prudent navigation the voyage should be possible, and the hydrographic department of the Canadian government has given valuable assistance in providing charts and other information about conditions likely to be met.

We are sailing in Griffin, a 45-foot cutter, formerly distinguished as the club yacht of the Royal Ocean Racing Club. She was sold in 1959 to the late R. B. Iverson and his son B. E. Iverson, two keen Norwegian sailing men. B. E. Iverson, who lives in England and runs a yacht yard at Dover, has generously agreed to charter Griffin to the "Guardian" for the voyage. Griffin is a splendid boat for the job, a fine example of east coast wooden shipbuilding, tough, and well maintained throughout her life, first by the RORC and later by the Iversons.

For her Vinland voyage, Griffin will be sailed by a total crew of five or six.

Leif's Home In Greenland

Leif Eirikson's home in Greenland — his father's settlement — archaeologically identified as is the area of the modern Julianehaab. We should sail from there, but ice in this part of Greenland is more severe today than it was 1,000 years ago, and in May there may still be too much ice about to get in comfortably.

This does not matter much, for Julianehaab is important to the expedition only as a point of departure, and if we cannot sail actually from Julianehaab we shall take our departure from as near as we can get to it, in waters that the Norse voyagers must certainly have been in after leaving Eirik's settlement. What happens next?

This we are going to find out. The Norsemen sailing from Greenland made three landfalls in America — somewhere they called Helluland, which means "land of flat stones," Markland (land of forests) and Vinland.

Helluland, which did not attract them at all, may have been the inhospitable coast of Baffin Island, north of Hudson Strait. Markland was almost certainly on the forested coast of Labrador. Vinland was — where?

There are several clues in the sagas, describing island, sounds and fiords, and there are clues in the descriptions of the countryside itself — hills and headlands, the wild grapes and beautifully rich grass. The most impressive to George Painter of the British Museum, and to me, are the "furdustrands," literally "wonder sands," which they passed on the coast before entering one of Vinland's bays.

"Wonder sands" — the sheer excitement of seeing them can be sensed in reading the sagas today — must have been beaches quite out or the ordinary.

Why not the immense beaches around Cape Cod? The area would fit in with much in the rest of the sagas, and it may be that Europeans from Norway colonized New England four centuries before the English got there.

Influenced by Current, Wind

A sailing boat today will be influenced by the Labrador Current and the prevailing winds much as the Norsemen were. Subject to prudent navigation, we shall let Griffin be influenced by wind and sea, assuming that we are a Norse crew, tired after the passage from Greenland, capable of hard exertion if need be to get out of danger, but using — or yielding to — wind and current as much as we can. The sea may show us something, or lead us to something, to add a useful footnote or two to the page of history.

Where, for instance, was the home-town of the first native-born American of European descent? We know his name and his parentage — he was a boy named Snorri, son of a Norwegian named Karlsefni and his wife Gudrid.

He was born in Vinland at a settlement called by the Norsemen "Leif's Houses." We shall see if we can locate it from the topographical details of our approach from the sea, or at least narrow the area of its probable location.

It would be nice to see a plaque on American soil — "Near here was born Snorri Karlsefnison, the first native-born American of European descent, early in the eleventh century."

CUTAWAY OF STAR III

A BOLD NEW BREED OF SUBMERSIBLES

News Bulletin from General Dynamics Corp.

A hundred and thirty feet down in the Aegean Sea, a Byzantine galley had hidden its secrets for almost fifteen centuries.

Then in 1964, University of Pennsylvania Museum archeologists mounted paired cameras on a new research submarine, Asherah, and learned more from the three-dimensional photographs obtained in one "flight" over the wreck than had been possible from weeks of scuba diving.

This was the first of dozens of undersea jobs already done by Asherah. The Asherah is the 339th — and at 17 feet long, the smallest — submarine built by General Dynamics.

For comparison, the Holland, the very first submarine we delivered to the Navy in 1900, was 54 feet long.

But the true manned research submarines are really a new breed of boat. Less than a score now exist.

Unlike bathyscaphes, designed to drop to great depths but remain relatively immobile for passive observation, the new research submarines must have depth capability, the ability to perform useful work, and the mobility to survey extended areas at a reasonable speed.

Asherah is one of the first true research submarines. It can dive to 600 feet (Second World War subs rarely dived much below 300 feet), stay submerged for 10 hours, cruise at three to four knots move in all directions.

Sister Ship

An improved sister ship, Star II, is made of the same HY-80 steel that goes into nuclear submarines; it has depth capability to 1,200 feet.

A larger boat we call Star III is built of even tougher HY-100 steel, It has a cruising depth of 2,000 feet, and is equipped with an external mechanical arm that has interchangeable "hands" — a clamshell grip, a wire cutter, and a "three-finger" which can pick up a pencil or a 200-pound weight, or manipulate a valve.

The Aluminaut, the largest research sub so far, was built by General Dynamics for Reynolds International to prove, among other things, the feasibility of aluminum as a hull metal. The 51-foot Aluminaut is designed to operate at depths up to 15,000 feet, under pressures up to more than 7,000 pounds per square inch.

Aluminaut, in early sea trials, has cruised as deep as 6,250 feet, and remained submerged for over 30 continuous hours. A World War military submarine rarely remained submerged for more than 24 hours.

These early research subs still have many limitations of speed, range and submerged endurance. They require back-up by a mother ship and have to be carried or towed to a job location.

This last "limitation" can sometimes be an advantage. Asherah and Star II, for example, are small enough to be rushed by air for a rescue operation.

But subs with many special characteristics will be needed for exploring — and for exploiting — the sea.

Heavy Pressures

Some vessels will have to withstand pressures up to 10,000 pounds per square inch, to allow them to penetrate into mid-ocean abysses four miles deep. Work subs for, say, mining will have to be stable enough in a buoyant environment not to be whipped about in reaction to the force of their own tools.

We have already done a study for the Bureau of Fisheries showing feasibility of a submarine to track oceanic fish. It would be 160 feet long, carry 31 persons at speeds up to 20 knots, and could cruise submerged for up to 90 days.

Right now, we don't think there will ever by one single all-purpose type of research-work submarine. Just as land vehicles range from motor scooters to 20-ton earth-movers, so will most manned submersibles be designed and built for special purposes.

Gulf Between Generations Seen by Writer in Russia

By STEPHEN S. ROSENFELD
The Washington Post

A fascinating article on Soviet life has been published in Poland by a hitherto-unknown writer named Jerzy Lovell. It has no sensations but much truth and is full of the kind of observations and insights few Westerners ever get in a position to make.

Lovell's central theme is that there is a gulf between the generations — Soviet authorities stamp hard on public discussion of it — and that the "danger" in the conflict is "beginning to dawn" on the editors. He takes note, too, of former Premier Khrushchev's peculiar imprint on the problem.

Lovell visited the Soviet Union last summer. His Reflections of an Unprejudiced Man," published in the Cracow Weekly Literary Life, late in 1965, has been compared to the explosively candid "Moscow Summer," written the year before by a young Yugoslav, Mihajlo Mihajlov.

Friendly Visitor

As a visitor from a friendly Communist country, Lovell could penetrate to people and places through screens of reserve and wariness where Westerners rarely go. Unlike most perceptive Communist writers, he printed much of what he learned.

The differences between Soviet "fathers and sons" have been culturally and politically hot in Moscow ever since it became apparent that the "sons" had not known the molding Soviet experience of revolution, nation-building, war and terror and therefore did not share the values and the outlooks of the "fathers."

Lovell found the differences apparent to the eye: "Younger people up to the middle thirties, are dressed in an elegant modern fashion. The girls, particularly after work, seem to come straight from the fashion journals: very well coiffed, spike heels, attentive to detail, fresh, sparkling attractive girls.

"And suddenly, after the middle thirties, the clothing gets careless, shapeless, even though it remians clean. And the atmosphere is quite different.

"I saw in a 30-minute walk at least 20 elderly gentlemen, heavy-set, serious, probably holding important jobs, with one characteristic detail: coat and jacket sleeves are too long. This is not a question of taste. A factory miscalculated but any tailor could set it right. Well, there are few tailors, so why does not a wife or secretary turn up the sleeves? Or one could take a pair of scissors . . . rather than make a fool of oneself walking about surrealistically without hands.

"For those men, for this generation, it is an unimportant negligible detail. One could continue the analogy: the housing construction of the Thirties through the Fifties, ugly, cheap and suffering from elephantiasis, against the recent construction, truly pretty."

Lovell reports on a Moscow scandal, the wanton killing of a swan in a park by "little sons and daughters of go-o-od families." There were "attempts to use influence, and then some, but verdicts flew, the longest sentence was four years." A friend of Lovell, an old Communist, said.

'People, old Muscovites, were so furious at those degenerate kids, they were ready to tear them to bits, right here in court. But the young people watching in the court kept quiet. You must understand, it was only a swan but it was a symbol. How can we march together with those people? Are they supposed to take our places?"

Analyzing Khrushchev's role, he says:

'Last Romantic'

"I think that the effects of the internal defeat of Khrushchev, of his 'adventurousness,' remain uncomprehended and underestimated. You might smile but I would call him the 'last romantic of the revolution' — if you take romanticism as an excess of imagination unsupported by judgment, a belief in the unlimited possibilities of human nature and the certainty that some individuals are geniuses with a special calling (in this he perhaps continued Stalin's line).

"He showed it in his idea of farming the virgin lands. He made it into a 'great adventure' of his era, perhaps the last romantic adventure. He struck sparks of unsuspected faith and sacrifice from the young.

"Yet the whole idea proved a great and painful fiasco. Its result was not only a deficit of grain but also a deficit of faith, which cannot be imported. Yet among those who burned their fingers, the feeling remains: 'They have made fools of us once again.' This phrase, directed against Khrushchev, is heard in innumerable variations."

He says he was told by a Soviet friend that "little has changed in the Komsomol youth organization in the last 30 years. They try to bring up my son in the same spirit in which they brought me up. We believed religiously in everything we were told, but he immediately asks 'why and wherefore?' And he gets furious and bored when he is persuaded endlessly at endless meetings, over and over, to accept as true things which he has simply grown up with and believes to be quite obvious."

Not Religious

Lovell found no signs of a religious revival among youth. "They are not seen in churches. Their attitude seems hostile to any form of belief in God, their spirit is strongly rationalistic or, simply, Marxist. This is another of the anti-romantic elements, outside of one area in which the laws of romanticism still rule, the space program. It offers a safety valve for the imagination, the temperament and the ambitions of the young. The second area lies in the huge open spaces of the Soviet Union and the extent of the work being done there."

Lovell also includes in his essay a picture of the "ideal" Soviet society far from the official image. "I love the subway," he writes, of Moscow's monumental pride. 'A man feels washed by this moving human mass, bathed in a friendly though anonymous intimacy, freed of the human tensions in force on the surface and restored to himself down here, where it is as private as in a bathroom, when one is shaving or putting on makeup.

"Everybody is in a hurry, but they know they'll make it — without pushing, without shouting, as sometimes happens above ground. In the high-ceilinged marble halls of the subway stations are none of the contrasts above — between the highest degree of civilization and the deepest 19th-century provincialism.

"Whoever planned the Moscow subway had a vision and a will. He created here, in the underground, almost a future model of an ideal society."

How the Munsinger Story Was Leaked to the Press

By DOUGLAS FISHER

Fisher

At first blush, the manner in which Justice Minister Cardin dropped the "Monsignor" case into the House record made it seem almost accidental. The mistaken spelling or pronunciation, "Monsignor" for Munsinger, supports this. But it could not have been that casual.

Before Mr. Cardin spoke, Mr. Diefenbaker had said during remarks on the Spencer case: " . . . the time has come for a full and complete investigation. I want to go back: I want to cover the period from 1944 onward."

Remember that this was early Friday afternoon before we had any threat about the "Monsignor" case from Mr. Cardin. Shortly after saying this, Mr. Diefenbaker remarked:

"Let us assure that our security shall be preserved. Let us go into the matter. Why do you not do it? Don't go around telling members of the press gallery: 'If we were to tell what we know, we would be devastating.' I say to you, let us bring out the facts. Establish a royal commission. I want to go back to 1944-45 to see whether our security is 'what it should be."

So the press gallery had been told something. What was it?

* * *

Several weeks ago it struck me that one chap, medium-sized, glasses, rather scholarly, seemed to drift through the quarters a lot.

He was a familiar face around the buildings but I had never placed him directly. I asked a colleague who he was and the answer was that he was a former executive assistant to a Liberal minister, now attached to the Privy Council office and working around the prime minister's office.

I asked whether he was a party worker and the answer was not clear. I asked what brought him to the gallery so often. Did he have some friendship or association with some reporter? The person I questioned wasn't sure. He hadn't thought about it before but it was true that the man was drifting around on many occasions during the day and evening.

About this time the prospect of a storm over affairs in the department of justice was developing. Erik Nielsen had said that he would be naming names on bankruptcy matters and the Spencer case was becoming more and more of an issue. I began to hear the odd hint that the government wasn't worried about Nielsen and any of his charges; that the government had some juicy items of its own about the Diefenbaker administration, and that some truly exciting revelations were in store.

In tracing these hints to a source I found that most of them seemed to lead to the mysterious visitor. It seemed that in his excursions through the gallery a few reporters were told that they could expect or might get some real sensations very soon, that the government had more than enough to put the Tories in their place.

* * *

Of course, these hints got back to Mr. Diefenbaker. That's what he was referring to with his sentence: "Don't go around telling members of the press gallery: 'If we were to tell what we know, we would be devastating.'

When Mr. Cardin dropped his "Monsignor" reference, the cat was out of the bag. The reporters or some of them had been given just enough information to have the most lurid outline for a breaking story. Thus the first line of one reporter's story (in the Toronto Star): "The photograph shows a voluptuous blonde, nude, lying in bed with a man. Ordinarily, it might be just another smutty picture. But the woman is Olga Munsinger, an East German, who was considered a security risk by the RCMP. And the man was a minister in the Diefenbaker government in 1961."

Now the Star reporter was not around Ottawa. He's not an old hand in Ottawa. His information was a tip from someone in the government. I have to conclude that it was given him deliberately as part of a plan, that the press gallery visitor was the source or one of the sources for it. Since he is working out of the PM's office (that is, he is not a petty clerk) it seems clear that the Munsinger revelations were part of a calculated government plan to shift attention to the behavior of the Diefenbaker government.

It seems a queer thing, an odd plan, perhaps a stupid plan. But it is obviously a plan that the government has gone into with deliberation and with the approval of the prime minister.

As might be expected, much more than the Munsinger case will now be heard. "Back to 1944 . . ." says Mr. Diefenbaker. Back through the Herbert Norman case and so on.

What a country! What a government!

South Africa 'Swap Shop' In Operation

By JOHN WORRALL
The Manchester Guardian

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Southern Africa is turning into a giant subcontinental swap shop.

The Rhodesians are not sending their South African friends gifts of sweets, chocolates and cigarettes in return for gifts of petrol which are arriving in increasing quantities.

A Salisbury wine shop owner has put his premises at the disposal of a sweet collection for South African orphans — and the idea arose directly from the arrival of a 44-gallon drum of petrol for Rhodesia collected by Johannesburg orphans. The petrol was towed behind a scooter by a Johannesburg bus conductor.

The gift prompted a series of "Thank You South Africa" campaigns.

Members of the Rhodesian tobacco industry have formed an association to buy cigarettes for distributing in South Africa. They will be specially packed with a "Thank You South Africa" card included.

A Salisbury travel agency director has suggested that scholarships to South African students should be offered as a "thank you."

A Bulawayo-based breakdown service for tankers bearing petrol gifts has been formed by a railway workshop foreman and a national fund to sponsor holidays to Rhodesia for South African orphans was launched by the mayors of Salisbury and Bulawayo.

HUMPHREY:

Do Not Isolate Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey says he believes the containment of China's "agressive militancy" is a worthy objective but the Peking regime should not be isolated "from the family of mankind."

Humphrey said Sunday Americans "ought to maintain as best we can a spirit of friendship toward the Chinese people, but recognizing what the regime is and making that regime understand they can not achieve their purpose by military power."

He accused China of supplying small arms and munitions to North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong. He said the United States is "prepared at this moment to accept a ceasefire" in Viet Nam and include Chinese Communist representatives in any peace negotiations.

In other weekend developments:

—India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said that while China should be contained it also should be admitted to the United Nations. She suggested that exclusion of China from the UN may have contributed to present problems. "Perhaps if China had not been so isolated it wouldn't have been so aggressive," she said on ABC's radio-television program Issues and Answers.

—Representative Melvin R. Laird (Rep.—Wis.), appearing on the CBS radio-television program Face The Nation, called upon President Johnson to clarify his position on "including Communists in a coalition government" in South Viet Nam.

—Governors of 39 states unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policy. The action came after the governors were briefed at the White House by Johnson and his advisers.

Cong Back Broad-Based Government

ALGIERS (Reuters) — A British Labor party peer said Saturday the South Viet Nam Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas, is prepared to form a broadly-based government that would include Roman Catholics and Buddhists, after peace talks.

Lord Brockway said this emerged in a 45-minute meeting he had with Vo Cng Trung, chairman of the Liberation Front mission here. Brockway is chairman of the British Council for Peace in Viet Nam. The Front has one of its two missions in the non-Communist world here.

CLEAR THE AIR

Committee Fostering Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator J. W. Fulbright said today the Senate foreign relations committee which he heads is "fostering controversy" in the hope of attaining a true national consensus on Viet Nam policy.

The Arkansas Democrat, who has criticized President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, said the U.S. is divided about American objectives in Asia and only "the honest and responsible airing of differences" can clear the air.

With the committee resuming hearings on China Wednesday, Fulbright spoke out in defence of its role in a speech prepared for the National Conference of Higher Education in Chicago.

Fulbright said: "I believe that the public hearings on Viet Nam, by bringing before the American people a variety of opinions an ddisagreements pertaining to the war, have done far more to strengthen our country's position that to weaken it.

"The hearings have been criticized on the ground that they conveyed an 'image' of the United States as divided over the war. Since the country obviously is divided, what was conveyed was a fact rather than an image."

Fuel Stocks Top Target For Bombers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. joint chiefs of staff, unanimously favoring a wider air war against North Viet Nam, have tabbed fuel and oil stocks in the Haiphong area as the top priority target.

However, President Johnson and Defence Secretary Robert McNamara still bar U.S. fighter-bombers from hitting Haiphong or the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi, some 50 miles to the west.

The mining of Haiphong harbor, North Viet Nam's sole major port, has only No. 2 priority with the military chiefs.

The joint chiefs believe it is important to hit the petroleum stocks so that the truck traffic carrying men and supplies to the Communists in South Viet Nam might be crippled.

BABIES BORN WITH DRUG ADDICTION

NEW YORK (UPI) — The department of health said Sunday hundreds of babies are born annually in New York City with the symptoms of drug addiction.

According to the department, the babies suffer from "neonatal drug addiction" — the result of being poisoned during pregnancy by the narcotics taken by their mothers.

If untreated, many of the neonatal addicts, who "suffer all the tortures of drug withdrawal," soon die.

ARMY NABS VIET WAR OPPONENT

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP) —An American army private who says he's on a hunger strike to protest the war in Viet Nam, was arrested Saturday for participating in a peace demonstration while in uniform.

Private Michael Murphy of Olympia, Wash., was arrested by military police when he met seven members of the Seattle Youth for Peace in Viet Nam group at the main gate of the fort here.

The peace marchers were demonstrating to protest Murphy's alleged mistreatment by the army, and in support of his stand.

Fort Lewis officials said Murphy was being restricted to barracks until military police report to the battalion commander.

Sex 'Is Part of Spying' Hooded Ex-Clerk Claims

TORONTO (CP)—Igor Gouzenko, the Russian cipher clerk who pulled the plug on a Soviet spy ring in Canada in 1945, made one of his rare public appearances Sunday night, claiming that the Soviet Union fills its embassy in Ottawa with espionage agents.

Gouzenko, with his head coverd in a white hood, was interviewed on the CBC television program This Hour Has Seven Days. His last public appearance was about 18 months ago when he was seen similarly hooded on CBC's Front Page Challenge.

A CBC spokesman said Sunday's interview was taped immediately before broadcast. Gouzenko has been living incognito under the eyes of the RCMP in a small Ontario town since the spy trials which followed his disclosures.

GOUZENKO
. . . brings a 'message'

He said he had agreed to appear on television to "bring a message to the Canadian people."

He said the Soviet Union sends nobody to Canada unless "he is a Soviet agent." These agents collect any information which might be useful in influencing people, he said.

Sex is definitely part of spying, he said, and gave as an example a message that once passed through his hands instructing an agent to "court a girl and marry her, if necessary."

Gouzenko said the agent was already married with children, but he did not elaborate on the incident.

CASTRO READY FOR CHINA SPLIT

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today Cuba is prepared for a break in diplomatic relations with China, which he accused of "launching an imperialist - type campaign against Cuba."

He also denied rumors of growing internal opposition to his government.

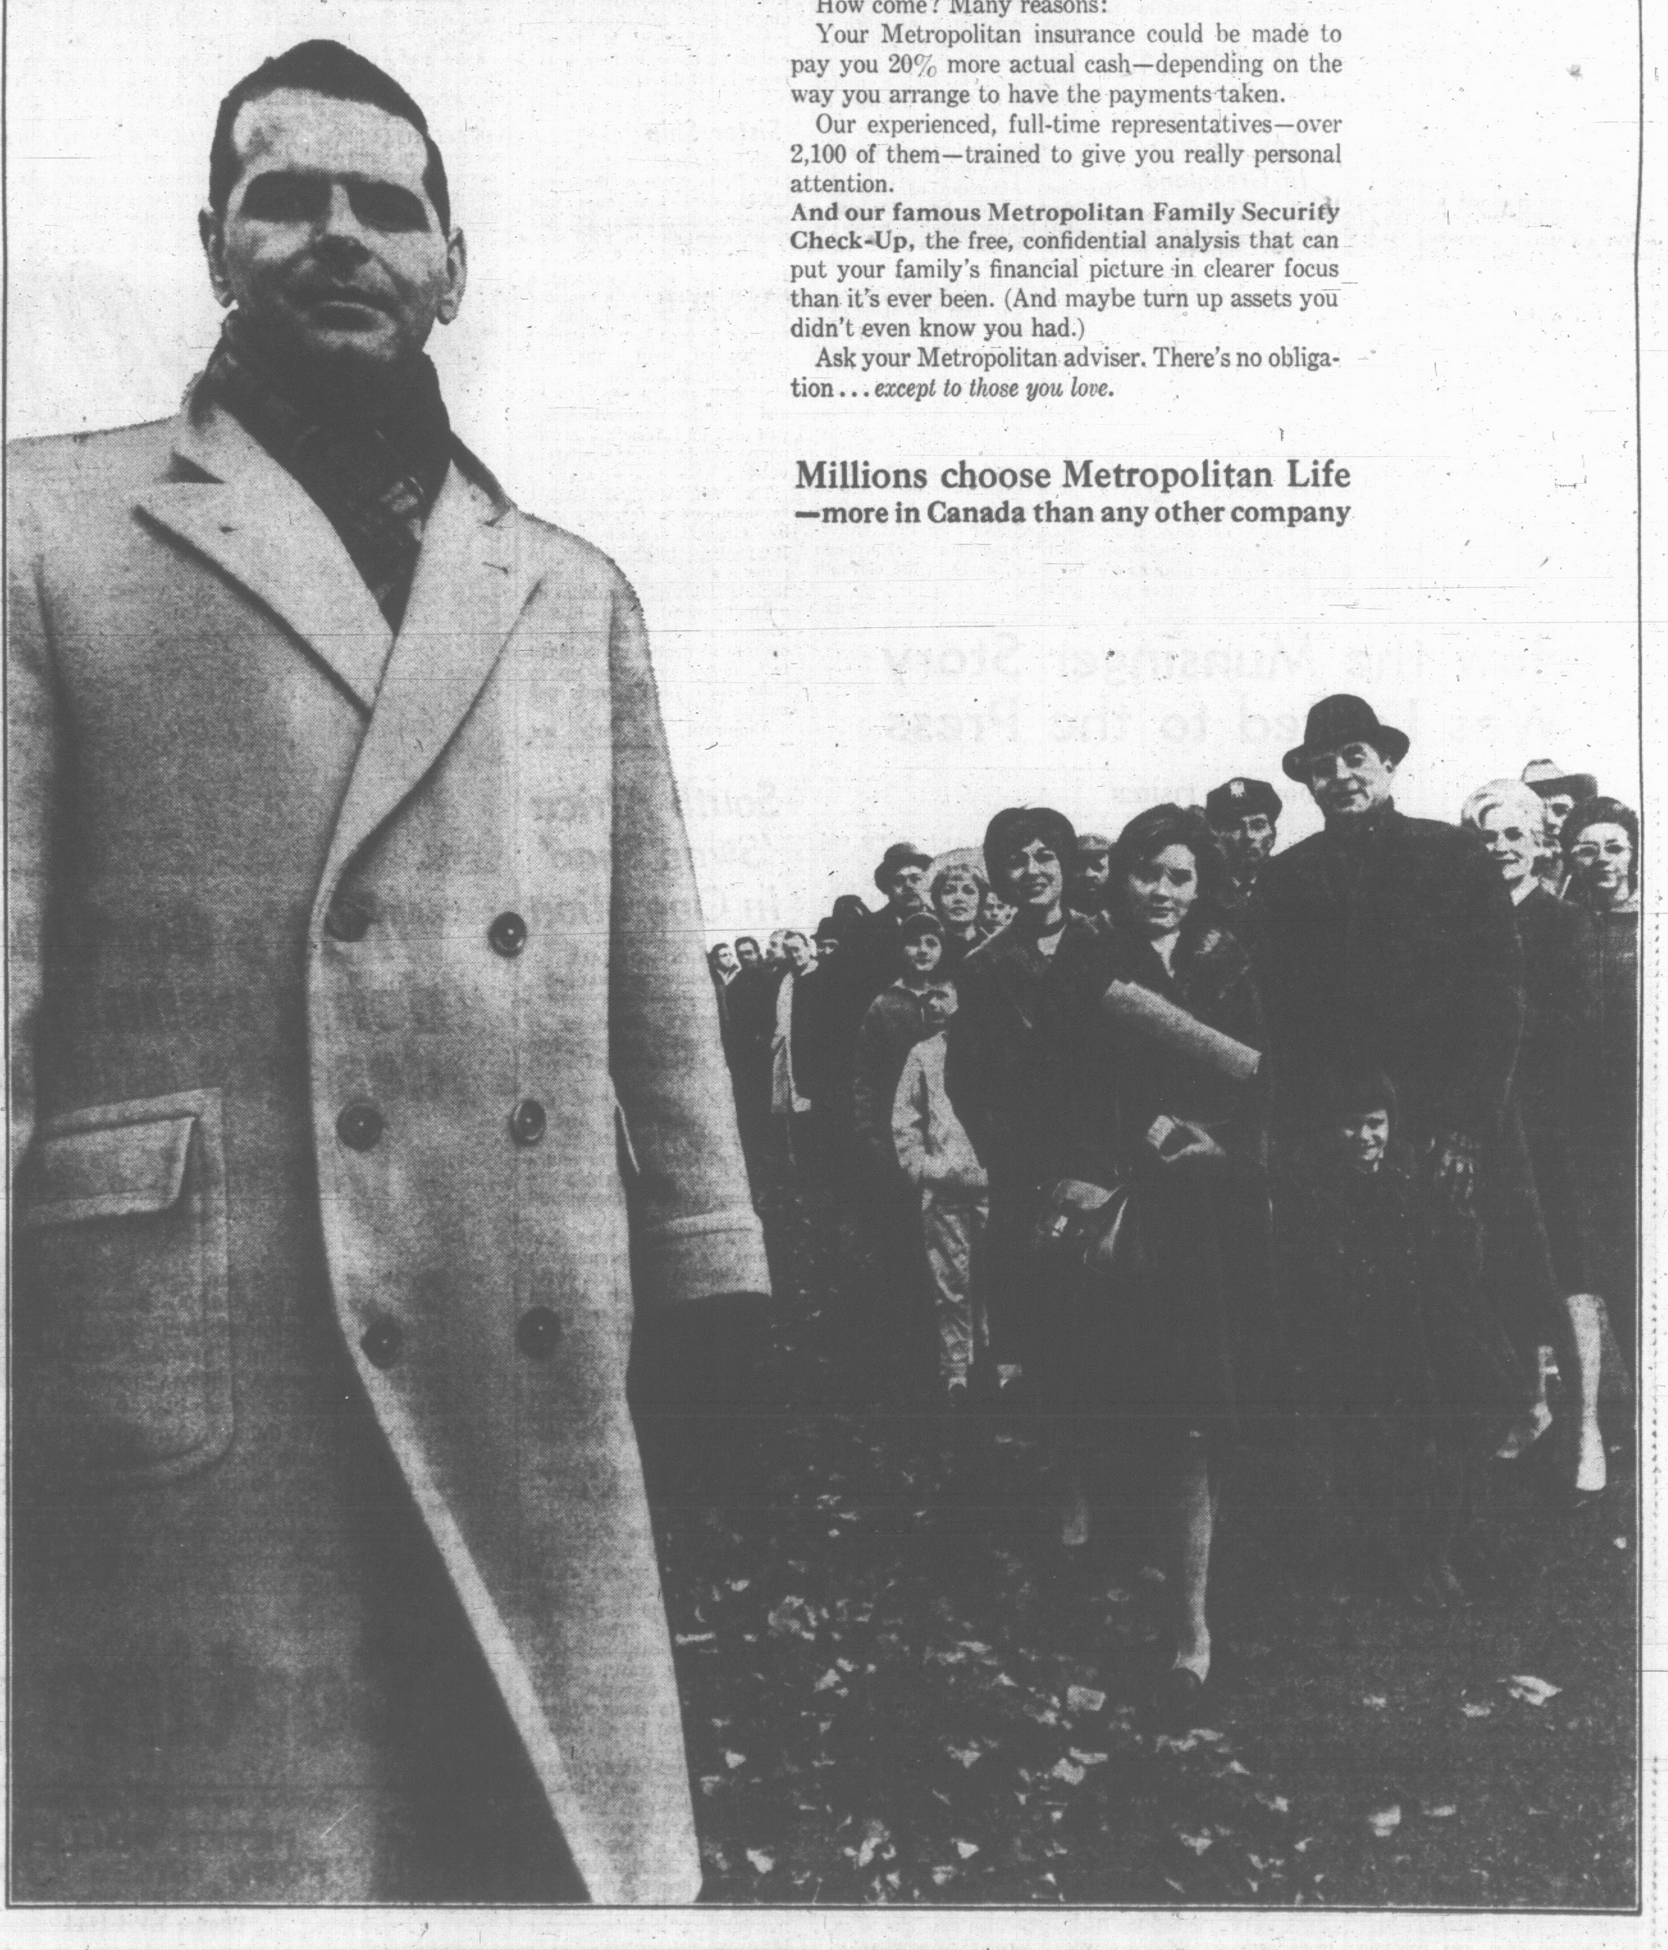
In an angry 4½-hour speech, Castro said Peking apparently was trying to provoke a break in relations by carrying out a "new campaign of calumny" and continuing its "economic aggressions" against Cuba.

Castro said he was considering limiting the number of Chinese officials in Cuba as a result of a Chinese request to take out of the country trucks, cars and other large equipment belonging to Peking's representatives in Cuba.

The deterioration in relations between Havana and Peking became known Jan. 2 when Castro accused China of reneging on an agreement to supply Cuba with 250,000 tons of rice this year. Peking said he was lying.

"It is sad and humiliating," Castro shouted, "that in the midst of the battle that our people are waging against imperialism . . . we have to, at the same time, distract our energies to reply to those whom we considered our sincere allies."

Speaking at Havana University ceremonies commemorating the 1957 student attempt to assassinate dictator Fulgencio Batista, Castro said his revolutionary regime has created "a great climate of security and a great climate of confidence."



How come Metropolitan Life is the personal choice of millions of Canadians -more than any other company?

You can get life insurance in two basic ways. Through a group (where you work, for instance)—or by your own individual selection.

FORCES ROUNDUP

Naden to Get Hydrofoil News

By TERRY IZZARD

Esquimalt naval officers will learn later this month what the chances are of acquiring a fleet of hydrofoil craft.

Two senior officers from Ottawa HQ will visit the base March 25 to outline the progress being made in development of hydrofoils.

Commander T. S. Allan and Commander C. Cotaris, both attached to the hydrofoil project offices, will address interested personnel in Fleet School.

Slides of the progress being made will accompany the talks

Recent mail holdups to and from ships on exercise in the Caribbean have now been remedied, according to the navy.

After many complaints of letters arriving up to three weeks late, postal and naval authorities investigated the situation.

Mail is now leaving at regular intervals and the next batch to reach the sailors will be Tuesday when the ships dock at Bridgetown, Barbados.

Ships involved are HMCS St. Croix, Stettler, Antigonish and Grilse.

A Victoria naval officer this week became the first Canadian to receive his engineering certificate of competency south of the Equator.

Lieut. R. L. Preston, 630 Foul Bay, gained his certificate aboard the St. Croix, presently on exercises in the Caribbean.

The certificate qualifies Lieut. Preston to take command of a destroyer escort's engineering department.

Army and navy teams face off together Wednesday in the B.C. area Canadian Forces Hockey Championship at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

The teams will be playing for the Tri-Service Trophy and will consist of players from the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Camp Chilliwack and HMCS Naden.

Referee will be Petty Officer Thomas Sloan, Naden.

New Paper To Oppose Union

WINNIPEG (CP) — A national newspaper aimed at Anglican readership will make its debut here Tuesday, its editor Rev. Maurice Hardman said here.

Called The Communicator, the newspaper will be published monthly and will have correspondents in each major city across Canada.

Mr. Hardman was editor of the Rupert's Land News, the official diocese newspaper of the Anglican Church. He resigned last December in a dispute with church officials involving union with the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Hardman said The Communicator will "oppose the principles of union documents as insufficient reason for union between Anglicans and any other church."

All current church problems, including new theology, curriculum, group dynamics, rights of individuals in the church, and the question of secularization of the state, will be discussed in the eight-page newspaper, Mr. Hardman said.

Grafting Featured Tuesday

By JACK BEASDALL

Gardeners on the southern end of Vancouver Island will have a rare opportunity Tuesday of seeing a demonstration of fruit tree grafting.

I know many who have been seeking information on this phase of gardening, and while illustrated charts and books are plentiful, there is nothing to compare with seeing an experienced worker acturally grafting a scion to a bough.

Word has just been received from the Metchosin Farmers' Institute that the demonstration will bbe held at their meeting Tuesday at Luxton Hall, Glen Lake, starting at 8 p.m. sharp.

The demonstrator will be Alan Littler, district horticulturist, whom many of you met at the recent tree pruning demonstrations, and it is not necessary for me to tell you that an instructive and interesting evening is in store for those able to attend.

This is the only grafting demonstration scheduled for this area, and, as far as I know, the only one to be presented locally. Because of this, the Metchosin Farmers' Institute extends a welcome to all, gardeners and commercial growers to be with them next Tuesday evening.

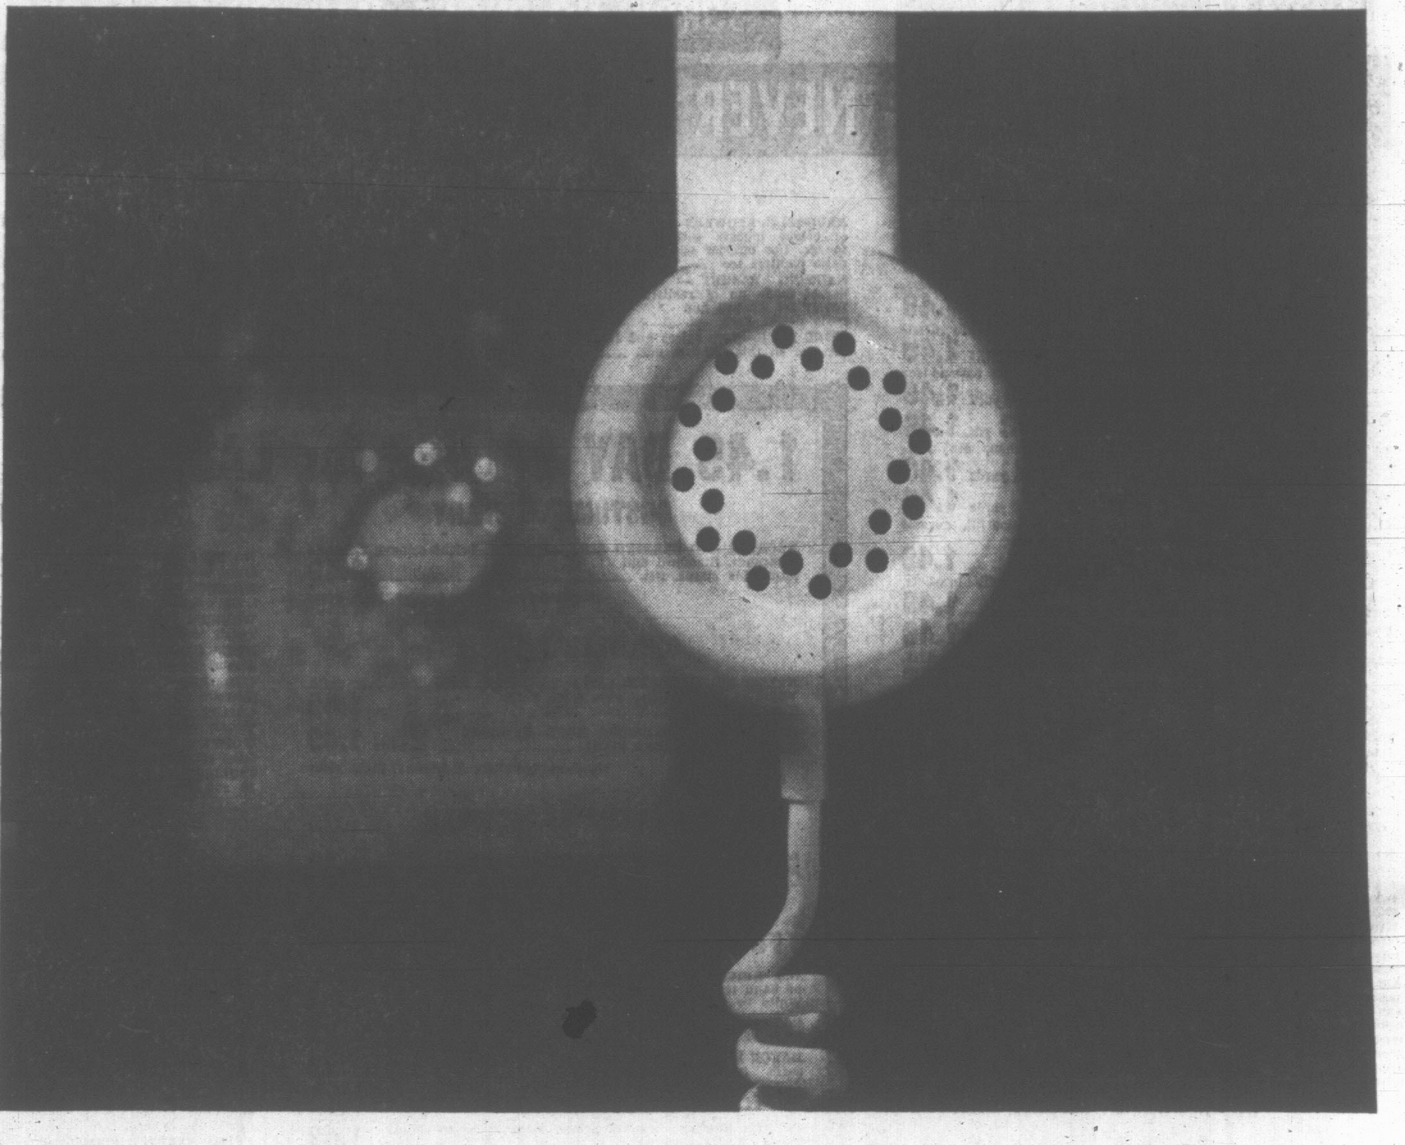
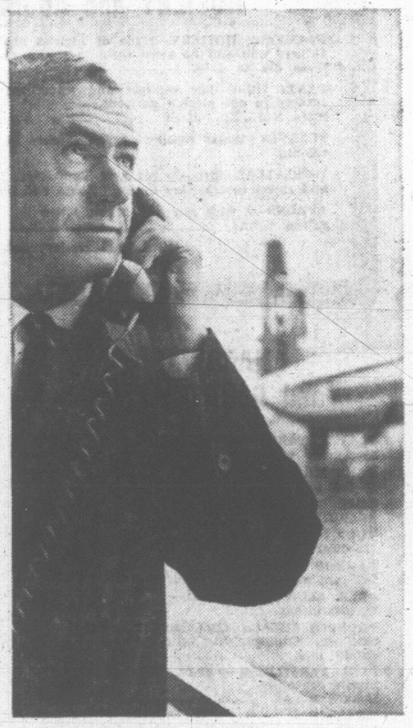
Salesman-of-the-year



The secret of making a business grow is, in most cases, quite simple—win more and more customers spread over a wider and wider area. Nothing helps you find them, sell them, satisfy them and re-sell them so quickly and economically as the skilled use of your telephone. Here are just a few profit-making ideas.

Call for Orders
This big-city truck dealer has no problem about keeping in touch with his many customers and prospects in distant parts of the province.
Head office sales staff follow up leads, arrange demonstrations, solicit orders and maintain contact with established customers by a carefully planned routine of Long Distance calls.
Think of the convenience! He has his customers at his fingertips and keeps right up with their requirements. Cost is negligible compared with operating local offices.
Finally, this dealer also lists a ZENITH number in key centres like Nanaimo, Kamloops and Prince George. It enables customers and prospects there to call him without cost to themselves—another valuable business-builder!



Salesman on the Wing
This salesman is on a trip through his company's market area, extending from Vancouver to the Lakehead. One of the most useful things he carries is his B.C. TEL Long Distance Credit Card.
This enables him to make Long Distance calls from anywhere. He uses it constantly to confirm appointments at his next stopover and contact inconveniently located accounts.
He also keeps in daily touch, of course, with head office: reporting on progress; channelling orders, queries and complaints for fast action; collecting fresh leads as he flies from point to point.
His periodic "swing through the territory" is quite an expensive item of overhead. Long Distance ensures, at minimum cost, that his company gets every last cent of value from it.

"Touring" by Phone
This busy Sales Manager "tours" his area in a morning—with B.C. TEL's Sequence Calling service.
He simply gives the operator the list of Long Distance numbers he wants. She gets them for him in the right order and at the intervals most convenient for his other work.
He holds regular Conference Calls, too, with his company's three other offices in Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto—all four of them on the line together, talking and listening as though they were in the same room.
There's no end to the profit-making uses of properly planned Long Distance calling. Ask one of our experienced Communication Consultants to explain some of the possibilities for your business—naturally without obligation. Contact him TODAY.
In Victoria Call 386-2211
If calling long distance, ask the operator for ZENITH 7000 (there is no charge).

Philip Calls on Ike

WHIRLWIND ITINERARY ARRANGED

Philip Goes Hollywood... Dashingly

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Prince Philip dashes about the Hollywood area today in a whirlwind of activity.

The 44-year-old prince leaves his hotel in nearby Beverly Hills and heads for the University of California at Los Angeles. During the day he also:

—Visits a new hearing rehabilitation centre for children;
search on children's heart
—Visits a new facility for re-problems;

—Gives a speech on campus, receives an honorary doctor's degree, meets students and alumnae.

—Heads for 20th Century Fox studios — accompanied part way by a parade of cowboys, Indians and stage coaches—for lunch;

—Receives a specially designed Winchester rifle, presented by singer Bing Crosby;

—Visits an exhibit of British motor cars in nearby Century City;

—Goes to a Beverly Hills hotel to attend a Variety Clubs International banquet and makes a speech.

Sunday was less demanding. The prince, who arrived Saturday in Palm Springs, helped raise money for charity at a polo match.

He stayed Saturday night at the home of Lou Taubman, petroleum engineer and land developer—where President Johnson stayed two years ago when he visited the desert vacation spa.

A sumptuous poolside luncheon was served Sunday, with about 60 guests, including film stars, at Taubman's mission before the polo match.

About 400 persons paid $50 each to sit in the royal enclosure and meet the prince afterward at a reception.

Prince Philip later departed for the airport, stopping en route for a brief chat with former president Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose winter home is at the Eldorado Country Club.

The prince drew a good laugh when asked if he had seen a movie recently. He replied:

"Where do you think I'm from outer space? Yes, I've seen movies, I think they're here to stay."

Explaining his trip, he said: "England has taken so much out of the (Variety Clubs) fund, I thought I should try to put some in. Besides, it was a convenient excuse to come to the United States."

The tour also includes visits to Toronto March 20-21 and Ottawa March 22-23.

NEW PARTY TO PUSH SEPARATISM

QUEBEC (CP)—Formation of a new provincial political party to campaign for the sovereignty of Quebec was announced here Sunday night. Still nameless and leaderless, its founders are elements of the Quebec wing of Le Ralliement des Creditistes and the separatist regroupement Nationale.

The move follows weekend conventions of the two parties during which the executives of the two voted on the alliance. The Union Nationale was earlier reported interested in the new party, but party founders said talks with Union Nationale Leader Daniel Johnson proved fruitless.

The party will seek what it described as an "associate state" status for Quebec, under which the province would issue its own currency through a bank of Quebec and have absolute control over credit and the money supply.

PARTICIPATION URGED IN UNIVERSITY GOVERNMENT

'Let Students Have a Voice'

TORONTO (CP)—A report on university government in Canada recommends sweeping reforms in university government that would change the traditional makeup of boards of governors, senates and administrations of most Canadian universities.

The Duff - Berdahl report warns that student rebellions may occur in Canada if students are not given a role in the administration.

The 87-page report is the result of a year's study of 35 Canadian universities and colleges by Sir James Duff, formerly vice-chancellor of the University of Durham in England and Prof. Robert Berdahl, a political scientist and specialist in university government at San Francisco State College.

The report was sponsored by the Canadian Association of University Teachers and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada and financed by a $50,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. It is to be published Friday.

The report says university boards of governors should include at least three faculty members but the faculty representation should not be more than 25 per cent of the board. Student representation on boards of governors should be one member, not a student, but elected by the students.

Senates should be more strictly composed of faculty members, the report says, except for a number of representatives from the board of governors. The senate should include one or more students.

The report says senates should be allowed to pass resolutions on any topic relating to the welfare of the university, including financial matters. But boards of governors should not be inhibited from asking senates to take a second look at some educational proposal they have brought to the board.

FALSE TEETH
Chewing Efficiency
Increased up to 35%

Clinical tests prove you can now chew better—make dentures average up to 35% more effective—if you sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. FASTEETH is the alkaline (non-acid) powder that holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste. Doesn't sour. Checks denture breath. Get FASTEETH Powder today at drug counters everywhere.

Fresh, clean, crisp—that's the effect Basic Banking is having on the atmosphere at Canada's First Bank. Basic Banking has cleared away outmoded procedures and put the emphasis where it belongs — on quick, efficient handling of the three vital services you use in your day-to-day banking. Basic Banking is based on the fact that nine times out of ten when you enter a bank you are looking for service in (1) Savings Accounts, (2) Current Accounts or (3) Personal Chequing. In putting Basic Banking into effect, we have simply geared our branch offices to give you absolutely top performance in these basic services. Basic Banking doesn't eliminate other banking services, of course. You'll still find a more complete range of financial services at the Bank of Montreal than at any other type of financial institution. Why not drop into your neighbourhood branch of Canada's First Bank soon and see for yourself which way the wind is blowing?

U.K. Bonds Lower

LONDON (UPI)—The rise in the Bank of Canada interest rate—bank rate—to 5¼ per cent pushed British government bonds lower in early trading on the British stock market today. Market sources said that the Canadian move increased fears of higher interest rate in other centres.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a premium unch at $1.07⅝ in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Montreal reported near noon today. Pound sterling down 1/16 at $3.00⅝.

Paper Price Probe Asked By Publisher

TORONTO (CP) — John Bassett, publisher of The Telegram says it is time for the government to undertake an inquiry into the whole pulp and paper industry in the face of rising newsprint prices.

He said in a signed article in The Telegram Saturday the recently-announced increase of $10 a ton in the price of newsprint "will place a heavy burden on Canadian daily newspapers, and based on the published profits of the main newsprint companies, cannot be justified."

Mr. Bassett said few businesses since the Second World War have been able to load their customers with a corresponding increase that rates with the newsprint companies' series of increases to $144 from $60 a ton since 1945.

The Telegram accompanied the article with a graph showing successive increases from 1945 to 1958, and then a period of stable prices until this year.

"Why have the newsprint companies never been investigated under the Combines Act?" he asked. "Why have successive governments never questioned if Canadian newspapers are being treated equitably?"

Mr. Bassett said other divisions of the paper industry have come under government scrutiny, including the paper box industry and fine paper operations.

This doesn't mean there has been anything illegal in their policies, "but it is legitimate to ask why there hasn't at least been some inquiry if for no other reason than to get answers before the public," he added.

Cigarette Prices Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Tobacco Co. announced today a price increase on all brands of its cigarettes, except one, effective immediately.

A company spokesman said the increase would amount to a cent for a 20-cigarette pack for the consumer although officially the price boost is figured in lots of 1,000 cigarettes.

The one exception, the company said, is Pall Mall filter cigarettes on which the price was reduced to $9.40 for 1,000 from $12.

On Lucky Strike regulars, the price was increased to $9.20 for 1,000 from $8.80 and on other brands to $9.40 from $9.

The company said it would have no statement on the reasons for the price changes.

The retail price for a 20-cigarette pack varies from state to state. In New York, the average price is about 43 cents a pack.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices Continue to Sink

The market continued to sink today at Wall Street, Toronto and Vancouver as price declines reached into almost all sections.

The Dow-Jones index was off 10.86.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 7,300,000 shares compared with 7,010,000 Friday.

Rails, aerospace issues, airlines, electronics, chemicals, nonferrous metals, steels and office equipments were among the losers.

Cigarette shares were up from the start on news of price increases for cigarettes. Philip Morris held a 4-point gain. Lorillard, Reynolds, American Tobacco and Liggett and Myers held fractional gains.

AT VANCOUVER losses hit a majority of stocks.

Of 18 issues that were active in trading, 15 declined in price. Mining issues were hardest hit.

Biggest losers were Brenda Mines and Pyramid. Brenda lost .60 to $8.50 and Pyramid was off .37 to $12.12.

Arctic dropped .12 to $1.75. Peace River Pete was off .02; Prosper .03; Arlington .07 and Bornite .05. Croydon was off .07 and Lornex fell .20 to $3.90. Patricia Silver, Rolling Hills and Rodstrom were all off

MacMillan, Bloedel fell to $27.62 on only 150 shares.

AT TORONTO stocks failed to rally in heavy mid-afternoon trading.

Among industrial issues, Imperial Oil fell 1 to 52⅝, B.C. Telephone ¾ to 74¼, Westcoast Transmission ⅝ to 25⅞, CPR and Inglis ½ each to 60½ and 9⅝.

Inco led the base metal group lower, declining 1⅛ to 97⅞. Noranda was off 1 to 51, Denison ½ to 39½ and Cominco ¼ to 44¼. Lake Dufault rose ½ to 13⅝.

Western oils continued to lose ground with Dome Petroleum sliding 1 to 16, Canadian Industrial Gas and Oil and Husky Oil ¼ each to 11⅝ and 13⅝, and Pacific Petroleum ⅛ to 12⅝.

Speculatives remained active with Consolidated Halliwell Climbing 26 cents to 1.65, Tribag 20 cents to 1.60 while D'Eldona dropped 8 cents to 1.01.

AT MONTREAL banks were up but most other sections moved fractionally lower in dull trading.

Industrial volume was 80,100 and mines and oils 458,200.

Du Pont led industrials lower by dropping ½ to 42¼.

AT LONDON the stock market drifted lower today on lack of interest and scattered small selling. Steels were quietly firm. There were few movements of consequence in industrials.

British funds were weak, reflecting sterling uncertainties and the Canadian bank-rate increase. Royal Bank of Canada was ⅜ lower.

Board Rules Payoff Is Income

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., provided a Caribbean cruise for the Winnipeg owners of a wholesale firm in 1962, then the revenue department provided the bill.

Leon Rosenberg and his brother, Bernard, paid but appealed. The tax appeal board ruled against them in a judgment made public Saturday.

The Rosenbergs took their wives on the cruise offered by Canadian General Electric as a sales incentive in return for orders to buy CGE radio tubes, TV picture tubes and other wares.

The brothers own Lee-Bern and Co. Ltd., wholesale distributors of electronic goods and household appliances.

The revenue department added the value of their trip to their declared income for 1962. CGE stated the value at $1,498.50 a person, including airline tickets to New York and passage on the liner Gripsholm.

When the Rosenbergs found more than $2,500 added to each of their income returns, they claimed expenses in buying holiday clothes for the trip and hiring a housekeeper for their children.

The tax appeal board said the revenue department rightly considered the value of the trip as part of their income from Lee-Bern and Co. It was not a gift from CGE but a benefit.

Clothing expenses weren't allowed as "the cost of suitable clothing is an expense common to all taxpayers whether they reside within the Arctic Circle or in a warmer climate," the board ruled.

Ship Workers Consider Jobs In Seattle

With half the work force at Victoria Machinery Depot about to be laid off, Seattle shipyards are advertising for skilled men.

Advertisements in Seattle newspapers seek pipefitters, electricians, welders and sheet metal journeymen at Lockheed and Todd shipyards.

Almost 350 Victoria shipyard workers at VMD are being laid off in stages as the ferry Queen of Prince Rupert is completed.

Union business agents said the situation is grim, but were divided on whether many men will go to Seattle for work.

A representative from the Lockheed yard came here last month seeking 500 platers, welders, electricians, pipefitters, and sheetmetal journeymen.

He took back 110 applications, of which 49 have been sent to Washington for clearance.

The Seattle yard has work in hand lasting until 1971 even if no orders are received in the intervening years. It has orders for 18 navy vessels.

Fifty marine electricians are out of work and a spokesman for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said he will not be able to place them here.

"Some are going to Seattle," said business agent William Isbister. "Several are moving down entirely and taking out visas.

SECOND LOOK

"You can't expect highly-skilled men to sit around and hope something will happen."

Jim McConachy, business agent for the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, said the massive layoff could result in workers taking a second look at Seattle.

"It looks like construction work will be reasonably good this summer but not all want to go into construction," he said.

"If it is going to be lengthy, it is a matter of going to Seattle or into construction. That is the only alternative they have."

He suggested the federal government advance the dates of work they plan for the west coast to help the present situation, and give back the subsidy to provincial ferries.

"It is a bleak situation, particularly for the outfitting trades," he said.

Tom Wheatley, business agent for the United Association of Plumbers and Pipefitters, said he has 35 men out of work today but five are going to Prince George.

He didn't think any will go to Seattle because contract conditions are not as good as here. But he declined to elaborate.

PLACING MEN

He said there is a good chance of placing many men in jobs outside Victoria if they are prepared to work out of town.

"There is a big danger we might lose a lot of qualified workers," he said. "It looks sick for shipyard work until the fall. It's a sad situation."

Don Douglas, business agent for the Shipwrights, Joiners and Wood Caulkers Industrial Union, said the situation is serious because other yards are not able to pick up all the displaced men.

He thought a married man with a family settled here would think twice before going to Seattle.

"Obviously, there is going to be a period of idleness because of the absence of planning," he said.

"We've just written to the government calling for a merchant marine, but we're always doing that.

NO PLANNING

"It is deplorable we have no merchant marine. There is no planning to take care of crises like this."

He said he is impressed by planning in Sweden where, when unemployment reaches only two per cent, the government considers it a crisis and does something.

A backlog of orders is maintained, and pulled out when unemployment rises.

"But we have these periods of suffering," he said. "Sweden has done this for 30 years—we're way behind."

EX-MAYOR UNDER FIRE

Hearing Under Way On Stock Bonanza

VANCOUVER (CP)—An unprecedented judicial inquiry opened here today into the behavior of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court, who cashed in heavily on a gas company's stock after it got a municipal franchise in Sudbury.

LANDREVILLE
. . . made $117,000

The 56-year-old justice was mayor of Sudbury when Northern Ontario Natural Gas Co. got the franchise in 1956 as it was struggling for a foothold in the northern market. After he went to the bench, he made $117,000 on a deal in NONG stock without putting up any money.

The federal government ordered the inquiry in January after a long controversy arising partly out of a report to the government by the Law Society of Upper Canada—the Ontario lawyers' association — declaring him "unfit" to be on the bench and calling for his removal.

Ivan C. Rand, 81, a retired justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, is conducting the one-man inquiry, the first of its kind since Confederation.

MOVE TO SUDBURY

Plans were to examine about six witnesses here and then move to Sudbury for hearings starting next Monday with later ones scheduled for Toronto.

Commission officials withheld the names of the Vancouver witnesses in advance of the inquiry opening.

Commissioner Rand has been instructed to report to the government as soon as possible whether the dealings of Mr. Justice Landreville — an appointee of the Liberal St. Laurent administration — constituted "misbehavior in his official capacity as a judge" or whether they had proven him unfit for proper exercise of judicial duties.

The Ontario judge was charged in 1964 with municipal corruption and conspiracy in connection with his NONG deal but was discharged after a preliminary hearing.

CHARGE OTHER MAYORS

Three mayors of smaller Ontario communities were similarly charged. Two were freed after preliminary hearings; the third was committed for trial but acquitted.

Some of the prospective key witnesses are from the Vancouver area. Financier Ralph K. Farris, the first president of NONG but since retired from that company, arranged for Mr. Justice Landreville to get the 7,500 shares of stock involved in the case.

Farris subsequently was convicted of perjury in telling an Ontario government securities investigation in 1958 that he did not know of the disposition of a block of 14,000 NONG treasury shares from which the ones received by the Ontario mayors were distributed. He served five months in Ontario reformatory before being paroled.

SUNDAY

CPR Chief Emerson Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—R. A. Emerson, president of the CPR, died Sunday. Mr. Emerson, 54, had been president of the huge CPR organization since October, 1964.

His death was announced by a CPR spokesman who said it occurred Sunday while his wife was away. His body was discovered today.

There was no immediate announcement of the cause of death.

JOINED CPR IN 1928

Mr. Emerson, a native of Plum Coulee, Man., first joined the CPR on summer employment as a rodman at Kenora, Ont., in 1928.

He was a vice-president and director of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. from 1958 until his appointment as president.

He succeeded N. R. Crump as president. Mr. Crump retained his position as chairman of the CPR's board.

At the time of his appointment, Mr. Emerson said the move was designed to "broaden the work-load" among the company's top men.

After starting as a rodman, Mr. Emerson became an inspector in 1929, a transit man in 1930 and a demonstrator at the University of Manitoba in 1931.

VARIED CAREER

From 1931 to 1933 he was a locating engineer in the Ontarion department of northern development and was a transit man on CPR in British Columbia and Saskatchewan from 1935-39.

He was roadmaster of Manitoba district from 1939-41 and division engineer at Brandon, Man., and Moose Jaw, Sask., from 1941-44.

He then became assistant district engineer, Vancouver, 1944-46; district engineer Vancouver 1946-48; engineer of tracks, Montreal, 1948-50 and assistant chief engineer, Montreal, 1950-51.

He served as chief engineer, Montreal, from 1951 to 1955 and became vice-president of operations and maintenance in May, 1955.

He was elected vice-president of CPR in Oct. 14, 1958, and was elected president of the company and appointed chief operating officer Oct. 13, 1964.

Mr. Emerson held directorships with Canadian Pacific Airways Ltd., Canadian Pacific Investments Ltd., Canadian Pacific Oil and Gas Ltd., Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Co., The Soo Line Railroad Co., The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd., Canadian Marconi, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada and other companies.

He was educated at public and high schools in Plum Coulee and Morden, Man., and attended the University of Manitoba where he graduated with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering. He received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Manitoba in May, 1962.

He attended Yale University 1933-34 when he took postgraduate studies in transportation under the Strathcona Memorial Fellowship.

He is survived by his wife, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram H. Emerson of Victoria, and a sister, Mrs. R. F. Bruce of Camberley, Surrey, England.

His family had a long tradition of railroad service.

His grandfather, the late Robert Emerson, ran a wood-burning locomotive in Canadian Pacific's early days at Winnipeg and his father, retired from Canadian Pacific service in 1947 as agent at Bird's Hill, Man., after a long career in the Manitoba district.

Mr. Emerson's mother, Jennie, also worked for the company for 20 years as assistant agent at Plum Coulee.

A funeral service for Mr. Emerson will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. EST at St. George's Anglican Church.

DIVORCE LAWS

Royal Commission Is the Only Answer

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Over the years a good many words have been written and equally as many voices have been raised in efforts to have Canada's divorce laws changed or amended.

Forbes

Men and women in public life have expressed their opinions. Many organizations, including the Canadian Bar Association, have advocated changes both in law and practice.

Special committees set up in the House of Commons and Senate have emphasized the need for reform and have asked for amendments to the law.

Delaying tactics in regard to bills of divorce have directed public opinion to some of the problems. Press reports pointing to manufactured evidence and collusion have turned the spotlight on frauds perpetuated against Parliament and the courts.

* * *

Trouble is that although many individuals and groups want the laws changed, there is no agreement on what the changes should be.

This leads thinking men and women to believe that divorce reform in Canada will be difficult to bring about unless the matter is dealt with on a non-political basis and the major political parties agree not to make such reforms a political issue.

Some men and women go so far as to say that greater pressure should be put on the political parties to work out these reforms.

Canadian conditions of life and Canadian attitudes have changed considerably in the past 40 years, yet the laws that govern divorce have remained unchanged.

* * *

You'll find grounds for the dissolution of marriage in the Federal Marriage and Divorce Act of 1925 and in the statutes of some provinces. The Federal Divorce Jurisdiction Act of 1930 regulates the residence of the wife for the purpose of bringing suit for divorce.

This matter of residence has created great hardship for many women.

By Canadian law, an action for divorce must be brought in the province where the husband is living at the time of such action. Ordinarily, the wife's domicile (or permanent residence) is the same as the husband's. But, if a husband and wife are separated and the wife wishes to obtain a divorce in the province where she is living, she cannot establish an independent domicile in order to do so, unless she has been deserted for a period of two years or more

* * *

The wait of two years causes endless trouble. Witnesses required to prove the wife's case may have died or, for some reason or another, may be unavailable. If the wife has moved to another province during the two year period, she must go to the expense of bringing action in the courts of the province where she was deserted or in the courts of the provice where her husband is living at the time she brings action.

Then it must be proved, by the court at the time of the divorce action, where the husband was living at the time of desertion, which could mean that action might have to be commenced in another province. All this entails heavy expense and many delays.

Certainly then, one needed reform is in this section of the Divorce Jurisdiction Act.

Last month, the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, requested the Canadian government to establish a royal commission to investigate and report on the laws in Canada affecting the dissolution of marriage and to recommend changes that could then be considered and acted upon by Parliament.

* * *

In making the request, the federation recalled valuable results derived in the past from the recommendations of royal commissions and such committees of inquiry, including the Archambault report on the penal system of Canada and the Fauteux report dealing with the parole of prisoners and their after care — both of which brought many reforms in their train.

A royal commission might be the answer

At least it would alert the Canadian people, through public hearings across the country, submissions from parties concerned and reports in the press, to the evils of the present situation and provide an objective and non-partisan basis for amending the laws.

And, certainly, it would recommend clarification and amendments to bring these laws into conformity with the realities of Canadian life.

Distinguished Educator To Address ESU Luncheon

One of England's most distinguished educationists will address a luncheon meeting of the English Speaking Union, Victoria branch, in the Empress Hotel ballroom Wednesday, March 23.

Donald Lindsay, who is headmaster of Malvern College, Worcestershire, is touring North America as the result of being awarded the 1966 John Winant Lecture Fellowship by British American Associates.

The fellowship honors the memory of John Winant, United States wartime ambassador to Britain. British American Associates is a London-based group headed by Lord Ismay, Sir Gerald Campbell, former British high commissioner to Canada, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Mr. Lindsay, a graduate of Trinity College, Oxford, has had a wide experience of teaching in state-supported and private schools and as lecturer at Bristol University.

Members of the Royal Commonwealth Society and leading local educationists, have been invited to attend the ESU luncheon.

More Air Aid Needed

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuters)—Lack of adequate navigation aids or approved approach facilities are to blame for the increased number of crashes when planes are landing, an official of the International Federation of Airline Pilots' Association said last week. Capt. J. M. Bartelski, deputy president, said it has been reported 80 per cent of the accidents during approach and landing occurred at or near airports equipped with marginal navigational aids.

Miners Battle Law

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Copper miners armed with pistols, knives, clubs and stones battled troops at the U.S.-owned Salvador mine Friday in an outburst of rioting in which at least seven persons were reported killed. Twenty-five persons were injured.

Mounties Expand Pr. George Force

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Ten more RCM P officers will be added to the police force here by Sept. 1 despite a city council proposal that the increase come over an extended period.

The decision was made this week following a meeting with Assistant RCMP Commissioner A. S. Spalding of Victoria. The police said the extra men were needed and it was not their policy to police an area without adequate strength.

HOME GARDEN

No Dull Moments Until Fifth Season

By HILDA BEASTALL

Gardening by salt water presents more problems than almost any other situation.

Not only must our plants withstand winds of gale force at almost any season on this coast, but they are exposed to salt deposited by the winds and to searing frosts about one year in five.

Any list of shrubs and trees deemed suitable should be tried out on an experimental basis before being given full confidence.

Hilda

Shelter belts of material known to withstand salt, frost, and wind can be planted as a beginning if one intends to try growing a wide range of plants in the garden.

This treatment somehow defeats the feeling of wild shoreline beauty, and many owners wish merely to grow whatever the elements will permit without attempting many of the borderline types.

NOT SO MUCH FROST

As a general rule, gardens by the sea are less often subjected to frost than those further inland, so that four years out of five there need be no dull moments in the flower garden.

It is however, the fifth year that we must consider when planting, for in this area the occasional low temperature will strike even by the sea.

Austrian-pine, Pinus nigra austriacus, is one of the longer needled pines which thrives under such conditions, as does the mugho pine, Pinus mugo.

The lovely cloudy pink tamarix is quite dependable if it is kept bushy from youth by annual pruning.

Scented yellow Spanish-broom Spartium junceum, will survive all but the temperatures near zero, as will several of the useful ascallonias with evergreen foliage and rosy-pink summer bloom.

GREY FOLIAGE

Shrubs with grey foliage uaually prove satisfactory in salty, wind-swept gardens, and fortunately there are many.

Rosemary and lavender need wind filtering if it comes from the northeast in winter with a low temperature, but the Jerusalem-sage, Phlomis fruticosa, has survived a low of 7 degrees F. here without more than losing some of its winter leaves.

Senecio laxifolius, Santolina chamaecyparissus (Lavender-cotton) both grey-leaved with yellow flowers, and Hebe pagei, grey-leaved with white blossoms, are three dependable additions, while some of the sticky leaved cistuses will withstand frost down to around 10 degrees F.

Gummy leaves such as those of cistus, and small leaves as those of brooms can be counted on to endure salt winds.

In addition, many summer-flowering shrubs which lose their leaves in winter will be dependable enough in seaside gardens when a few of the denser evergreen types have been established as windbreaks.

After the Blonde, a Dozen Buoys

ALL SET to go. Club members, suitably attired, jump on their inner tubes for the trip downstream.

Seven miles and two hours later, they reached their destination—and hope they proved their point.

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN — It was like a James Bond movie.

A slim blonde in a from-hugging scuba diving suit slid into the Cowichan River.

Behind her, a dozen rubber-clad men shot downstream in black inner tubes.

Members of Cowichan Water Buoys were putting on a stunt to attract publicity.

The cold of Sunday morning didn't deter them.

●

Starting from White Bridge, Duncan, they made the two-hour water trip to Cowichan Bay seven miles away.

Glen Mackie said the year-old club wants to attract new members.

The excitement of shooting down river in a scuba suit was an invitation to the real sport of underwater swimming.

Glen siad: "Scuba diving is too dangerous a sport for anyone just to play around with it.

●

"We have members who could show newcomers the basics. If they take to the water like buoys they could then take the advance course available in Victoria."

Glen is hoping to take an instructors' course this summer. Along with Dale Plunet, Don Aikenhead and Bob Wiebe, he launched the Cowichan Club.

The club has three girl members, Laurie Anderson, Cheryl Aikenhead and Mrs. Linda Sampson.

●

Glen said it takes a minimum of $200 for anyone to equip himself as a beginner. Equipment includes wet suit, compressed air tank, fin, mask and snorkel.

About the trip down river, blonde Laurie Anderson said: "We had no catastrophes. But we did lose two inner tubes which shot through the fisheries department minnow machine."

TAKING A BREATHER at journey's end is attractive blonde Laurie Anderson, one of three girls who made the trip.

GREEK FREIGHTER IN TOW

Sudbury Making Headway

The Victoria-based tug Sudbury II was 50 miles west of Victoria at press time with a crippled Greek freighter in tow.

The Sudbury dashed to the aid of the 9,000-ton Lefkipos Saturday afternoon after the Vancouver-bound freighter radioed her engines had broken down.

It was Sunday before a towline was secured and the two ships began the 48-hour journey to Vancouver.

They are expected to arrive Tuesday morning.

The Lefkipos was coming from Japan with a cargo of cans when she got into difficulties.

Until the Sudbury arrived on the scene, there were fears the vessel might drift on to the rocky coast off Tofino.

The ship's agents said there were apparently no injuries. She will be repaired in Vancouver.

Legion Official To Visit Hospital

Go for action in the Austin 1100

The Austin 1100 photographed at high speed on a ploughed field near Barrie, Ontario.

Punishing 8-inch ruts, wheels a blur. You wonder...how does the Austin 1100 ride so level?

Read how the Austin 1100's revolutionary Hydrolastic suspension can give you a ride as smooth and comfortable as cars costing three times the price.

Suppose you took your car at high speed across a freshly ploughed field. You'd feel every jolt. Every rut. And chances are, you'd lose control of the car. But take the same field in the Austin 1100, and it just isn't the same field. No jarring bumps. No bucking and heaving. No problem.

That's BMC's revolutionary Hydrolastic suspension at work. It actually floats you over the bumps and ruts on a cushion of fluid. Teamed with front-wheel drive, Hydrolastic suspension can take the Austin 1100 through the toughest driving conditions you'll ever meet—safely, surely, smoothly.

One more thing. There are no springs or shock absorbers in the Austin 1100—nothing to break down or replace. So you'll enjoy the Austin 1100's incredibly smooth ride completely carefree for the life of the car.

See your BMC dealer for a demonstration. When you've driven the Austin 1100, you'll agree . . . nobody puts more into car-making than BMC.

Johnny Longden urges George Royal (10) around stretch turn to battle Plaque (5) for lead.

John's Hand-Riding Was the Difference

SPORTS

DOUG PEDEN
Sports Editor

JUST LIKE MOVIES

ARCADIA, Calif.—As spectacular as his 40-year racing career has been, Johnny Longden couldn't have picked a more dramatic way to wind it up than in winning the $125,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap Saturday.

The sentimental favorite to take the eighth and feature race of the day, his mount, Vancouver - owned George Royal, was only the fourth mutuel choice at 6½-to-1. The two had won the event together the previous year.

Nonetheless, with 60,000 trackside fans screaming their approval and disbelief, John and George held on against a determined drive by Plaque to cross under the wire a bare nose in front.

★ ★ ★

One of the jockeys remarked after the race:

"How about that old guy? I feel like I won it myself."

Winner of a record 6,032 races in his career, the 59-year-old British-born but Alberta-raised rider now becomes a trainer for Frank McMahon of Calgary.

In the race, favored Hill Rise was fourth behind Tom Cat.

Plaque, incidentally, was a surprise to Longden. An hour after the race he inquired who was second — this, after the nose win.

★ ★ ★

"Gee," confessed John, "She wouldn't give up."

John joined in the laughter when advised that Plaque was a he, not a she.

The San Juan was Longden's second win of the afternoon. After winning the fourth, Longden told of a message on the jockey room bulletin board.

"John, you are only 969 wins from 7,000. Do you really think you'll quit?"

Longden rightly guessed the author. Bill Shoemaker.

★ ★ ★

Of the race John said: "This was a race of races, the public was so enthused. I thought I'd done a good job."

For the record, Longden picks the 34-year-old Shoemaker to eventually break his record. The Shoe has 5,340, or 692 wins to catch up.

"Catch him?" sparred The Shoe. "I just hope I live as long."

Batting King Ends Holdout

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Tony Oliva, the American League batting champion the last two seasons, has ended a two-week holdout and signed his 1966 contract with Minnesota Twins.

President Calvin Griffith did not disclose terms, but Oliva is believed to have signed for about $30,000.

By HAL MALONE

They said good-bye to Johnny Longden at Santa Anita today, 48 hours after the world's winningest jockey had ridden the race of his life in winning the $125,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap on the greatest B.C. bred ever, George Royal.

With 60,000 potential heart-attack victims screaming encouragement, Longden and George Royal nosed out Plaque and Bobby Ussery in a sizzling stretch drive.

This was Longden's last ride, "win, lose or draw" he had said before the race, and it had to rank as one of his finest.

"I thought for a minute we had lost it in the last jump," co-owner Bobby Hall told the Times Sunday.

"All through the stretch George and Plaque traded the lead. I was a few feet past the wire and I thought 'Oh, no! We lost.' They took an awful long time looking at the picture. But we had it by the shortest nose."

Hall said Longden's decision to hand-ride George from the eighth pole to the tape made the difference.

"John had been hitting George pretty good until then," Hall said. "But he put the whip away and George seemed to run even better without it."

Hall said the winner's circle was pure pandemonium.

"There was a traffic jam of photographers, all hollering at John. Hazel (Mrs. Longden) was crying and laughing. Ernie (Hammond, co-owner of George Royal) was jumping up and down. Everybody was talking at once. I don't think we were too coherent. All I know is that this gave us more of a charge than any race George has run.

Everything in the Race Could Run

"This was one of the toughest fields he had ever met. Everything in there could run.

"I was afraid of Tom Cat (who finished third) when I saw him flying in the middle of the track. Then I wondered if Plaque was ever going to quit. I shook a little until they hung our number up."

Hall said George Royal will ship out of Santa Anita Tuesday for Aldergrove.

"We'll give him a long rest and then get him ready for New York. They run on the turf at Aqueduct, you know. I plan to enter him in the United Nations Handicap and if all goes well maybe we'll be invited to run in the International next fall at Laurel."

George Royal ran fourth in last year's International. He finished a length and a half behind the winner Diatome of France.

Donnie Richardson, George Royal's trainer, told the Times the B.C. horse seemed to "suddenly get better about 10 days ago."

"He wasn't kicking the stall down or anything," Richardson said. "He's not that kind. I don't really know how I knew he was coming back to himself. I guess I've just been so close to him the last seven months I can see a change in him better than anyone.

"I wasn't worried about Saturday's race. I knew George would run big and if they beat him, they beat him."

Told that B.C. bettors went overboard for George, Richardson said: "Well, they must have known something I didn't."

Canadian Championship Was Harder

He said the win price on George Royal—$15—"was reasonable if you looked at his form."

"Most of those horses had been running well and George hodn't. But actually his race in the Santa Anita Handicap wasn't as bad as it looked. He was only beaten six lengths and he hit traffic all through the stretch."

Richardson said the San Juan wasn't as hard a race for George as the $60,000 Canadian championship he won at Woodbine last autumn.

"The course was soft at Woodbine. The race was only a mile and five-eighths but in that going it was like running two miles."

Max Bell, of Calgary, long an associate with Longden in racing ventures, found himself almost without words after the excitement of John's final race.

"I think you can say I am gratefully delighted. There just doesn't seem to be anything more to say."

Bell is chairman of FP Publications and owner of many top racing thoroughbreds.

Richardson said he plans to take a few days rest before returning to his home at Ladner.

He will drive home alone. But he'll be bringing plenty of memories with him.

CANADIANS, RUSSIANS SPLIT ALL-STAR BERTHS

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (CP) — Three Canadians and three Russians make up the world hockey championship all-star team.

Seth Martin, 32, the veteran Canadian goalkeeper from Trail, B.C., was the unanimous choice of 256 European and North American journalists as the tournament's best goalie.

Gary Begg, 24, of Winnipeg and Russian Aleksander Ragulin, 24, were picked as the defence stars.

Fran Huck, 20, a Regina star regarded as a hot prospect by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, is the choice for centre.

STORY-BOOK ENDING to great career arrives at Santa Anita as Longden receives winner's trophy after riding 6,032nd winner in his final race. (AP Wirephoto.)

Hull Fires No. 52, Hawks Close Gap

Game Delayed Eight Minutes On Tie-Breaker

CANADIAN PRESS

League-leading Montreal Canadiens lost their second game in three starts Sunday night and Chicago Black Hawks, led by record-breaker Bobby Hull, began closing the gap again.

Hull cracked the National Hockey League's season scoring mark with his 51st goal Saturday night as the Hawks defeated New York Rangers 4-2.

New York led 2-0 at the end of the first period. In the opening minutes of the second period, Chico Maki scored one and at 5:34 Hull brought the game to a halt for eight minutes with his goal. The screaming crowd littered the ice and photographers had a field day.

Goals for New York were by Don Marshall and Billy Hicke. Other Chicago goals were scored by Doug Mohns and Maki who got his second of the night.

In Chicago Sunday night Hull scored his 52nd goal at 11:58 of the second period as the Hawks downed Toronto Maple Leafs 5-1. There was no scoring in the first period and Hull's opening goal was cancelled by Bob Pulford early in the third period. Bill Hay picked up two Chicago goals while Stan Mikita and Phil Esposito added singles.

Gamble Riddled

It was the first defeat for substitute goal Bruce Gamble of the Maple Leafs who has given his team a tie and five straight wins including four shutouts in his six games in the NHL. He was peppered with 37 shots Sunday night to 29 shots on Glenn Hall by Toronto.

Hull's 52 goals now put him two over the previous record of 50 goals held jointly by former Montreal players Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion.

Sunday's win gave the Hawks 75 points, only one less than Montreal Canadiens who picked up only one win in a week. Toronto is third with 69 points and Detroit Red Wings, who snapped an eight-game losing streak Sunday, are fourth with 64 points. New York has 46 points and Boston Bruins 38.

The big 8-4 win for Detroit over Boston Sunday came with the help of two third-period goals by Andy Bathgate who also ended a bad slump. It was his first scoring in 37 NHL games.

Boston goals were by John McKenzie, who got two, Ronald Schock, and Ron Stewart.

Alex Delvecchio picked up two goals for the Wings in the first period and Floyd Smith, Ron Fonteyne, Al McDonald and Dean Prentice got the other goals.

Two for Roberts

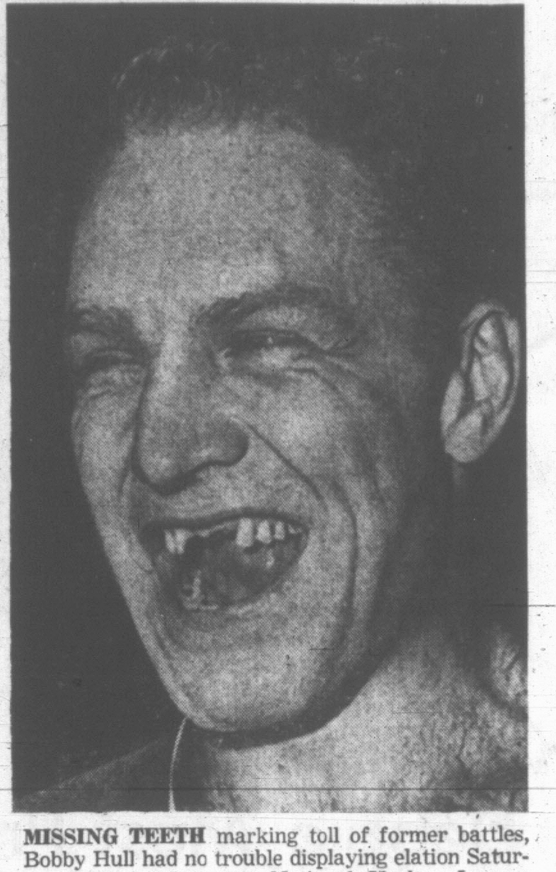
Montreal's only win of the week was a 4-1 victory over the Wings Saturday night. Jim Roberts scored twice within 48 seconds in the third period to break a 1-1 tie. Gilles Tremblay and Claude Provost got the other Montreal markers.

The Detroit goal was picked up by Norm Ullman.

In the other game Saturday night, Gamble got his fourth shutout for the Leafs by beating Boston Bruins 6-0. Eddie Shack fired two goals for the Leafs in the second period. Singles were scored by Bob Pulford, Marcel Pronovost, Frank Mahovlich and George Armstrong.

Nw York Rangers upset the Canadiens 3-2 Sunday night on Don Marshall's 24th goal of the season.

On Wednesday night, Montreal will be at Toronto, Boston at New York and Detroit at Chicago.



MISSING TEETH marking toll of former battles, Bobby Hull had no trouble displaying elation Saturday after setting new National Hockey League scoring record of 51 goals in one season. Hull collected his 52nd Sunday night. (AP Wirephoto.)

Leafs Succumb To Providence On Fluke Goal

(Special to the Times)

PROVIDENCE—The hands of Providence Sunday took a smart slap at the Victoria Maple Leafs.

But though they seemed the more deserving team, the Western Hockey League's Leafs finally lost an interlocking decision to an American League entry.

Providence Reds turned the tablets on Victoria, 4-3 in overtime, with a pair of "shouldn't-have-been" goals 51 seconds apart Sunday.

It was a heart-breaking loss for Leafs, who appeared the sharper of the two clubs in an effort to make it seven straight victories over the AHL. The Leafs had opened their six-game swing Saturday night with a 2-1 overtime victory over Pittsburgh Hornets.

But Providence wouldn't smile for the Leafs Sunday.

The Reds scored their tying goal with only 33 seconds left in regulation time after pulling goaltender Marcel Paille. Then veteran centre Willie Marshall golfed in the winner 18 seconds after the start of overtime.

BEST GOLF SWING

"That was one game I thought we really deserved," said manager Buck Houle. "Henderson (goaltender John) got a piece of both the tying and winning goals, but just wasn't able to hold on."

But neither Houle nor coach Frank Mario faulted Henderson, who has been one of Victoria's standouts in the three games played since joining the Leaf team.

If the truth must be known, Marshall was fortunate indeed to come up with the winner. Pete Goegan dumped a bouncing puck into the Victoria zone from the faceoff in overtime. Marshall, racing in from a wing, went after the puck with his best golf swing.

Marshall happened to catch it just right, and Victoria's mastery over the AHL finally came to a halt.

KABEL HAD PAIR

Bob Kabel, who joined the Reds only last month, also figured prominently in the Providence victory. Kabel scored Reds' second and third goals.

Leafs, who led 2-0 after the first period and 2-1 after the second, got goals from Bob Barlow (his 33rd), Gordie Redahl and Lou Jankowski (his 28th).

Long John Sleaver was the Victoria hero Saturday night in Pittsburgh. Sleaver's 16th of the year turned out to be his first game-winner.

Winger Andy Hebenton counted his 26th goal to give Leafs a 1-0 lead late in the second period. Murray Hall matched that for Pittsburgh when his passout from a corner appeared to deflect in off defenceman Aut Erickson.

Saturday's standouts were goalies Henderson and George Gardner. They stole the show in a speedy, exciting game.

Two Narrow Victories Boost Portland Lead

(Times News Service)

Portland Buckaroos put two narrow victories back to back during the weekend to stretch their Western Hocky League lead to five points over Victoria Maple Leafs.

Bucks nipped stubborn Seattle Totems 4-3 Saturday and followed it up with a 5-4 victory over San Francisco Seals in a two-game stand that lured 15,617 customers to Portland's ice palace.

Bill Saunders rapped in Portland's winning goal with only 87 seconds remaining in regulation time Sunday after Seals had come from behind three times to tie the game.

Vancouver Canucks strengthened their grip on third place with a 5-2 victory over the Totems, slowly sinking out of contention for the show spot.

Canucks played to a 3-3 overtime tie with Los Angeles Blades in the weekend's other game.

It was a most profitable weekend for Vancouver centre Billy McNeill. The league's leading point-getter, McNeill figured in five of Canuck's eight goals to boost his point total to 89.

Crothers Races To 1:50 Finish

WINNIPEG (CP)—Bill Crothers, the pharmacist from the East York Track Club in Toronto, ran his fastest 880 yards indoors Saturday to win an invitational race at the Red River High School relays.

With three opponents setting a brutal pace—the first quarter mile was covered in 54 seconds—Crothers broke the tape in 1:50.

TROUNCE CZECHS 7-1 . . . . . . CANADA FINISHES THIRD

Russians Restore Super-Team Legend

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (CP) — The legend of the Russian super-team came back to life Sunday when the Russians trounced Czechoslovakia 7-1 to retain the world amateur hockey title.

Canada defeated Sweden 4-2 in its last game to take third place, behind runner-up Czechoslovakia.

The Russians had looked good, but far from invincible, against the other teams in the so-called big four, fighting Sweden to a 3-3 tie and beating Canada 3-0.

The Czechs were stunned by three Russian goals in the first five minutes of the game. It was all over before they could even locate the Russian nets.

Canada showed plenty of enthusiasm and spirit in rallying to beat Sweden 4-2 after the Swedes had gone ahead 1-0 in the first period. The Canadian goals were scored by Roger Bourbonnais of Riviere Qui Barre, Alta.; Marshall Johnston of Birch Hills, Sask.; Gary Begg of Winnipeg, and playing-coach Jackie McLeod of Swift Current, Sask.

And for a change, Canada's opponents had some gripes against the referees. Lars Nilsson of Sweden got a major penalty in the second period and while he was off, the Canadians scored twice to break a 1-1 tie.

Nilsson got the penalty for cutting Canada's Lorne Davis with his stick. Swedish coach Arne Stromberg called the penalty "an injustice" because, he said, the injury was accidental.

The Russian dressing room was a bedlam of jubilation after the final game. Soviet coach Anatoly Tarasov said: "I am proud of this team because they are champions, but most of all because they are good Russian boys playing a Russian style of hockey.

"The Canadian professionals have said they could beat any European team by 20 or 30 goals," Tarasov said. "We say let them come, and we shall see."

The Russians, world champions since 1963, led the eight-country championship group with six victories and one tie in seven games. In the last four years, they have dropped only one game in these championship tournaments, a 2-1 defeat by Sweden in 1963.

Garner Can't Hold Tears As Totems Capture Crown

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES)

VANCOUVER—There were only 15 seconds left on the clock and the air over the bench of the Victoria High Totems was filled with electricity.

All but two of the team members at the bench were leaping up and down, shouting and slapping one another.

Bill Garner sat there, still and solemn, as if he was unconcerned. Huddled next to him was Barry Chow, bundled in a heavy overcoat, toque and scarf.

"Silly darn fool, I am," Garner said after his Totems had defeated Oak Bay 37-33 for the B.C. High School basketball championship, "I just couldn't hold the tears back."

It had been Garner's last game as a coach, and he went out in grand style.

"That was a great team effort," he said later, reflectively dragging on a cigarette. "It was great."

No one was about to dispute Garner's statement.

The Totems, in capturing the title for the third time in the tourney's 21-year history, were player-for-player easily four points better than the Bays.

"We didn't do anything different against them," said Garner. "We ran exactly the same stuff we've used against them all season." The 1965 B.C. champion Bays had beaten the Totems three out of four times over the season.

The one significant thing the Totems did do differently than the Bays, though, tells the whole tale of the game. The Totems shot up to par and the Bays bogied their way around the basket.

Vic High shot a creditable 14 for 33 from the field while the Bays, forcing their shots after an ice-cold start, managed only nine baskets in 42 attempts.

Glover Did a Job on Mr. Big

Then there was rangy Al Gover and gritty, raw-boned Ollie Moilanen, who made the first all-star team.

Glover drew the assignment of shadowing Oak Bay's Brian MacKenzie, who later was named the tourney's most valuable player.

To say that Glover did a fine job would be putting it mildly. He held Mr. Big to just two baskets before fouling out with 3:55 remaining.

MacKenzie, who was outstanding defensively, just couldn't find his golden touch. He even faltered on the free-throw line, where he set a tournament record with 29 fouls shots.

He missed four foul shots in the fourth quarter when the Bays were still within striking distance of the Totems.

SECOND ALL-STAR

Glover, chosen to the second all-star team along with teammate Drew Schroeder, also produced offensively, bagging 11 points.

Centre Moilanen was off form in the first half, which the Totems won 13-11, but he warmed up after the intermission. He finished with 10 points, despite his bad ankle which he aggravated early in the game and despite the fact he played the final 13 minutes with four fouls.

Guard Eric Walker and forward Rod Fields also were prominent in the victory, Walker scoring all his eight points in the second half and Fields playing a strong defensive game.

TOPPED SCORERS

MacKenzie finished the game with 13 points and the tournament with 71, tops among all players. The only other Oak Bay player who managed more than one basket Saturday was guard Gary Ford. He contributed 11 points in his best game of the tourney.

Totems won it by splurging with 19 points in the third quarter, eight more than Oak Bay.

The big burst came four minutes into the quarter when, with the score 19-18, Glover and Moilanen both scored two unanswered baskets to give Vic High a 27-19 margin.

BROKE BAYS' BACKS

"We just didn't shoot with them," Oak Bay coach Gary Taylor said, pointing at his team's shooting percentage.

"You won't win too many games in high school basketball if you can't score at least 10 points per quarter."

Garner, who is leaving basketball after coaching for 12 years to devote more time to his family, said he doesn't know who will handle the Totems next season.

He has shared the coaching duties the last two years with George (Porky) Andrews. "We'll find someone," said Andrews.

SALMON ARM RETAINS GIRLS' CHAMPIONSHIP

VANCOUVER (CP) — Salmon Arm defeated Penticton 27-20 in a see-saw battle Saturday night to retain the B.C. high school girls' basketball championship they first won last year.

Salmon Arm led 10-6 at the first quarter, 20-11 at halftime and 24-12 at three quarters.

Judy Douglas scored 12 points for Penticton to lead all scorers.

Salmon Arm reached the final by defeating Nanaimo 21-9, while Penticton slipped by Winston Churchill of Vancouver 29-27.

Long Birdie Putt Does It for Phil

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif., ran in a 40-foot putt for a birdie on the 71st hole Sunday and gained a one-stroke victory over Kermit Zarley and Jay Dolan in the $100,000 Doral Open golf tournament.

He finished with a 70 for a 72-hole, 10-under-par score of 278.

Victory was worth $20,000 and broke a two-year slump for the pudgy Californian, a tour sensation in 1963.

Zarley, a bundle of loose jointed arms, legs and icy nerves, rifled an iron shot to within eight feet of the pin on the final hole, but let the putt slip in one-half inch wide in an attempt for a birdie that would have tied him for the lead.

The Yakima, Wash., youngster, who led at one time late in the final round after holing an eagle and a birdie on consecutive holes, finished with a 71 for 279.

Dolan, from Leicester, Mass., also finished one stroke back with a 72 for 279.

George Knudson of Toronto Sunday carded 71 for a 288 tournament total and won $830. Bill Ezinicki, a Winnipeg native now a New England professional, also had a 71 for a 292 total and won $220.

Leading money-winners:
278—Rodgers ($20,000).
279—Dolan and Zarley ($9,750).
281—McGowan, Floyd, Pott, Beard and Palmer ($3,920).
282—Cupit, Snead, Devlin and Boros ($2,400).
283—Archer and Nicklaus ($1,850).
284—Dickinson, Crawford, Aaron and Marr ($1,400).

TEST CRICKET

New Zealand Leads by 179

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—(Reuters)—New Zealand gained a lead of 179 runs with four second-inning wickets left in the final here today.

Tuesday is the last day.

England, 181 for four at the close Saturday in reply to New Zealand's first-innings total of 296, collapsed and the side was all out for 222. New Zealand lost both opening batsmen before a run was scored when they batted a second time. At the close New Zealand was 105 for six wickets.

Grocers Topple Alberni

ALBERNI — Vancouver Grocers, led by guards John Kootnekoff and Vince Knight, turned back Alberni Athletics 71-59 Saturday to win the best-of-seven B.C. senior "A" men's basketball championship series in four straight games.

Grocers will now represent B.C. at the National tournament to be held in Winnipeg later this month. Alberni was the 1965 Canadian champion.

Alberni started fast Saturday, taking an early lead behind the sharp-shooting of Larry Lehtonen, but Vancouver slowly narrowed Alberni's edge to a slim 29-27 by the half. Grocers led 41-32 at three-quarter time and never looked back.

Knight was the game's high scorer with 21 points. Kootnekoff had 18.

Pontiacs Dropped From Playoff Hunt

Powell River Regals pushed Esquimalt's Pontiac Chiefs off the B.C. intermediate hockey playoff trail Saturday night.

Pacific Coast Amateur League champions, Regals defeated the Chiefs 7-2 at the Sports Centre to win the two-game, total-goal Island zone final 14-4.

Powell River now faces Coquitlam Lumber Kings in a best-of-three series for the Coast championship and the right to advance to the B.C. Coy Cup final.

B.C. Volleyball Title Captured by Vikings

University of Victoria Vikings captured the B.C. junior men's volleyball championship Saturday, winning four straight games in the round-robin provincial finals at the Gordon Head campus gym.

Vikings clinched the title with a crucial 15-13, 15-12 victory over UBC Thunderbirds. UBC finished second with a 3-1 record, followed by West Vancouver Spartans, 2-2, Victoria High, 1-3, and Milnes Landing, 0-4.

The top three squads—Vikings, UBC and West Van—all will travel to Calgary for the Western Canada championships on March 25.

Toronto To Keep Terry Sawchuk

TORONTO (CP) — John Anderson, secretary of Toronto Maple Leafs' manager-coach Punch Imlach, says Terry Sawchuk will not be sent to the minors.

"A newspaper started the rumor," Anderson said, "but Punch never said he would go to Tulsa or anywhere else."

STANDOUT last year with Oak Bay High, Bob Burrows was named Saturday to second all-star team in annual Washington State junior college basketball tournament. Burrows is first-stringer with Spokane University side.

Central Grabs Junior Honors

ALBERNI—Central completed a Victoria sweep of Vancouver Island school basketball championships Saturday by claiming the junior high boys' trophy with a 57-43 conquest of Alberni.

Oak Bay won the senior title and Victoria captured girls' honors earlier.

Key to Central's title hopes was a thrilling 42-39 semifinal victory over Oak Bay. The Bays had beaten Central in the lower Island final two weeks ago.

Alberni reached the final by squeezing past Esquimalt, 47-46.

BAYS PLACE THIRD

Oak Bay finished third by defeating Esquimalt 36-33 in overtime.

Rangy Barry Moen was Central's big point-getter in the final with 21 points while Rick Baldwin hit for 13.

ALBERNI — R. Sloan 2, B. Kilpatrick, L. Hetu 11, R. Krawetz 10, R. Horner, D. Heaslip, T. Oscarson 8, B. Travelbea, P. Forbes, R. Hines, K. Waugh 13. Total 43.

CENTRAL — B. Goldsmith, P. Mason, R. Baldwin 13, B. Moen 21, J. Bently, M. Beaullac, M. Chornoby, R. Skillings 17, T. Markakanen 3, R. Dswold 3, J. Vandejagt. Total 57.

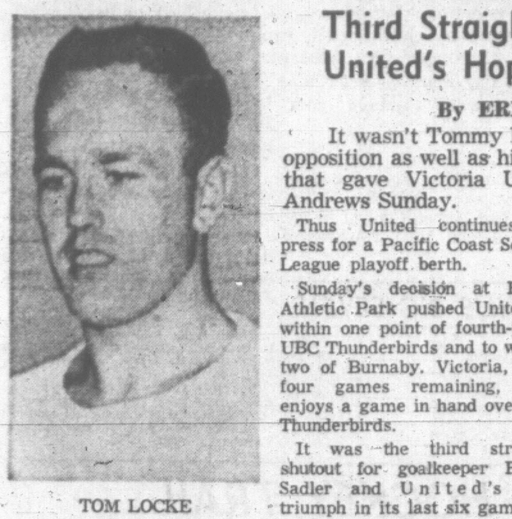
Not Locke's Spot But He Made Shot



TOM LOCKE

Third Straight Shutout Boosts United's Hope for Playoff Slot

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It wasn't Tommy Locke's spot, so he surprised the opposition as well as his own coach by scoring the goal that gave Victoria United a 1-0 victory over St. Andrews Sunday.

Thus United continues to press for a Pacific Coast Soccer League playoff berth.

Sunday's decision at Royal Athletic Park pushed United to within one point of fourth-place UBC Thunderbirds and to within two of Burnaby. Victoria, with four games remaining, also enjoys a game in hand over the Thunderbirds.

It was the third straight shutout for goalkeeper Barry Sadler and United's fifth triumph in its last six games.

But for Locke stepping "out of place," Sunday's listless affair before about 700 fans might have resulted in a scoreless draw.

Locke scored his winning goal from just outside the penalty area with about 11 minutes remaining in regulation time.

The play was set up when United's Bert Soutar stepped up to take a direct kick awarded by referee Jack Adams. Soutar simply tapped the ball over to Locke, who cracked a hard drive that somehow managed to sift through St. Andrew's 10-yard defensive line and catch the inside corner of the goal.

One of the most surprised persons in the park was United coach Frank Grealy.

"We've been practising that play for some time," said Grealy. "But Tom was having some trouble getting his shot away so at the last workout I sent Dave Stothard in to take the shot.

"I was surprised to see Locke move into that position."

FULLBACKS STRONG

The play of fullbacks Don MacIntosh and Tony Quinn gave United a strong defensive game but the Victoria offence showed only spasmodic effectiveness. United's front wall obviously missed the services of Ike MacKay and Jim Jamieson, both of whom came down with the flu earlier in the week and did not dress Sunday.

St. Andrews played the last 28 minutes with only 10 men. Adams sent St. Andrews fullback Jim Huszan off the field at the 62nd minute for rough play. Huszan got his walking papers after bringing Victoria's George Paul down with a hard tackle.

Burnaby leap-frogged into third Saturday after defeating UBC 3-2 on a late goal by fullback Ivo Katnich, his first of the season.

Neil McEachnie and Bob Metcalfe twice provided Burnaby with leads earlier in the match but UBC equalized on goals by Russ Hillman and Jim Berry.

FIREMEN WIN

In the weekend's only other game, played Sunday, Firefighters took a major stride towards clinching first place by nipping their main rivals, Columbus, 2-1. Close to 3,000 fans, the largest crowd of the season, watched the league's top two teams.

Jim Blundell gave Firemen an early lead but Bob Smith tied the score with the last kick of the first half.

Wing-halfback Don Boyd scored the winning goal at eight minutes of the second half with a weak shot that caught the entire Columbus defence off guard and barely trickled into the net.

GORGE STOPPED 4-1

Wests to Carry District's Colors

The youthful legs of Victoria West will represent the Victoria and District Soccer League in the Province Cup battles.

Wests advanced to the Island zone final Saturday by ringing up a convincing 4-1 victory over Gorge Molsons.

Ahead 3-0 at the half, the Royal Athletic Park clash was never in doubt.

Inside left Dave Evans spearheaded Wests with three goals while husky Doug Hill added the other.

Wests will play Naniamo in the Island final, scheduled for Royal Athletic Park next Saturday. Island winners advance into the 16s of the provincial playdowns.

In Sunday's league games, Esquimalt wrapped up the second division championship by nipping University Vikings 1-0 on a penalty kick by Phil Vandenburg, and Gorge tripped Sidney 4-2.

Dennis Somner paced Gorge's attack with three goals while playing-coach Larry DeCosta pushed in the other. Don Williamson counted both goals for Sidney.

Tide No Match For Tough Reps

VANCOUVER—Vancouver Reps broke out in the second half Saturday, defeated Victoria's Crimson Tide 24-6, and retained possession of senior rugby's coveted McKechnie Cup.

Saturday's story was almost a duplicate of last year's final.

Reps led 5-3 at the half, the exploded for four tries and a penalty goal in the second half.

Tom Brown, one of Tide's most effective players, and Mike Faull scored Victoria's tries.

Allan Wilcox, Jim Porter, Doug Sturrock, Dick Lazelle and Tim Cummings scored tries for Vancouver. Veteran Ted Hunt contributed the penalty goal and Barry Burnham was successful on three conversions to complete Reps' point total.

MEDAL GOLF

Trap Tops Final Round

Vaughan Trapp charged in with the only sub-par round but Ron MacLeod was an easy winner of the District Golf Committee's spring medal.

MacLeod started Sunday's third and final round, played at Victoria Golf Club, with a seven-stroke lead over Cowichan's Norm Boden. MacLeod finished the day with a 71 along with Gorge Vale's Art Donaldson.

Trapp, assistant pro at Oak Bay, captured the day's individual honors with a three-under-par 66. Doug Munro, Ricky Kent and Dave Fanthorpe followed him in with 70s.

Fanthorpe, 70-4—66, won low net honors.

University School Stops Lakers Twice

University School sides went two-for-three in Private Schools Rugby League games against Shawnigan Lake Saturday.

University's first and second teams won 9-3 and 19-9, respectively, while Shawnigan's only salvation was a 22-5 win by its junior team.

MINOR SOCCER

Gorge Squads Advance

Gorge Soccer Association teams picked up two minor championships Saturday.

Their division four team claimed its third straight Lower Island title by defeating Trafalgar Legion 3-1 in overtime.

A 4-3 decision over Sidney brought Gorge the division three championship.

In the only other Lower Island final played Saturday, Peninsula Flyers won the fifth division crown by downing Oak Bay Optimists 5-3.

All Lower Island champions move into provincial quarter-finals.

Vikings Lead Series

University of Victoria Vikings tripped Navy 11-5 Saturday to inherit a six-point lead in a two-game, total-point series for the Victoria Rugby Union's second division championship. The second game will be played next Saturday.

Pat Placed Well Up In Shooting Trials

Pat Burch of Victoria placed 14th as British Columbians made a strong showing in the first Canadian long-distance rifle shooting competition.

B.C. shots picked off 10 of the top 20 berths in the trials to determine selection of a Canadian team to compete against the U.S. at Camp Perry army base Aug. 20-30.

More than 100 Dominion marksmen competed.

Miss Burch finished with 214 out of a possible 300. She scored 73x100 from 800 yards, 71x100 from 900 and 70x100 from the 1,000-yard post.

Frank Anstett of Vancouver paced B.C. shooters with 219x300.

Other Victorians weren't too far off the top 20 placings. Scores included: Jack Roberts, 213; John Dolman, 212; Chuck Hobson, 212; Bob Walker, 211; Eric Andrese, 211, and Dave Fyvie, 211.

OFFICIALS WERE GEARED FOR 'YES' VOTE

UNPOPULAR SHIFT SYSTEM RULED OUT

Early Call for Tenders to Follow School Plan Victory

The spectre of shift systems in Greater Victoria schools evaporated Saturday with the passage of the school referendum.

District school superintendent John Gough today said the money vote will have an "immediate impact."

Four new schools will go to tender between now and June.

"It will also enable the board to turn to the purchase of six portable classroom units to be used this September in areas of greatest need.

"This will prevent any need for shifts."

Mr. Gough said during the three months just past, following defeat of the school building program last December, the board has worked at top speed preparing plans and specifications in anticipation of a voting day victory.

Working drawings are being placed before the provincial education department immediately for Reynolds Junior-Senior Secondary School and Rockheights Elementary School.

"We expect to call for tenders for both in late March. We hope the construction will start about a month later.

"We expect to call tenders for Newton Elementary School (also) in April and tenders for Christie Point Elementary-Junior Secondary, in about three months," said Mr. Gough.

The Reynolds Junior-Senior will be built on Reynolds Road at Borden and will relieve crowding at S. J. Willis and Lansdowne by serving the Lake Hill district.

Throughout this summer a program of construction of new science labs in existing classrooms gets under way and equipment will be purchased for biology and physics classes and libraries, to accommodate new courses in September.

The money voted Saturday will finance a three-year program which is now expected to be completed on schedule.

The referendum passed easily with a 77 per cent 'yes' vote but only 25 to 30 per cent of eligible voters cast ballots.

The 70 to 75 per cent who abstained or forgot must have included many of the voters who voted 'no' when the same question was put forward in December, and defeated by a narrow margin.

On that occasion, school board officials believe the referendum was adversely affected by a strong opposition to the existing municipal-provincial cost-sharing formula for schools and hospitals.

Opponents said they were not saying there wasn't a need for new schools. But they believed the municipalities should make a stand on the theory that provincial revenues (drawn largely from ability-to-pay taxes) should carry the bulk of the cost load.

They said that under the present system the lion's share of school costs (and hospital and welfare costs) are drawn from property owners through property taxes which do not reflect accurately an ability to pay.

The province has given short shrift to this argument and let it be known in the case of hospitals, that defeat of local fund-raising schemes could only mean delays in provision of necessary facilities.

In December the hospital vote failed and so did the school vote which was held simultaneously.

The school vote required a 60-per-cent majority. But it received only 54.53 in Victoria which outweighed Oak Bay's 60.69, Esquimalt's 62.69, Saanich's 61.42 and View Royal's 75.76.

In Saturday's vote Victoria voted 71.35 per cent yes, Oak Bay 72.16, Esquimalt 79.43, Saanich 61.42 and View Royal 90.30. There were 9,611 yes votes and 2,884 no votes.

6,800 In Smog Fight

Petition Presented Cabinet Committee

A petition signed by more than 6,800 Alberni Valley residents backed a brief demanding elimination of air pollution presented today to a special cabinet committee.

The brief was presented by Andy Bigg who headed a 10-man delegation representing the Alberni Valley Citizens' Committee on Pollution.

The brief demanded legislation to prohibit pollution and regulations establishing an independent research organization concentrating on pollution problems and financed by compulsory assessments on industry.

SHUT THEM DOWN

The independent body should be empowered to shut down industries during excessive pollution periods created particularly by such phenomena as "air inversion" which causes much of the smog problem in the Alberni Valley during winter months.

The brief criticized the present system under which the B.C. Research Council has been appointed to study pollution problems. It said the council inevitably would be biased in industry's favor because it depended on voluntary donations from industry for much of its present income.

'WHITEWASH'

"They sent Dr. Frank Murray up last week and he just stayed five hours," said Mr. Bigg in an interview.

"He couldn't do a good job in that short a time. It's just a whitewash."

Dr. Murray was dispatched to the Alberni Valley by the cabinet committee as its first action since being formed two weeks ago.

The cabinet members are Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell; Forests, Lands and Water Resources Minister Ray Williston, and Industrial Development, Trade and Commerce Minister Ralph Loffmark.

Saanich Asks City's Price For Gorge Park

Saanich today asked the city to set a firm price for Gorge Park so negotiations to buy it can commence.

"For years the Gorge has been neglected by the city," said Saanich Coun. Edward Lum, a representative on Victoria - Saanich Beaches and Parks Commitee and chairman of the municipal parks committee.

"We couldn't stand it anymore so we are proposing to buy it from the city."

Saanich submitted an $11,000 proposal to develop the nine-acre city-owned park last year but heard no more.

"It got bogged down in the city somewhere," said Coun. Lum.

"At the end of last year it was suggested that perhaps Saanich could purchase it but so far it has been up to the city what it wants for it.

"We're waiting for a price to purchase."

Centennial Co-ordinator To Be Chosen

The last round in the "Who runs the centennial program?" was scheduled for tonight at the regular meeting of the Greater Victoria Confederation Centennial Society.

The society will select one man from eight applicants as co-ordinator for the entire two-year program—which got under way last Friday.

The decision to hire an individual co-ordinator was made after the society ran into heavy criticism for hiring a United States producing firm to run the two-year show.

BOOSTERS of Victoria Spring Flower Festival, April 2 to 10, will wear these daffodil lapel badges, explains Gloria Binks of Chamber of Commerce staff. The event includes choosing of a festival queen, airplane and sailboat rallies, a car roadeo, a bike race, fashion show, ball, parade, art show and other attractions. Some of us of course, will welcome spring on a bench at Beacon Hill. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Conciliation Officer Ready For Builders

Conciliation officer George Carmichael will step into the carpenters - contractors dispute later this week.

His services were requested when talks broke down after two meetings in negotiations for a new province-wide contract for 7,500 carpenters and nearly 600 contractors.

He will meet the Provincial Council of Carpenters, representing 29 locals, and the construction industry joint negotiating committee, covering the contractors, together.

$3.49 HOURLY

The current contract providing a basic $3.49 an hour expires next month.

The carpenters are seeking a 35-hour week and an extra 30 cents an hour over two years with no loss in pay with the shorter week. This would add 50 cents.

The contractors offered 45 cents over three years and no change in the eight-hour day, 40-hour week.

Wall Collapse Hurts Workman

A construction worker received hip and back injuries when a retaining wall of logs collapsed and rolled over him shortly before noon today at 2830 Quesnel St.

Injured was Fidele Lessard, 50, of 2731 Quadra. Extent of his injuries were not known at press time.

DALLAS ROAD CLOSED DURING MORNING BLOW

Victoria's southern shores were battered by seas made angry with winds gusting to 50 m.p.h. early this morning.

The weather office reports an east-southeast wind blew to a peak of 50 m.p.h. shortly before 6 a.m.

It abated to 30 m.p.h. with gusts to 50 in the following two hours.

At 9 a.m. the wind, still east-southeast had subsided to 10 m.p.h.

A weather office spokesman said high tides and high winds make a bad combination for the Dallas Road section of Marine Drive.

The section along Ross Bay was barricaded because waves and driftwood were breaking over the pavement.

Hibernating Canine Caught By Gravel Pit Grizzly

By BILL CHATTERTON

Strange things have turned up from time to time in Butler Brothers' gravel pit on Keating Cross Road in Central Saanich.

The latest is a heavy chunk of sandstone bearing a remarkable resemblance to a dog's head.

ELEPHANT TUSK

About six years ago an elephant's tusk was unearthed at the pit and a knucklebone of unknown origin was also found.

Mr. Mollett said the sandstone dog head was found between 50 and 70 feet below the surface.

It was only by chance that it was found, he said.

Gravel is scooped up 15 yards at a time and dropped through the "grizzly" but the "dogstone" was slightly too big to go through and had to be cleared off along with other large stones. If it had slipped through it is unlikely it would have been found.

Thinking there may be more to it than meets the eye, Mr. Monych took the head to geologists in Victoria for a diagnosis. He was told it was only a freak.

Possibility of the stone being formed around the skull of a dog was also ruled out.

DOG'S NOSE

The stone has a perfectly shaped dog's nose, forehead and mouth, somewhat similar to a Dalmatian or an Irish Setter. The right side also has an "ear" in just the right position.

Mr. Mollet recalled earlier discoveries in the gravel pit.

He said Dr. Clifford Carl of the Provincial Museum came out to the pit when the tusk was found, and said it could have come from a hairy mammoth. Both the tusk and the knucklebone are now displayed at the museum.

There is a theory that this area was once the estuary of a river running from the B.C. Interior, and the items found in the gravel pit may have been washed hundreds of miles downstream.

It is also possible that the bones and unusual rocks were deposited here by glacial action.

Various bones, crude arrowheads and other bits from the past have been found in the pit over the years. Many more have probably been scooped out by the huge shovels and dumped unnoticed.

16-Year-Old Jailed Year For Series of Car Thefts

A youth who stole four cars in a month was sentenced in central court today to one year definite and one year indefinite.

Ronald G. McWilliams, 16, pleaded guilty to four counts of theft over $50.

He received a similar concurrent term for possession of housebreaking tools. He was convicted of that offence earlier this month.

All autos were recovered by police.

Magistrate William Ostler requested the youth be given "special attention" at Haney Correctional Institute.

Safecrackers Score In Weekend Forays

Church, Garage Among Victims

Weekend safecrackers continued to give city business a bad time Saturday and Sunday nights.

Cash and cheques totalling $1,500 was taken from Tyee Shell Service, 100 Esquimalt Road;

An undetermined amount of cash and liquor was stolen from the Pacific Club, 500 Fort, and

A safe containing $500 at the Christian Reform Church, 661 Agnes, resisted thieves who tried to blow it open.

SECOND WEEKEND

It was the second big weekend in a row for thieves who cracked safes at five city business March 5-6.

Loot taken from the service station was $670 cash and $826 in cheques.

The cheques and a deposit book were recovered on rocks behind the station by Sgt. Miller Bell of city police.

UNLOCKED

Police said the money was taken from a safe which was apparently left unlocked.

Police said the thief entered by throwing a rock through a rear window and climbing through.

A tire iron and hammer found in the shop were used to open the floor safe's "lid" or door. The dial was knocked off.

THREE QUESTIONED

Three youths were questioned by police Sunday afternoon but no arrests were made and investigation is continuing.

Station lessee Sam Rozendaal, told police he did not check the safe when he left the station Saturday night.

Theft was discovered by patrolling constables at 6:56 a.m. Sunday.

Acrobatics three storeys high were performed by yeggs who broke into the Pacific Club Sunday night.

THROUGH VENT

They stood on a fire escape railing to get on to the roof and then entered the building through an air vent.

Liquor cabinets on third and second floors were forced open and cash was taken from a cigarette machine.

Receipts of two barmen were taken from the manager's office after thieves forced the locked door. Loss is estimated under $100.

The burglars entered the church through an unlocked basement door and police believe they knew the location of the safe before they attempted the theft.

They tried to blow the safe open and also knocked the dial off. Saanich police are continuing to investigate.

Bombardment Plea Goes P-f-f-f-t

There were no signs this morning that Saanich residents were flocking to the colors raised by beleaguered John Tisdalle, Social Credit MLA fighting for retention of his present seat in the redistribution plan.

Mr. Tisdalle, who opposes the boundary changes that would shift the urban portions of Saanich into Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt constituencies while adding the Gulf Islands, appealed to Saanich voters to bombard Premier Bennett's office with petitions and telegrams at the weekend.

But an official in the premier's office this morning said "not a thing" had been received.

The Socred backbencher asked Saanich voters to demand that existing boundaries be retained and the Gulf Islands added but only as a two-MLA riding.

NEW NAME

The government redistribution bill proposes to end the present situation in which Saanich has 29,700 voters represented by a single MLA. The revised riding, renamed Saanich and the Islands, would have 18,800 voters represented by one MLA, comparable to most ridings.

But Mr. Tisdalle claimed the boundary shifts would "put Saanich out of balance with the rest of the province."

He said Saanich should be given two seats to offset the loss of one seat in Victoria so that Vancouver Island, as a whole, continued to have 10 seats in the legislature.

He said now was the time for Saanich voters to demand the dual-member riding while the government was in the process of modifying its redistribution bill to add one more seat to the Kootenay area.

School Tax Study Fumbled Says Alderman

Ald. Hugh Stephen feels a special committee established by the B.C. School Trustees Association went astray somewhere when it studied education financing.

"I would want to study their detailed report before commenting fully," Ald. Stephen said. "But from their summary it would appear they haven't really proven anything."

The committee, comprised of University of British Columbia Professor A. Wilton Moore, economist; Professor Philip H. White, assessment expert, and Arthur Guttman, general secretary of the trustees organization, said it could not "find support for the view that the weight of the property tax in British Columbia is excessive."

OPPOSITE VIEW

Ald. Stephen says the view of the B.C. committee is directly opposed to the views of the Urban Land Institute of America which recently concluded a similar study.

"They may well have made the mistake of comparing property taxes in the west with property taxes in the east," Ald. Stephen said. "I understand taxes are much higher in the east. But that doesn't prove anything really. It just means that the property tax situation is worse in the east than it is here."

Ald. Stephen said he found it difficult to believe that anyone could refuse to accept the fact that social services and education facilities are burgeoining to such an extent that it is impossible for the property tax to maintain them.

"I am not in favor of the withdrawal of municipalities from sharing school taxes," he said. "But I am in favor of determining where responsibility lies in social and education fields.

"Property taxes certainly are not fair these days. Take the simple example of the house-proud man who sinks all his money into his home. He pays for more in taxes, and therefore more towards education than the man who is content with a simpler home but sinks all his money in a boat or booze or on women."

Ald. Stephen added that it was strange that the trustees' committee is so much at variance with other groups.

"They say taxes are not excessive," he said. "But they do not say what excessive is. In my opinion the weight of taxes becomes excessive when it arrives at the point where it is not worth owning property, or, if we do own property, it is not worth improving. And I think we have just about arrived at that point now."

75 MILLS

Ald. Stephen said he had already forecast that if the present trend continues the Greater Victoria taxpayer will be facing a 75-mill levy by 1971.

"When that happens tax on property will hit the three per cent per annum on capital—and that's excessive," he said.

While stating that property taxes for school purposes are not too high in B.C. the trustees' special committee left the door open for a revised approach and opinion.

The study report stresses that a comprehensive evaluation and revision of the taxing statutes covering real property are long overdue.

"That is what we are asking for," said Ald. Stephen. "While present taxes may not yet be disastrous they will be in the near future unless a new formula is found."

Ask The Times

Q. What can you tell me about Cormorant Point and the lookout which stands there?—N.M.E.

A. The point is believed to have been named after the sloop HMS Cormorant which was stationed here from 1844-50. The lookout is actually a teahouse which was built around 1930, according to provincial archives.

Problems With Gifts? Solve Them in Sets

By Penny Saver

I have always been grateful to one of my relatives for starting me off on my silver collection. She did this by sending me a piece whenever an occasion for a gift arose. I think it was a fabulous idea. Once you have a few pieces, it is so easy to add a few more now and again, so that, in no time, you have a completed set. This idea is not new, of course, but it is very practical indeed. Other useful items that, given separately, will eventually constitute a set, can also be given in the same manner. (They are really handy for me, at the moment, as I am trying to find suitable "special occasion" gifts for my goddaughter.)

A set of dishes, for example, could be started this way. Some designed sets, however, do not remain in the spotlight for too long, and become outdated before there is a chance to complete it if you are doing it in this manner.

In one shop, I found a complete set that is actually the renaissance of the dishes that our grandmothers used. These are ideal for formal dinners. They are plain white, made of heavy china. Each piece is like an individual flower, as even the dishes have molded petals stemming from the centre. These petals are large on such pieces as plates, and smaller and more delicate on cups and saucers.

Because these are so heavy, they don't require the "kid glove" treatment. They can be washed in a dishwasher with no worries at all.

Cups and saucers are always good gift items. In this line, the two pieces sell for $1.85. Ideal gifts when compiling a set such as this are the "odd" pieces, rather than the basic necessities. A cake platter is one, selling for $3.25. Muffin covers are another, priced at $3.50. These sets are a wonderful thing to have on hand if extra guests drop in for tea and you don't have enough cups in your regular set.

Special occasions, anniversaries, weddings, showers, can be honored by the presentation of a five-piece place setting. This is a real buy for $9.25.

If you have been contributing to one of these collective gifts for some length of time, maybe up until the recipient's wedding day, you'll have no problem selecting a gift for that occasion. A tea set, consisting of 21 pieces, including a large teapot and hot water carafe, comes complete for $24.90.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Will Future Generations Have Any Need for Legs?

Someone said that future generations will probably be born without legs because we walk so little. It is true that we live in a push-button age and that the tendency is to jump in a car to go on an errand even a block or so away. This is partly due to habit and partly because of the rush of daily living.

Lowman

More and more folks today are becoming aware of the really serious importance of regular daily exercise in minimizing tension, avoiding heart attacks, overweight, early aging, and many other disagreeable conditions. Actually the older generations are more conscious of this than the younger ones. I know many men who now walk up and down the stairs in their office building rather than take the elevators and walk part way to work. Also there are many women who do their figure molding exercises daily.

Increasingly the younger ones have become spectators at sports events rather than participants, and have spent more time in cars and in front of TV sets than on tennis courts. There's one thing you must admit about the dance crazes such as the frug and the jerk. They build stamina!

Not long ago I was talking with Wendy Cram, the famous skier. He told me about a party he had gone to where there were both older and younger people. He said, "I think I am in fine physical condition, but I just couldn't have danced those dances for hours and hours like the kids did."

Of course the dances do not take the place of the habit of regular exercise. I am sure that I built stamina as a girl swimming, playing basketball and walking miles on crisp moonlit nights possum hunting.

It's refreshing to receive a letter from a teen-ager like the following one.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I am writing to tell you of my newly developed interest in daily exercise. I was always concerned about my weight. Now that's all changed. At the age of 16 I resolved to make exercise a part of my life. This is only the third week I have been exercising and already I feel great.

"I read in one of your recent columns a list of things that indicate you need exercise. Well, I checked myself and I was ashamed! My boy friend, who is a firm believer in physical fitness, encouraged me to exercise. Believe it or not, I now dislike cookies and cakes because he talks about how they are useless and fattening foods. I drink milk instead of coffee because I know that's good for me. Many things have changed since I started reading your column and listening to my boy friend."

I am sure that the boy friend had more influence than I, but between us, we have this young girl well-launched toward becoming a beautiful woman.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Make Your Choice!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the same lady who wrote to you some time back telling you my relationship with my husband was very one-sided. You said we should go see a marriage counselor. Well, I showed your reply to my husband and he said he was not going to any marriage counselor, and if I kept my big mouth shut we would get along just fine. How can a wife keep her mouth shut when her husband comes home from work with lipstick all over his shirt, and the smell of perfume so strong he could knock a person over? He tends bar nights, and I can't see how a bartender can get that close to women if he stays on his side of the bar, can you? I used to go sit at his bar to keep an eye on him, but they don't have television there and I hate to miss Johnny Carson. What else can you suggest besides seeing a marriage counselor?

ROMEO'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I think it's more important for you to watch your husband than it is to watch Johnny Carson. (You could tote a portable TV to the bar and do both!)

DEAR ABBY: This may not sound like a very big problem to you but it is big to me. I am 11 years old and my problem is my last name. The kids at school are always rhyming it with something very rude and dirty. They think it is funny, but it isn't funny to me. Should I just keep quiet, or should I try to think up some smart remarks to say back to them?

HATES MY NAME

DEAR HATES: If you're a girl, in due time some nice young man will come along and change it. So, until then, develop a "deaf" ear. If you're a boy, develop a good left hook.

DEAR ABBY: In your column I read: "Consider your mother. She is better off in a rest home than living with a daughter who doesn't want her." I would add, "And consider the daughter who knows better than her husband how she and her mother get along."

I am in a similar situation. My mother came to live with me 30 years ago. She is still here, but my husband is gone. After 25 years he had about as much of her as he could take. We are not divorced; he still supports me (and my mother), but he won't live here. My mother is nearly 90, and she'll probably outlive me. My husband thought my mother would look after our children, help with the cooking and running the house. Well, she did. She also ran everything else in my house. When a mother lives with you, you can't "send her to bed" when you have company. And if you hint before guests arrive that she shouldn't monopolize the conversation, she puts on her "nobody-loves-me, I might-as-well-be dead" face. For obvious reasons, this is—

UNSIGNED

DEAR ABBY: I realized soon after I married that it was a mistake, so we were divorced. Here's the problem: I helped pay for my wedding band. It happens to be a very beautiful and expensive one. I hate to leave it in the box where no one will see it, so I wear it on my right hand.

I don't feel sentimental about it, and it doesn't mean anything to me. It's just a piece of jewelry. My mother says I shouldn't wear it because the minute I meet a man he will know I was married before. I am not particularly proud that my marriage failed, but I am not going to try to hide it either. Do you see anything wrong in wearing my wedding band on my right hand?

NOT SENTIMENTAL

DEAR NOT: Most widows wear their wedding bands on their right hands. And most divorcees keep theirs out of sight. You are either consciously or unconsciously advertising the fact that you were once married. A wedding band, unlike other jewelry, is symbolic. I think your mother has a point.

TODAY'S RECIPE

FISH ALMONDAISE

One egg, ½ cup milk, salt, 4 slices white bread, 2 or 3 tablespoons butter, margarine or salad oil, 4 servings hot cooked fish, sliced tomatoes, ⅓ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup slivered almonds.

Beat egg with milk and ¼ teaspoon salt. Dip bread into egg mixture. Heat butter in skillet. Add bread; fry until golden, turning to brown both sides. Place in shallow pan; top each slice with fish. Cover with tomato slices; sprinkle with salt. Mix mayonnaise and almonds; spread generously on tomato slices. Broil until lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Makes 4 servings.

THE BETTER HALF — By Bob Barnes

7-14
1966, The Register and Tribune Syndicate

"We finally got the spots out of your husband's suit, but we had to use such a strong solution that it melted all the buttons."

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Guest Speaker—A senior girls' parliament was suggested as part of the answer to "How to make women take an interest in political affairs" by Mrs. Daryl Elford, Oak Bay Councillor, when she spoke at the recent meeting of the Oak Bay Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Muriel Campbell presided at the meet in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Also addressing the club was Alderman Lily Wilson, who described her own career. Plans were outlined by Miss Elizabeth Forbes for the BPW national convention being held here in July and noted that a tea will be held at Government House during the event. A one-minute silence was held in memory of former member Mrs. H. C. MacDonald, who lost her life in a recent air crash.

Centennial — Victoria Jayceeettes will donate $50 to the centennial project of a new Jaycee headquarters in Ottawa, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Victoria group at the Ingraham Hotel. An Easter cake donation for adults at the Elford Occupational Centre and Easter baskets for the pre-primary children there was moved by Mrs. J. Fraser. Mrs. D. Paulin moved $25 be donated for pictures for the centre's new building. Vice-president Mrs. D. Piket presided at the meeting when John Van Wees and John Halee spoke on the history of silver and porcelain, illustrating their talk with a display of several antiques.

Plans Finalized—At the recent meeting of the Victoria Unit of the National Association Parliamentarians, held in the Woodburn Avenue home of president, Mrs. H. L. Brigham, plans were finalized for a seminar to be held on April 17 in the Blue Room, 1303 Broad Street, from 1 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Ronald Thompson, registered parliamentarian of Seattle, will be guest speaker. A work meeting will be held at the home of the president to complete arrangements. Members present at the meeting were: Mrs. T. F. Howe, Mrs. J. J. Wiart, Mrs. P. A. Petersen, Mrs. W. A. Ludlow, Mrs. J. R. Pipes, Mrs. R. S. Butt, Mrs. Brigham and Miss Hattie Jewell. The next meeting will be held at the Forrester Street home of Mrs. J. J. Wiart on April 11.

SEW SIMPLE

Dear Eunice:

In most parts of the country winter is not even finished and I feel dowdy in my dark clothes. Why, oh why, do the stores push those light colors at this time of the year?

Mrs. V.T.

Dear Mrs. V.T.:

The top brass in the fashion industry always bring out the new season's clothes very much in advance of the season itself. This gives them a chance to see what is accepted by the public so that they may reorder in time for the majority of buyers. Most of the well-dressed women seem to push the seasons a little. Try it yourself sometime, it's kind of fun.

Be the first to wear your spring ensemble. The latest fabrics for spring are available and the pattern companies have worked ahead with patterns and exciting ideas. Think about pastels in almost any color for spring. White will be great again, as usual.

In travelling I find clothes today are not too seasonal anywhere; a jacket dress, or suit in a becoming color, in lightweight fabric can be worn almost all year around. Put some zip in your wardrobe for spring and be brave . . . Choose something colorful and unexpected.

"For years I have had the problem of a "fluctuating waistline" from year to year and from season to season. I was forever spending time altering skirts.

"I solved my problem by making my skirts with a waistband. Now I merely have to open the one seam to take it in or let it out. This works even better than with the new bandless skirts."

Mrs. Jean Sorenson has been awarded this week's Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

COLD SHOULDER

LONDON (CP) — Venison, once the pride of English cookery, no longer sells to modern British housewives, but German hausfraus can't get enough of it. The forestry commission sells several thousand dollars worth of deer meat every year to West Germany. A spokesman said he thought the need to keep venison until it "ripened" puts off modern homemakers.

Spring Style Trends Viewed at Show

FASHION UPS AND DOWNS

Fashion is a typical woman—she is always changing her mind.

At least, so it seemed Saturday afternoon, when the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Guild Groups held a fashion show and tea in the Kirk Hall. Hemlines were all over the place—above, below and about the knees, skimming the thighs and trimming the ankles. But all presented the look of today and those of the days to come and left the audience applauding in admiration.

Spring fashions presented were aiming for the "unrestricted" look of flattering the figure without trying to "hold in" or "pad out".

Coats modelled were swinging, moving freely and easily and colors were light and bright. One model moved among the tea tables in a soft white coat, fitted on top and curving slightly out toward the hemline. Powder blue provided the color highlight in the collar, trimming the opening, and peeping through the pockets and buttons.

GRANNY LOOK

Underneath, the pastel color was repeated in a dress, styled with a blue and white striped blouson top, a la granny, with its yoke-like neckline.

Spring burst forth in resplendant color in another outfit of brilliant tangerine, belted and featuring an easy kick-pleat at the back. Removing the coat, the model showed a dress designed for sheer figure flattery in the softness of wool. The off-white ensemble was belted at the empire waistline and accents were huge patch pockets at the hips.

Designed to beat the heat and refuse the cold was a rough-textured tweed, tailored topper, creamy in tone. Added interest came from the wide buttoned tabs over the slit pockets.

School or town wear for the teen-age set was personified in a smart brown suede outfit, featuring the longer Norfolk jacket, barely skimming the hips and covering a long turtleneck sweater in off-white tone.

Highlight of practical casual wear for the pre- and primary school group was worn by six-year-old Shirley Warren—in an outfit of red and white slacks, loose-fitting cardigan jacket and tight white turtle-neck sweater, the practical angle being its easy care.

Shirley Warren was the show-stopper in an Italian-knit suit for little girls "being grown up." The Chanel-type jacket had collar and cuffs of white to accent the blue body, and was banded with embroidery of white.

"Granny" came into view, too, in bright splashy sunshine prints, designed to be worn above the knees. Slim-fitting skirts, low-slung belts, full bodices and puffy sleeves, tight-fitting at the cuffs or in sections down the arm, were highlights of this fashion for the young.

PASTEL STOCKINGS

Many of the outfits for the young were complemented with white of pastel textured hose, to complement the "Mod" or total look of fashion.

Casual outfits were young like the season — bell-bottom pants with a "poor boy" sweater, or low-slung with a midriff-baring blouse.

Fashioned with the sun in mind was a pair of bell-bottomed trousers cut off at the knee, with crew-necked striped topper, both in blue

After-five and party wear showed hemlines both above and away below the knee.

One of the most exciting was a slinky, shapely outfit of black sun-flowers splashed on a white ground. A high slit up the back provided free and easy movement. The overblouse barely skimmed the waistline of the skirt and was simply styled with scoop neckline and no sleeves.

Delightful, too, was the long, full-skirted hostess or patio gown worn by another model. The skirt was a squared Spanish inspired print, featuring all the colors of the rainbow, quilted and extending to just about the hemline.

The top was a soft, avocado-green shirt, with low V-ed neckline and slightly cuffed three-quarter-length sleeves. Added interest was the tied waistband.

Mrs. Adele Lewis co-ordinated the show, which featured fashions from The Bay, and also commentated.

Opening the affair, which realized the sum of $325, was Mrs. C. C. Warren, and Mrs. R. Cherneff, guild president, and Mrs. J. L. W. McLean greeted the guests.

MODEL CLOTHES

Models were Lorraine McConnell, Florence Walther, Maude Parks, Mrs. Daryl Elford, Laura Mille, Ronanne McConnachie and Jill Chudleigh. Providing the piano accompaniment to the show was Miss Beth Weatherdon.

Another highlight of the afternoon was the home baking sale by the church's Canadian Girls In Training, which featured home-baked treats from cakes to mouth-watering cookies, pies and buns.

Heading the tea committee was Mrs. James MacPherson.

IN VANCOUVER

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes are on the mainland today, where His Honor is officiating at the opening the new Pacific Press Building in Vancouver. This evening, His Honor and Mrs. Pearkes will attend the dinner of the British Columbia Cancer Society in the Hotel Vancouver, which will be followed by the annual general meeting of the society.

From Campbell River

Recent visitors to the city from up-Island were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White of Campbell River, with Jackie, Eddie and Leanne. While here, they were guests in the Derby Road home of Mrs. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Visit London

Victorians in London continue to register in British Columbia House. Among those who have recently signed are Mrs. S. Shenstone Wilks, John A. Lort, and Hamish Thoms. A visitor from Ganges, Miss Ada A. Hoffmann, has also registered.

Ontario Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson of Hudson, Ont., travelled to Victoria recently to hear their son, Mr. James Steven Peterson exchange vows with Miss Margaret Neligan in St. Andrew's Cathedral. Also travelling from out-of-town for the occasion was the groom's sister Mrs. Earl Traviss of Vancouver with her daughter Linda.

Necklace Fulfils Tradition For Bride Margaret Neligan

A gold chain necklace with pearl drop fulfilled the tradition of "something borowed" for bride Margaret Helen Neligan when she exchanged vows with James Steven Peterson recently.

The necklace, worn by the bride for the evening ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral, was loaned by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Patrick Neligan. It was a jewelry accent to her floor-length gown of white velvet, styled with a short train sweeping back from a bouffant skirt. The bodice, highlighted with appliques, featured a scoop neckline and short sleeves.

Lace edged her waist-length veil of illusion net, which misted from a coronet of tulle and fabric flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Daffodils and yellow and pink forsythia decorated the church for the wedding, at which Fr. M. Costelloe officiated. Pews were marked with daffodils and white ribbon, and organ music was played during the ceremony.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Neligan, 4156 Carey Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson of Hudson, Ont. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

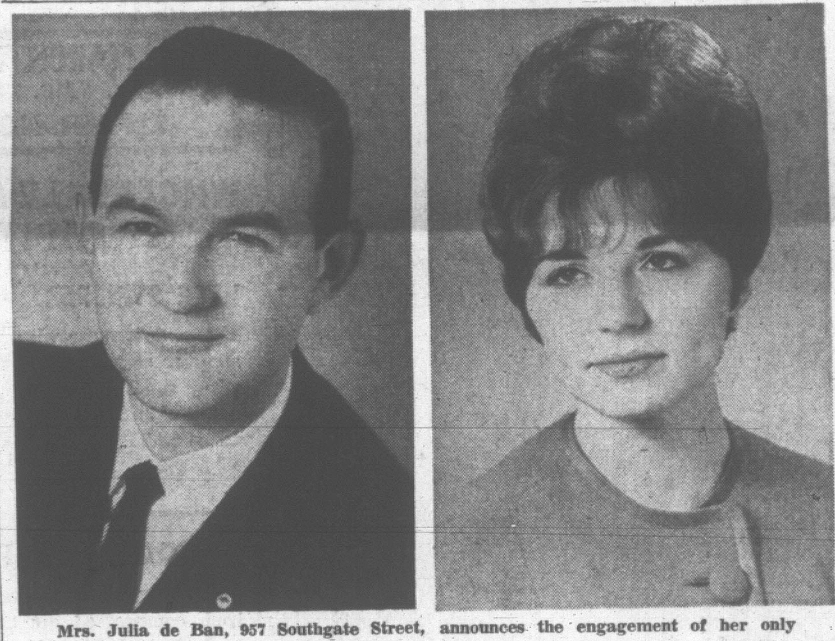
Full-length gowns of green brocade with gold floral patterns were the choice of the bride's attendants, matron of honor, Mrs. Patrick Neligan and bridesmaids, the Misses Barbara Neligan and Marilyn Lowrence. Styled with slightly belled skirts, scoop necklines and short sleeves, the gowns were worn with floral headpieces of gold fabric, edged with green and gold tulle. Gold-toned cymbidium orchids were in their bouquets.

Best man was Patrick Neligan. Robert Carter and Eric Longland ushered guests to their pews.

Decorations were in a white and pink theme for the reception following in View Royal Community Hall. Crystal candelabra flanked the three-tier wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's mother, and topped with doves and wedding rings. George Neligan proposed the toast to his niece.

Following a honeymoon on the mainland, the couple will make their new home at 829 Condor Avenue.

For travelling the bride wore a peacock-green two-piece suit with silver mink collar, accented with grey and black accessories. With it she wore a corsage of white roses.



Mrs. Julia de Ban, 957 Southgate Street, announces the engagement of her only daughter, Kati Maria, to Mr. Geoffrey Philip Williams, only son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Williams, London, England. The wedding will take place on Saturday, March 26 at 2 p.m. in St. Joseph's Church. Msgr. M. O'Connell will officiate. (Chevrons Studio.)

SUNDAY CEREMONY

Roscrucians Celebrate Ancient New Year Rites

The re-enactment of a ceremony that began in ancient Egypt over 40 centuries ago will be the highlight of a local Rosicrucian conclave to be held here next Sunday night.

According to Mrs. Beatrice Emerson (Master of the Rosicrucian Victoria Pronaos), the ancient Egyptians, from the time of Memphis to the Ptolemaic Period, began their New Year on or about the time of the vernal equinox when the sun, on its journey, crosses the celestial equator and enters the Zodiacal sign of Aries, which always occurs on or about March 21. This was considered the beginning of the New Year and was symbolic of new life.

The occasion of the New Year is celebrated, states Mrs. Emerson, by a symbolic feast in which the participants partake of simple foods corresponding to certain basic elements of nature, such as: Salt, corn, and unfermented grape juice.

BEGAN IN 1350 B.C.

As the Rosicrucian Order, AMORC, a nonreligious but philosopical fraternity, maintains that its traditional origin occured during the reign of Amenhotop IV, in 1350 B.C. the Order commemorates this ancient New Year beginning with a ceremony, though non-religious, that embraces the allegorical significance of the age-old Egyptian rite.

March 21 is also the beginning of the fiscal period of all Rosicrucian lodges, chapters, and pronaoi throughout the world. The date is marked by the installation of new ritualistic and administrative officers.

New officers of the local Rosicrucian organization who will be installed are: Mrs. R. Richardson of Cowichan Lake, master; Miss E. Rollinson. secretary and Mrs. I. Speller, guardian.

The ceremony and conclave is to be held at the Dominion Hotel, Yates Street.

Animal Parade Highlight of Tea

A complete menagerie of stuffed animals, handmade by the Salt Spring Island Guides and Brownies, proved to be a shoppers' delight at the recent spring tea given by the group.

The event was held in the Ganges Royal Canadian Legion hall and was opened by Mrs. H. A. Emerslund, president of the legion Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Dennis Seward convened the tea and serviteurs were the Guides and Brownies. Other stalls included home baking, candy and novelties.

Free Clinic for the Aged Will Cure—or Reassure

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Despite growing emphasis on preventive medicine, most people still go to doctors only when they're ill.

Babies are an exception. Well-baby clinics are generally available for checkups of infants who appear to be healthy.

On the assumption that what's good for babies is also good for the aged, a health-maintenance clinic has been put into operation here.

More than 120 aged Londoners have received free medical checkups in the clinic since it was opened in November, 1964.

Aside from catching a condition before it can become serious, the checkup may give the person an emotional lift, reassuring him he is well.

The clinic is the brainchild of Mrs. J. J. McHale, Jr., chairman of the Ontario Welfare Council section on aging. She mentioned the idea in the spring of 1964 at a meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses attended by the medical officer of health.

He was enthusiastic and the clinic was set up to operate in conjunction with a recreation program for the elderly run by the Public Utilities Commission at the Optimists Centre.

For the one day a month the clinic is held, the centre's kitchen becomes a laboratory, the bridge room the doctor's office. Examinations are done by Dr. J. I. Heffs, assistant medical officer of health. They are fairly superficial because the centre hasn't facilities for a complete examination. And Dr. Jeffs does not treat the patients. He refers them to their own doctor when necessary.

BE SMART—

No prettier look for after-five . . . executed in chiffon, fashion's darling: A flowing short dress in black, with long kimona sleeves and a graceful cowl neck.

SOROPTIMIST CLUB

Marks Annual Health Week

Members of the Soroptimist Club of Greater Victoria marked Canada's 22nd annual Health Week when it met for a recent meeting. President Louise Bartlett, senior physiotherapist with the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, spoke on the theme, "Prevention is Better than Cure."

She particularly stressed that intelligent care of the whole body during the growth period of young people would eliminate many of the disablements that overtake people. The speaker pointed out the need for a balance between work and play, activity and rest.

The importance of adequate fresh air and good sound sleep should not be overlooked, she said, and reported that too many young people "slouch around with poor posture and pale faces."

The speaker attributed the increase of gastric ulcers among the young to the fact that they do not allow time for the digestion of food in the mouth by adequate chewing.

She outlined the aims of the Health League of Canada. They include the promotion of good sound health across the country, less absenteeism from school and work, occupation of fewer hospital beds and more useful, happier citizens.

51 HOURS IN WILDERNESS

Pilot Wins Survival Battle

MACDONALD
. . . kept calm

ANCHORAGE (AP) — A U.S. Air Force pilot lost in the Alaska wilderness for 51 hours says he was confident of rescue while he waged a battle for survival in temperatures ranging down to 45 degrees below zero.

Capt. Roy Macdonald, who bailed out of his F-106 fighter-interceptor jet after a collision over central Alaska last Thursday, said his only concern was to keep calm.

"I was concerned about my safety in that weather," Macdonald said. "But I knew if I could last long enough I would be rescued."

The 32-year-old pilot of the 1st Fighter Wing at Selfridge, Mich., Air Force Base, described the hours before rescue by an air force helicopter after he arrived at Elmendorf Air Force Base here.

"I landed a little off a ridge," he said. "There were trees about 100 yards down and I went into that area to make a camp."

He first spread out his orange and white parachute on the ridge so it could be seen from the air.

"I burrowed a place in the snow—to get out of the wind," he said. "I was comfortable, but cold."

Snow covered the ground and during his waiting period there were continuous snow flurries.

Macdonald said he relied on the parachute survival pack for food, bedding, and his hope for rescue. When his radio signalling device ceased to function a few hours after he was on the ground, he used flares in attempts to attract searching aircraft.

Saturday afternoon, one of Macdonald's flare signals and his parachute were spotted by a crewman aboard a C-123.

The aircraft radioed a helicopter which reached him five minutes later. He was flown to Galena, an air force station, where a flight surgeon pronounced him in "beautiful shape."

Macdonald had been the subject of an intensive search over a 4,900-square-mile area by 22 military and civilian aircraft after his plane collided with a T-33 jet trainer. The pilot of the trainer, Maj. Vincent Hooper of Tyrone, Pas., landed his plane safely at Galena — approximately 100 miles northwest of where Macdonald was picked up.

SECOND ART CACHE FOUND

CHARTRES, France (AP)—The discovery of a second cache of Claude Monet paintings, possibly worth $2,000,000 was reported Sunday.

The 46 paintings are in addition to a secret hoard of 92 canvasses discovered last month. All were willed to the French Fine Arts Academy.

The latest discovery was reported by Yves Bourdon, lawyer for Michel Monet, the painter's son who died in an auto accident, Feb. 8.

The first hoard was found in Michel Monet's home at Sorel-Moussel, in Normandy. The second was found during an inventory of the house at Giverny, also in Normandy, where the painter lived in 1926.

Car Runs Into Group, Two Youngsters Die

EDMONTON (CP)—A car ran into five teenagers walking on a highway on the city's outskirts Friday night, killing two and injuring the other three.

Police said the accident happened half a mile north of the city limits when the car pulled out from the south-bound lane to pass another vehicle. The youths were struck from behind as they walked facing north-bound traffic.

Killed were Delores Turgeon, 15, and Robert Hartle, 17.

'WONDER, DELIGHT'

'Magnificent' Instrument In Hands of Fine Artist

By AUDREY JOHNSON

It seems that as we approach the close of the 25th anniversary season of the Victoria Symphony we are also witnessing a standard of performance, that would have seemed highly improbable as short a while ago as the beginning of the season.

Ninth in the series of concerts, heard at the Royal and at Sidney on Sunday and to be repeated at the Royal tonight, it is one by no means to be missed for at least two good reasons — the Shostakovich Symphony No. 1 and guest soloist Gary Karr.

Karr is one of the world's very few double bass concert virtuosos, at age 25 is considered in fact, by many critics on both sides of the Atlantic, to be without peer.

Few people having previously only heard its deep mutterings at the bottom of the string choir or observed it used mainly as a rhythm instrument and something of a comic character in jazz combos, could imagine what a magnificent instrument it is in the hands of a fine artist.

PROGRAM CHANGE

On Sunday there was a last minute change in the program. Mr. Karr was scheduled to play with the orchestra only Bruch's beautiful and moving Kol Nidrei.

But the Handel Oboe Concerto was dropped to allow the soloist to add a series of short but completely delightful numbers.

Playing the Kol Nidrei, Mr. Karr revealed himself in a way one could wish all soloists might do — as a sensitive, lyrical artist for whom the technical vertuosity he commands is simply the support and the power for the wings upon which he soars.

It is certainly dazzling to watch his left hand glide and leap the length of that great fingerboard and to observe his extraordinarily lissome manipulation of the big bow.

But to hear the warm umber tones of the instrument molded into phrases of such pure shapeliness, to hear the prismatic clarity of the upper registers rival the sweetness of the violin as well as its subtlties of coloration — this is cause for wonder and delight.

EXTRAORDINARY

With Otto-Werner Mueller substituting his baton for the keyboard of the grand piano, Mr. Karr then played a graceful and scintillating waltz. A piece by Couperin on muted strings, and an unaccompanied virtuoso number entitled Practise, all revealing fascinating aspects of a truly extraordinary artist.

Mr. Mueller's choice of program could not have been more illustrative of the orchestra's progress in the last months.

The light, limpid texture of the Schubert Fifth, with the ensemble reduced to vertual chamber orchestra size, approached a genuinely fine cantabile in the slow movement and a crisp animation in the finale.

ENCHANTING

The Bizet suite of playthings, Jeux d'enfants, is as vivid and enchanting as a set of illustrations by Brian Wildsmith and Mr. Mueller conveyed the effect with a well disciplined performance that also had considerable joie de vivre despite some momentary lapses from grace among the brasses.

But even if the afternoon had yielded nothing, orchestrally speaking, but the Shostakovich Symphony, it would have been one for the memory book.

Mr. Mueller's superb style and authority showed brilliantly as he conjured the orchestra into an unbelievable performance; a performance that for this ensemble with its limitations on rehearsal time and other resources, was nothing short of magnificent.

The symphony is both fascinating and electrifying and these qualities were projected to a pulse-quickening degree in Sunday's presentation.

1,600 Delegates To Attend Convention

The sixth constitutional convention of the Canadian Labour Congress will be held April 25-29 in Winnipeg.

The meeting will mark the 10th anniversary of the founding of the congress after the merger of the Canadian Congress of Labour and the Trades and Labour Congress.

Some 1,600 delegates are expected to attend.

Nickel stainless steel coffee pots are manufactured by Cory, General Electric, General Steel Wares, Philips, West Bend and Westinghouse

Give your coffee a break

Stained coffee pots are sometimes hard to clean; and those stains affect the flavour of good coffee. But a nickel stainless steel coffee pot is highly resistant to stains, tarnish and corrosion. It is easy to clean and keep clean; and it keeps its beauty year after year. No wonder coffee pots, and many other household products, are made of nickel stainless steel. And in all of them, nickel's contribution is quality.

JACKPOT HIT BY 'SEVEN NUNS AT LAS VEGAS'

Victorians Like Bubble-Floating

SEVEN NUNS AT LAS VEGAS

A capacity house filled Langham Court Theatre on Saturday.

As there was a choice of three other live productions that evening, this surely is some indication of the way public taste lies.

Victoria has lately been submerged in heavy Renaissance drama of one kind or another. What it evidently prefers is to float on a bubble like Seven Nuns at Las Vegas, and the gentle humor of this unpretentious comedy fantasy provides a very agreeable evening.

The convent of St. Genesius (excellent set) is situated in the sub-zero wastes of Indiana. Sister Columba is Irish and rheumatic, and delightfully played by Margaret Dixon. She prays to St. Joseph that she may be warm, and lo. the convent is miraculously transported to the broiling desert.

BIBLE BOOM

The epiphany of the nuns causes a sensation in Las Vegas. There is a boom in Bibles and a slump in vice, to the chagrin of nightclub-owner Edelman, on whose property the convent has materialized.

Sister Felicitas is in charge in this absurd situation which becomes quite credible on stage. Played by Doreen Rees she exudes warmth, humanity and authority. Every gesture, inflection of voice, use of eyes and facial expression is just right. This is an absolutely three dimensional performance.

I especially liked also Sister Anne, (Patricia Hughes) a young and flighty nun, and Sister Maria (Madeline Johnson) an old and grumpy one.

BARE LEG

The deportment of all seven is entirely nun-like. For this I imagine the credit belongs to the Sisters of St. Ann, who are mentioned on the program. There was one exception. In a moment of excitement one of the nuns picked up her skirts and ran, displaying, oh horrors, black socks and bare leg.

Chris Johnson as Edelman turned in a convincing performance, though his Jewish accent w[illegible] thick [illegible] or comprehension and could be modified somewhat.

The nuns' habits were authentic. But the rest of the costumes were poor. I have never seen anyone wearing a jacket in Las Vegas. Why would Edelman wear a suit, with a brown shirt, when we are told that outside it is 110 degrees? And in nine days of those temperatures he never changed that self-same shirt!

This is the sort of thing which keeps theatre in the category of amateur theatre.

LIVELY NOTE

The three girls from the night club, played by Christine Morrison, Lorraine Bowman and Doreen Renton, were a lively contrasting note, and enthusiastically applauded at every exit. But they came straight from "work" in their costumes. I would have like to have seen them each wearing something different, smarter and more sexy. I enjoyed the pink hair.

The gravest defect in an otherwise good production is the sound equipment. The radio tells us via the news, of the frantic search for the missing nuns, and it is most essential that we hear exactly what "it" (Roger Dewell) is saying.

If I had not previously read the script I would not have understood. The sound was distorted, the announcer spoke too fast, and made no allowance for laugh lines.

DISTORTED

Otherwise director Nel Horth has done a most artistic job in extracting every shade and nuance from the script.

Incidentally I have always understood that men were bored by plays about nuns. Yet I heard more robust laughter from the men in the audience than from the women Saturday night.

Seven Nuns at Las Vegas plays every night this week at 8:30.

'MUSICAL CITY' HITS SOUR NOTE

JOAN MASON HURLEY

Twenty-seven hundred people in Vancouver heard the Foerstrovo Trio. Less than 50 turned out Sunday evening to the McPherson Playhouse here.

What is the matter with Victoria? I know there were other concerts earlier in the day. But we pride ourselves on being a musical city.

Those who didn't come missed a superb concert. This famous Czech trio, sponsored by Les Jeunesse Musicales, consists of Ales Bilek, pianist, Vaclav Jirovek, cellist and Frantisek Popsisil, violinist. All three are in their thirties, and each is a soloist of international r[illegible]

The program was announced from the platform, three out of six possible selections were to be given. The opening number was the delightful Haydn Trio in A major. What could be gayer or more ezquisite than the graceful melodies of the father of all chamber music?

TOTALLY DIFFERENT

The next selection was played from manuscript, a trio in A-minor by the young Czech composer, Ivan Rezac. Not only was the idiom totally different from Haydn, so was the very style of playing, with intricate bowing and pizzicato effects.

I don't know whether it was entirely appreciated by everyone in the audience, but the applause was as thunderous as only 50 people can make it.

In any event, was it my imagination that there was almost a sigh of relief, and certainly a burst of clapping when it was announced that the last item would be the great Archdule Trio of Beethoven.

FINE READING

This extremely satisfying work, symphonic in its scope, received a splendid reading by the trio. Particularly noteworthy for me was the piano, fountains and cascades of sparkling, rippling notes, never overpowering the balance of the three.

I was reminded of Bernard Shaw who said that the riotous humor of Beethoven's music "increased in recklessness with the years and troubles of the writer."

The audience made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers.

One of the encores was the allegretto from the Trio in E-minor of Shostakovich. This driving, pulsating, almost tortured music, symbolic of the war years in which it was written, was one of the most memorable moments of the evening.

Vaclav Jirovek told me afterwards, that in 47 concerts they have played across Canada in two months, the complete Shostakovich trio has been their most popular work, and in B.C. have been audiences "the most attentive."

Who was it said Victoria was a Beethoven town?

ZOOLOGIST:

Babv Seal Clubbing Humane

TORONTO (CP) — A University of Toronto zoologist said Sunday that clubbing baby seals on the Gulf of St. Lawrence is more humane than many methods of trapping and snaring wild animals.

Dr. D. H. Pimlott called for more regulations but said the clubbing "is just as humane as many of the small slaughterhouses in Ontario which are not under federal jurisdiction."

Dr. Pimlott was one of several observers invited by the federal department of fisheries to see the annual seal hunt in the St. Lawrence last week.

There have been criticisms that the hunters, who took 50,000 baby seal pelts in three days, were cruel and brutal, and that some of the baby seals had been skinned alive.

Dr. Pimlott said the skulls of the baby seals are soft and the club is therefore more effective than on adult seals with harder skulls. He said the club has the potential of being a humane weapon, but some abuses have occurred.

He said the annual adult seal hunt in international waters off the northern coast of Newfoundland is more inhumane.

Regular Tests Ensure Elk Lake Water Purity

By ROGER STONEBANKS

No one is allowed to roam freely through the Sooke watershed which provides drinking water for Greater Victoria.

But people can swim, fish and use boats in Elk-Beaver Lake which provides drinking water for Central Saanich and peninsula customers.

There is, however, an important difference: Water from Elk-Beaver Lake is filtered in a plant before being pumped to householders. Both sources are chlorinated.

The commissioner of the Greater Victoria Water Board, Ron Upward, said the only danger is human or mechanical error at the filtration plant.

"If we want to use the Sooke watershed for the public then we've got to build a filter plant," he said.

Water for Victoria once came from Elk Lake but this was discontinued about 50 years ago.

During the Second World War the federal government built a filtration plant for its water supply from Elk Lake to Pat Bay airport.

The medical health officer for Greater Victoria, Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, said so far there is no evidence of pollution.

This is in contrast with Prospect Lake, which unlike Elk Lake is heavily populated. At Prospect Lake, where there is no piped water, septic tank effluent seeps into wells.

As a result, residents are advised to boil all water being used for domestic purposes. The lake water is deemed unfit for drinking, but the bacteria count shows it safe for swimming.

Dr. Whitbread said regular tests are carried out at Elk Lake, both before and after the water is treated for drinking purposes.

He pointed out that drinking water is taken from the northwest side of Elk Lake while most of the recreational use is on the east side, beside Patricia Bay Highway and in connecting Beaver Lake.

Currents in the lake run north to south, which means water from the recreational area runs down to Beaver Lake and not towards the point where drinking water is taken.

Dr. Whitbread said any development will be watched closely.

"We would not approve of subdivision on the north and west shores," he said.

Central Saanich Reeve Gordon Lee said recreational use of Elk-Beaver Lake doesn't present a problem at this time.

He considered use of Elk Lake for drinking water an interim measure.

"It should come from the Sooke watershed," he said.

"Our pumping facilities are limited and our main line also is limited.

"It is only a matter of time before we are unable to supply the ever-growing demands of the northern part of the peninsula.

"Eventually, Elk Lake will have to be abandoned (as a water supply).

"In the interim, I believe the quality of the water will be safeguarded by the close watch of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health."

Revolt Against Army Urges Deposed Chief

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (Reuters) — Ghana's deposed president Kwame Nkrumah Sunday night appealed to his countrymen to revolt against the military regime established after a Feb. 24 coup.

In a 15-minute radio broadcast from Guinea, where he has taken refuge, Nkrumah claimed he is still Ghana's constitutional head.

His Convention People's party is still "the vanguard of the peoples' political movement," he declared in a broadcast heard here.

BRIDGE LESSON

By JACOBY AND SON

One of the first principles of dummy play is to attack your longest suit in order to set up as many tricks as possible. When you have to develop tricks in two suits you should make a further study to see if there is some reason to try the shorter one.

West	North	East	South
			1 N.T.
Pass	3 N.T.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead—♥ 7.

North's raise to three no-trump is eminently correct. He has ten points and a balanced hand so it is pointless for him to show his five-card club suit.

South wins the heart lead with his queen and counts two sure winners in each red suit. He looks over the clubs and sees that he will make either four or five tricks there depending on the position of the king. He also notes that if West holds the king he will have time to set up spades later on and will make five no-trump but a careful declarer should allow for the chance that a finesse won't work. In that case South sees only eight tricks and that if West started with five or six hearts and also holds the ace of spades, he won't get around to a spade trick in time to make his contract.

Further study shows South a way to handle this unfavorable situation. The seven of hearts looks like a fourth best lead so that if anyone holds five hearts it will be West.

Therefore, South leads out his king of spades at trick two. If West ducks South can afford to go after clubs since he is now assured of his contract. If West takes the ace and leads the king of hearts South ducks once and takes the next heart. Then he tries the club finesse. It loses but that doesn't bother South in the slightest. East doesn't have a heart to lead.

CLOSE TO HOSPITAL
$155 MONTH INCOME

This owner must sell. The lower suite has 2 large bedrooms, large LR and DR with very modern kitchen PLUS extra bedroom, toilet and lovely new family room in basement. They have been offered $90 pm for this suite when they move out. The upstairs suite has had the same quiet lady tenant for 4 years (she works at hospital) and pays $65 pm, furnished! Newish furnace, wiring and exterior stucco make this an attractive investment. There is a new $7,000 mortgage available and owner will carry up to $4,000 at 40 pm. Young couples, let me show you how to build up an estate. You could live upstairs for only $29 pm and in 15 years own this outright. I will show you how. $14,500 with reasonable terms.

SITUATED NEAR GOVERNMENT HOUSE, THIS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE LAST OPPORTUNITIES TO ACQUIRE ONE OF VICTORIA'S FINE OLD HOMES.

Many have been converted into Multiple family dwellings or rest homes etc.

This property is eminently suited for single family or institutional occupancy.

Of massive construction, the building conveys an air of solidity from basement to attic.

Accomodation includes:

Spacious entrance hall.

Three handsome reception rooms, Five principal bedrooms.

Three full bathrooms.

3 Washrooms.

Staff Accommodation.

Large Rumpus Room with Fireplace.

Three Garages.

Excellent oil hot water heating system.

Magnificent views of sea and mountains from most rooms. The building is structurally sound but will require considerable expenditure for redecoration. However, this has been more than allowed for at the sale price of $32,500.

The garden extends to approx. two-thirds of an acre and affords considerable seclusion and privacy on the south side of the residence.

TUDOR CHARM
IN OAK BAY VILLAGE

Tucked away in a pleasant secluded cul-de-sac just around the corner from the shopping centre and surrounded by almost ½ acre of verdant lawns, shrubs and fruit trees, this beautiful custom built bungalow with a unique TUDOR type design, just breathes the atmosphere of OLDE ENGLAND at its best.

Bay windows and leaded panes, half timbering and stucco, heavy hand-split shake roof are blended with skilled craftsmanship to produce beauty at its best.

Living space includes a large living and dining room — which opens to a beautiful secluded patio by French doors; three bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, Den, Recreation room and an extra spacious kitchen — almost 1700 sq. ft. on the ground floor alone.

Truly for those seeking a home with charm, luxury, and dignified good taste, without ostentation.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

BITS 'N' PIECES: That dull pilot film, Tell Them the Streets Are Dancing, on CBC-TV's Bob Hope Theatre last week, really was the pilot of a projected fall series for the public network. Ten hour-long dramas, titled Wojeck, will begin in September with John Vernon in the starring role of coroner.

Stephen

There is still time for producers to take a second look and decide not to spend public monies uselessly. The shooting of the series does not begin until April. Nothing against Vernon, mind you, because he did the best he could with an ug-g-h plot.

As bad as the decision was to create a series based on a coroner's activities, there was a good one among the CBC brass who decided to go along with a 10-week hour-long series which grew out of the highly satisfactory six-part drama, Mr. Member of Parliament, which ran on The Serial last fall.

Quentin Durgens, MP, will be videotaped this spring and summer, with shooting planned for Ottawa, Toronto, Stratford and other locations.

A third one-hour series for next season is also being considered, dramatizing pioneer life in Upper Canada in the 1800s. The one-hour pilot, Hero at Hatch's Mill, was telecast Monday, March 7, on Show of the Week.

Alice in Wonderland, the children's fantasy classic by Lewis Caroll, will be an hour-long, fully-animated musical special on CBC-TV Thursday, March 24.

Janet Waldo, who lent her voice to 'teen-ager Judy on the cartoon series, The Jetsons, will voice the role of Alice.

Other voices will belong to Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana, Sammy Davis Jr., actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, Howard Morris, the late Hedda Hopper and Harvey Korman. Special guest stars will be Fred Flintstone and Barney Rubble of The Flintstones' cartoon series, playing, respectively, the front and rear ends of the Blue Caterpillar. Sure, it's a Hanna-Barbera production. How did you guess?

The CBC plans to review the format of its evening television news. It is also hoped to extend the evening broadcast to 19 minutes from the present 14. Bill Cunningham, for five years in charge of Newsmagazine, will be assigned to review the content and form of the national news in order to strengthen the writing, scripting and presentation.

Shaking Disease Hard to Explain

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Some unhappy people write asking if anything can be done for a head which shakes from side to side, and I am sorry to say I have never heard of a cure.

Alvarez

I would suggest that a person so afflicted see a good neurologist. Unfortunately, I have found that the neurologists don't know much more about the disease than I do.

If I were to see a person with a shaking head, I would want to search back through the person's ancestry to see if in it one or more persons could be found who had a hereditary tremor — usually of the hands. There are three main types of tremor of the hands due (1) to Parkinson's disease (usually in one hand); (2) to a hereditary tendency (which can showhup fairly early in life); and (3) a senile tremor, which comes late in life.

I suspect that the head-shakers have the inherited tendency to shake. I saw one of these head-shakers a few months ago, and when I learned that he had an epileptic grandfather, I sent him for electroencephalograms — records made of the tiny electric currents that are constantly arising in the brain. When the report of an epileptic type of record came back I gave Dilantin, and to the great delight of the patient, this reduced his tremor so much that he no longer felt embarrassed in front of people.

A woman writes that she has leukoplakia in the mouth, and another says she has it in the vulva. These women want to know what it is, why it came and is it dangerous.

Leukos means white, and plax means a plate — so leukoplakia is a patch of white tissue that forms on a mucous membrane; the mouth and the vulva are the commonest places that it forms. Because it can be what is called precancerous, it is good to have the patch removed before it turns into definite cancer.

When people ask if an enlarged heart is a menace to health, I cannot answer them, because I do not know what produced their large heart. It may be due to back-flow of blood through a damaged and inadequate heart valve. In other cases, the heart has for years been overworking because it has had to force the blood through a valve that is scarred and narrowing because of an early rheumatic fever. In other cases the heart enlarged because it had to pump against a big high blood pressure.

In the end, a large heart can greatly help the person because the extra amount of muscle enables the pump to carry on in spite of a great handicap. The heart muscle can enlarge with overwork just as the arm muscles of a blacksmith enlarge with constant use. This is why when I see a person with a large heart I may be able to cheer him up; in some ways he is lucky.

Scouts To Assist Operation Doorstep

The B.C. Tuberculosis Society's "Operation Doorstep," auspiciously kicked off Friday with the participation of cabinet ministers and MLA's, will carry on with the help of Greater Victoria Boy Scouts.

Scouts and cubs will help in the distribution of posters advertising the society's drive to X-ray and test for tuberculosis house by house throughout the city using mobile X-ray vans.

The campaign, expected to last until near the end of May, began Friday morning when B.C. legislators were examined in a van parked outside the Legislative Buildings.

Second Distributor For Scout Uniforms

For the first time in the history of Victo 'a scouting, approval for a second distributor outlet of Cub and Scout uniforms and equipment has been given.

The new outlet will be Woodward Stores.

For many years the sole distributor in the city has been W. & J. Wilson Ltd.

Seine Fishermen Demand More Inlets Be Opened

A provincial department of commercial fisheries is needed to help put seine fishing on a proper basis, a legislative committee was told Friday.

Gillnetters and trollers now hold a great advantage over seine fishermen, said Frank Buble, president of the Salmon Seine Vessel Owners Association.

Seiners are not allowed to fish seven inlets where the best species of salmon are caught and have only partial access to five other areas, he said.

He asked that half a dozen areas on the coast be set aside for exclusive use by seine fishermen.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Bob Fricek, age 12, of Duluth, Minn., for his question:

Who really were the Vikings?

Andy has about a ship load of questions about the Vikings, and it all started last Columbus Day. A team of scholars announced that the Vikings found the New World long before the great Columbus. Andy's readers already knew this—but the somewhat stale news event has made them mighty curious about these go-ahead Vikings.

Their story began perhaps soon after the last Ice Age loosened its cruel grip on Northern Europe. After the melting snows came marshes lush with foliage, wading birds and hungry animals. Wandering tribes pushed northward to hunt the game of the new lands. The Scandinavian lands first were settled by short, dark people, but later they were displaced by tall, blond raiders from the south.

These big blonds were the Norsemen, ancestors of the Vikings. As the climate and the scenery changed, they made themselves at home in Norway, Sweden and Denmark and along the bleak shores of Iceland and Greenland. Life was hard, but the sturdy Norsemen were trained to overcome hardships with jest and pleasure. The chores were many, but toil was their pride and joy. Men, women and children were respected for their work and skills.

The children did not learn to read or write or do much figuring. But their training in physical skills began early. Boys learned to race and jump, swim and row, hunt and fish. They rode horses, helped to sow and harvest the grain and tend the cattle. Later they practiced bold skills with swords and shields, spears and battle axes. The girls learned to cook and sew, knit and weave wollen cloth and tapestries. And all the lessons were learned along with cheerful courage.

Plundered Europe and Africa

In time, the bold Norsemen took to setting their great strength with people of other lands. When chores were light after sowing or reaping they took their long rowboats a-viking. And sad to say, the bold Vikings raided and plundered many lands. Their merciless raids were feared in Finland, Russia and Lapland and dreaded in Spain, Portugal and faraway Sicily. For a time they grabbed and held parts of Ireland, Britian and France. They even attacked Constantinople, the eastern capital of the Roman Empire.

The plundering Age of the Vikings began around 750 A.D. and lasted about 300 years. It began and ended with the worship of Odin, king of battles, and his band of warrior heroes. Gradually, the misguided Vikings learned trade, better manners and a new religion from their victims. They became Christians, and because they put their whole hearts into all they did, they stopped plundering their neighbors and went a-viking no more.

Descendants of the Vikings still live in Scandinavia, Greenland and Iceland. Among their ancestors were captive slaves taken long ago on Viking raids to many lands in Europe and Africa. Many Vikings stayed behind to settle in these lands—and perhaps without knowing it most of us have a drop of that brave, cheerful Viking blood in our veins.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Bruce Hutcherson, age 13, of St. Matthews, Ky., for his question:

How big is the largest lake in the United States?

A body of water must be bordered by land on every side in order to qualify as a lake, and the water may be fresh or salty. Our biggest lake is Lake Superior, which we share with Canada. This king of the Great Lakes also is the biggest fresh water lake in the world.

Your home state of Kentucky covers an area of 40,395 square miles. If you have travelled around it, you have grasped some idea of its size and this will help you to picture the size of Lake Superior. The area of our biggest lake is 31,820 square miles—and this is big enough to cover almost four-fifths of the state of Kentucky.

OLIVIER TESTIFIES

Theatre Censorship Facing Court Test

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Laurence Olivier went to court last week to defend the producers of a play in which a baby is stoned to death on stage.

Sir Laurence, director of Britain's National Theatre, was star witness for the English Stage Co., being prosecuted for presenting the play without a licence from Britain's theatre censor, the lord chamberlain.

The action is regarded as a test case on the 123-year-old law which empowers the lord chamberlain, an official of the royal household, to ban any play which fails to meet with his approval.

The prosecution says the play —Saved, by prize - winning writer Edward Bond—was presented for public viewing in the guise of a performance in a theatre club which existed merely in name to avoid censorship.

The defence says the play was presented by a bona fide club and was therefore lawful. The result of the case, which has been adjourned until April 1, may help change Britain's theatre censorship system.

Olivier told the court his whole acting career had been changed by the English Stage Co.

"It altered the color and tone of my career at a time when it was becoming dangerously a little bit more staid and a little bit more predictable," he said.

APARTMENT 3G

YOUR UNCLE WOULD BE VERY UPSET IF HE THOUGHT YOU WENT TO A HOTEL INSTEAD OF USING HIS APARTMENT, PETER!
I BETTER GO TO HOTEL---
WHAT HOTEL ARE YOU GOING TO? DO YOU HAVE RESERVATIONS? HAVE YOU ANY IDEA WHAT IT COSTS TO STAY IN A HOTEL?
I FIND HOTEL!
YOU KNOW YOU'RE BEING VERY SILLY, DON'T YOU?
TOMMIE, WE'D BETTER FIND HIM A HOTEL---IF HE INSISTS ON GOING TO ONE!

NDP MAY WALK OUT IF MAULING CONTINUES

TORONTO (CP)—Reid Scott (NDP—Danforth) says the 21 New Democratic Party members of Parliament might walk out of the House today if the two major parties continue to maul each other over the Munsinger affair.

Mr. Scott, one of a number of Toronto-area MPs interviewed during the weekend over the sex-and-security Munsinger situation, said he advocated the measure last week and will again today unless the issue is resolved.

GERDA SELLS STORY

By PETER BUCKLEY

MUNICH, West Germany (CP) — Gerda Munsinger, blonde central figure in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, will fly to Canada to clear her name, her new literary agent said today.

The agent, Josef von Ferenczy, said in a statement that Mrs. Munsinger has left Munich to escape reporters, but would remain in West Germany, working with his writers, for two or three days.

In his statement, Ferenczy confirmed that Mrs. Munsinger, a 37-year-old former beauty queen, is the woman named in the Canadian allegations that she had links with two or more former Conservative cabinet ministers.

Ferenczy, who has bought the world rights to her story for his feature agency, Ferenczy Presse Agentur, said he paid hundreds of thousands of marks for Mrs. Munsinger's "shocking story."

The West German mark is worth slightly less than 27 cents in Canadian funds.

LEAVES APARTMENT

Mrs. Munsinger, described by her neighbors as pleasant and respectable, slipped out of her modest apartment Sunday night with two unidentified men and entered a car which had just pulled out. The escorts pushed away one reporter and their car struck another as they drove off.

Meanwhile, the Bild Zeitung, West Germany's largest circulation newspaper, quotes her as saying:

"I am no spy, I skipped out of the East in 1948 because it didn't suit me over there anymore. Of all people, why should I stick out my neck for Canadian politics?

"What's all the fuss? What have I done that's so criminal? Let them bring down the government. That's none of my business any more.

"Naturally I knew Pierre Sevigny (former Conservative cabinet minister); I knew lots of men. But that's my private affair."

'CHARMING GUY'

Then referring to Sevigny, she was quoted as adding thoughtfully:

"It's too bad about Pierre. He was such a charming guy. Just imagine, they want to trip him up on something like that."

Before leaving the apartment Sunday night, Mrs. Munsinger had holed up for 36 hours as she negotiated with persons seeking to buy her story.

Mrs. Munsinger moved into her apartment about three years ago, apparently after spending some time in a Swiss hotel after leaving Canada in 1961. She went to Canada in 1955. The apartment is said to rent for 150 marks ($40) a month.

Klaus Reissner, manager of the Scotch - Kneipe Discoteque, said Mrs. Munsinger had been working on and off there for the last few months, earning $7.50 a night managing the buffet.

He described her as pleasant and obliging and said "she must have been a beauty at one time."

She also left a good impres-

PRIME MINISTER Pearson arrives at Parliament Buildings today for a meeting with the cabinet before this afternoon's sitting of the house. (CP Wirephoto.)

'Cardin Must Go' —Fulton

OTTAWA (UPI) — Former Coneservative Justice Mintster Davie Fulton called today for the resignation of Prime Minister Pearson unless he can secure Justice Minister Lucien Cardin's departure from the cabinet.

Times News Services

OTTAWA—With a plea to members of parliament not to betray the trust of the voters who sent them here, Prime Minister Pearson today announced establishment of a judicial inquiry into all aspects of the Munsinger case.

Pearson told a tense and jammed Commons the inquiry would be headed by Mr. Justice Wishart F. Spence, 62, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

He said he hoped to be able to table the terms of reference for the inquiry later in the day.

Speaking to near-full benches on both government and opposition sides of the Commons—and to overflowing visitors' galleries—Pearson said the inquiry's scope specifically laid out the charge that the entanglement of former Conservative ministers with blonde Gerda Munsinger jeopardized the country's safety.

IN UPROAR

The Commons has been in an uproar since last Thursday when Justice Minister Lucien Cardin told a news conference more than one minister in John Diefenbaker's past Conservative government had been involved in a "bona fide security case" with Mrs. Munsinger.

Cardin also accused Diefenbaker of mishandling the case by not referring it to the law officers of the crown and trying to sweep it under the rug.

The House was quiet and seemingly subdued and perhaps remorseful as the prime minister spoke today. Mr. Pearson called the affair "unhappy and distressing."

Mr. Pearson said Parliament had reached a "frightening situation."

The atmosphere and attitudes which degraded Parliament and demeaned democracy must be changed.

Mr. Pearson said he would make no attempt to assess the blame for the situation.

MENTIONS BITTERNESS

But it had not developed suddenly. It was the culmination of long sessions carried on in an atmosphere of extreme partisanship, bitterness and suspicion.

Three consecutive elections which had returned minority governments also contributed to the situation.

"Nothing to do with it," an unidentified Opposition MP snapped.

Former Conservative Justice Minister Davie Fulton said today in the Commons he was told by the Liberals eight days before the Munsinger case broke that the affair would be disclosed by the government if the Conservatives persisted in

NEW DELHI RIOT

Sikhs Attack With Spears

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Turbaned Sikh volunteers shouting religious war cries counterattacked thousands of stone-throwing Hindus with spears and swords today after the Hindus marched on the holiest Sikh shrine in New Delhi.

Scores of persons were stabbed and many others were injured by club-swinging police trying to break up the rioting mob.

It was the fourth consecutive day of rioting in India by Hindus protesting the federal government decision to establish an official Punjabi-speaking state. Punjab is the language of the Sikhs.

Thousands of Hindu members of the militant rightwing Jan Sangh party coursed through the streets of old Delhi, burning Sikh shops in the city's largest shopping area.

Police fired tear gas in an effort to quell the riots.

The violence here erupted after two weeks of food riots in West Bengal state which claimed the lives of 26 persons.

Thirty jailed leftist political leaders were scheduled to be released following an amnesty proclaimed by the state governor on the recommendation of the federal home minister, G. L. Nanda.

MARTYRS' DAY

The jailed men included 12 state legislators and a number of communists.

A Martyrs' Day parade was staged Sunday by 50,000 persons honoring the memory of the 26 persons killed in the food riots.

Police also put down disturbances Sunday in the Sikh holy city of Amritsar and at Jullundar in the Punjab.

WIRE BRIEFS

Space Shot Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Gemini 8 orbital hookup and spacewalk spectacular was postponed today from Tuesday to at least Wednesday by leaks in the rendezvous target's Atlas booster and in the two-seater capsule's breathing system.

Ronning Returning

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Chester Ronning, Canadian diplomat who made a three-day visit to Hanoi, is due to leave for Canada Tuesday, informed sources said today. Ronning was not available for comment on reports that he had talks with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and that he delivered a message from Prime Minister Pearson.

Children Trampled

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Children were trampled as police clashed with anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators at a Labor Day parade here today. The procession of floats was held up for five minutes as police wrestled to control the crowd. No injuries were reported.

CPR PRESIDENT R. A. Emerson died at 54 in Montreal Sunday, it was announced today. First reports indicated he suffered a heart attack. He had been president since October, 1964. Story on page 15.

4 MINISTERS KNEW WOMAN, SAYS FISHER

TORONTO (CP) — Douglas Fisher, former New Democratic Party member of Parliament for Port Arthur, says he heard the names of four cabinet ministers connected with Gerda Munsinger.

Mrs. Munsinger is the central figure in an uproar that has rocked Parliament with allegations of sex and security cases.

Mr. Fisher, appearing Sunday night on the CBC television program This Hour Has Seven Days, said two of the men he heard of were English-speaking and two French-speaking.

SEVIGNY SAYS:

I Was Flabbergasted By Telephone Call

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Sevigny, former associate defence minister in the Diefenbaker government, said today he received a telephone call Friday from Gerda Munsinger and he was flabbergasted.

He said in an interview the call from Munich, West Germany, came to his home and was directed to him at his office.

Mr. Sevigny gave no details of the telephone conversation.

"Naturally I was flabbergasted," he said. "I had not seen this person in six years and I assumed that she was dead after the announcement to that effect in the House."

The former cabinet minister said the whole affair had been blown "out of all proportion," and that security is not an issuc in the matter.

He said there had never been any personal animosity between himself and Justice Minister Cardin, who brought up the Munsinger matter in the House of Commons.

"It is incredible to think the government would paralyze the nation's business over this totally absurd affair . . . it is sheer nonsense."

Mr. Sevigny said he has no objection to a judicial inquiry.

HOUSE INFORMED

'Recognize Picture But Not Name:' Hees

Times News Services

OTTAWA—George Hees said in the Commons today he recognizes pictures of Gerda Munsinger as a person he once knew but still does not recall knowing her by that name.

He said that at no time had his personal conduct jeopardized the security of the nation and added:

"I defy the prime minister and the minister of justice to say that I ever did anything to jeopardize or affect the security of my country.

"I challenge them now to state that I did."

Mr. Hees rose on a question of privilege shortly after the opening of the sitting to read a 225-word statement.

He began by recalling that "on several occasions in the last 10 days I have publicly stated that I did not know a person by the bame of Olga Munsinger."

"A person of that name now is reported to have said that she lunched with me twice, seven or eight years ago."

Gerda Munsinger was quoted today by the Toronto Star to that effect.

"She may well be right," Mr. Hees went on. "Although I still do not recall knowing any person by that name, I have examined the pictures of that person in the Saturday newspapers and I believe I recognize the woman pictured there."

The Star quotes Gerda as saying in Munich:

"I met George Hees exactly twice. Both times we had lunch at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa in the downstairs dining room. After lunch we parted.

"Mr. Hees knew me by sight and asked me to have lunch with him as his guest because he knew I was a friend of (Pierre) Sevigny."

Hees said he left hospital to make the statement in the Commons.

Mr. Hees, who said he was in hospital for tests to determine whether he is losing the sight of his right eye, said he had wanted to make a statement about the case for the last two days.

NDP to Vote Against Grits On Munsinger

VANCOUVER (UPI) — National NDP leader T. C. Douglas said today his party would vote to defeat the government over its handling of the Munsinger case.

But he doubts the Liberal administration will be toppled because the Creditistes have said "they will support the government, and the Social Credit will probably follow suit," he added.

Douglas, in Vancouver for a speaking engagement, criticized Justice Minister Lucien Cardin especially.

"He handled the whole situation very badly, and the prime minister looks exceptionally incompetent in the face of the current situation," he added.

Douglas condemned Cardin's actions in calling a press conference "and making buckshot accusations which he wouldn't substantiate in the House . . ."

He said the prime minister should have intervened long before now, and Cardin is no longer fit to be minister of justice.

CROWDS GATHER

Circus Atmosphere Around Parliament

OTTAWA (UPI)—"This is nuts. This is nuts."

Such were the words of a harried Parliament Hill security officer Monday as dozens of curious onlookers flocked into the Centre Block in anticipation of an explosive Commons debate on the Munsinger sex and security scandal.

More than two hours before the Commons met more than 100 spectators had congregated in the high-domed main floor lobby of the historic building.

"What time does the House sit?" a grey-haired woman asked the security officer.

Can't I just wander around the building and see what's happening?" an attractive young girl with dark shoulder-length hair wondered.

Extra security staff were called in to handle the expected crush of spectators from normally blase Ottawa.

The main switchboard on Parliament Hill was flooded with callers asking when the sitting started, security officers reported.

The unusual interest wasn't confined only to the public.

By noon, the parliamentary press gallery has issued about 25 temporary passes to visiting newsmen and photographers from Canada and the United States.

The extra newsmen were forced to sit in the public galleries for the day.

Parliament Hill almost took on the appearance of a movie film lot.

Both television networks moved lights and cameras in to put on film for viewers across the continent the events of what was expected to be one of the most extraordinary days in Canadian parliamentary history.

SECOND VIETNAMESE SENTENCED TO DEATH

Family Wails As Saigon Profiteer Shot

By BRYCE MILLER

SAIGON (UPI)—A convicted war profiteer was executed by a firing squad today in Saigon's central market place while police restrained his hysterical wife and eight children. Another "economic criminal" was sentenced to death later in the day for embezzling government funds.

Ta Vinh, a 34-year-old Chinese millionaire businessman, was executed in the sandbagged square for attempting to bribe government officials, hoarding and violating government price controls on vital goods.

His wailing wife and eight children clawed at the tangles of barbed wire and pushed at the police cordon even as the shots were fired by the 10-man firing squad.

Vinh was the first man convicted by the government's new special court for economic crimes.

A few hours later, the court handed down a death sentence for Dang Cao Sach, 54, former government treasurer in Dalat province. He was convicted of embezzling millions of Vietnamese piastres from the treasury safe, replacing it with old newspapers, lottery slips and scrap paper cut in neat bundles to resemble stacks of currency.

The short, thin greying Sach sat whimpering and weeping, his head in his hands, as the court heard testimony and later deliberated his fate. He wore an old, rumpled suit, no tie, and pleaded for leniency.

The three justices deliberated 40 minutes before finding him guilty and handing down the death penalty. Sach's wife and other relatives crowding the courtroom broke into screams and wails of anguish.

The condemned man has six children. His eldest son, a sergeant in the Vietnamese army, was killed in action last February.

Sach's only defence was that he took the money periodically to cover his losses at poker and lottery drawings.

Reliable sources said the U.S. mission in Viet Nam tried to exert pressure on the Saigon government to send Vinh to prison instead of the stake. Officially, the embassy said, it was "an internal matter of justice" and declined further comment.

It was said that Vinh, convicted one week ago today, was worth upwards of $40 million.

He was accompanied to the stake at 5:20 a.m. by two priests. He asked for a blindfold. Vinh was garbed in a dark blue suit, white shirt and flowered tie.

Slugs tore into his chest and stomach and Vinh lurched forward, straining at the ropes. He kept his feet until an office quickly walked up and delivered the coup de grace from a 45-calibre pistol.

U.S. Denied Visa in '53

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. state department said Monday that Gerda Munsinger, the German woman in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, was refused an American visa in 1953 at Munich, West Germany.

Press officer Robert McCloskey declined to say "at this time" why the visa was denied by a consular official.

But he said that the Canadian government has been informed "very recently" of the reasons.

McCloskey said he does not know whether the blonde, 37-year former beauty queen was married at that time to Mike Munsinger, now a New York city policeman. Munsinger had met her in Europe during U.S. military service.

Bonds Get Market Emphasis

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prices sagged on Canadian stock markets last week as stocks failed to rally from recent declines.

A potential rally triggered at New York was cut off late in Thursday's session on news that major United States commercial banks had increased their prime lending rates.

Until the announcement it appeared North American markets were about to regain at least some of the ground lost earlier in the week and during the last month.

However, immediately on the news that Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. had increased its minimum lending rate to 5½ per cent from five per cent selling became heavy at New York and a seven-point gain on the Dow Jones industrial index was turned into a slight deficit.

Toronto and Montreal followed the lead erasing slight gains and closed Thursday at 167.13 and 163.98.

At Toronto volume was 18,641,873 shares compared with 18,352,381 last week.

ATTRACT INVESTORS

Bay Street analysts attribute part of the lengthy decline to higher interest rates which have been attracting more investors into bonds and away from low yield stocks often thought of as long term investments.

Dosco led the decline as it fell 2⅝ to 13. Dominion Stores was down 1¼ to 24, Westcoast Transmission and B.C. Telephone 1 to 26½ and 75.

Banks slid as Royal dropped 1⅜ to 74¼, Imperial-Commerce ⅝ to 63⅜, Toronto-Dominion ½ to 62¼, Montreal and Nova Scotia ¼ to 60½ and 70.

Papers continued to gain as the majority of companies raised their newsprint prices by $10 a ton to $134 a ton to western U.S. users and $144 a ton to eastern U.S. buyers.

Price Brothers paced the group, gaining 2¼ to 46¼, Great Lakes 1¼ to 26¼, Abitibi ⅝ to 12⅝ and Domtar ¼ to 20½.

In other industrial activity, Hayes Seel was up 1¾ to 28 following an announcement of a proposed stock split, and Massey-Ferguson 1⅜ to 32¾.

Speculative activity picked up momentum near the end of the week with issues recording sharp gains and losses. Consolidated Halliwell jumped 81 cents to 1.39 on 1,956,623 shares following rumors of a copper find near its property in Haiti.

Banff Oil countered the decline in western oils, gaining 1 to 18¼ on rumors of a further oil discovery in Alberta's Rainbow Lake area.

Scurry Rainbow fell 2⅜ to 20⅛, Dome Petroleum 1½ to 17, Canadian Superior 1¼ to 22 and Murphy Oil ½ to 8⅞.

In base metals, Pine Point was down 3 to 58, Inco 2¼ to 98½, Hudson Bay Mining 1½ to 80 and Cominco ¾ to 44½. Denison was ahead 1½ to 40.

On index, industrials were down .91 to 167.51, golds 2.74 to 167.53, base metals .71 to 86.80, western oils 1.43 to 110.89 and the TSE .95 to 158.42.

At Montreal industrials fell 1.26 to 164.29, utilities .56 to 149.54 and banks 1.84 to 120.55. Papers were up 1.38 to 125.60. Volume was 5,962,100 shares compared with 6,786,188.

News Flow Taxation Protested

TORONTO (CP) — Newspaper and broadcasting groups are protesting the Ontario government's planned April 1 extension of the 5 per cent provincial sales tax to leased telegraph circuits, telegrams and long distance telephone calls.

The contend that any government action hampering the free flow of news is contrary to the public interest.

Among those making representations are the Toronto Telegram and Toronto Globe and Mail, The Canadian Press, the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and the Central Canada Broadcasters' Association.

J. D. MacFarlane, vice-president and editor-in-chief of The Telegram, wrote Provincial Treasurer James Allan that the government "has recognized that the dissemination of news is basic to our way of life and should not be interfered with by the imposition of any form of direct taxation."

Mr. MacFarlane's letter asked the government to consider exemption of:

—News wires leased by The Canadian Press, the national news-gathering co-operative, and by other news services for transmission to daily or weekly papers.

—Telegram and cable charges on news stories sent to newspapers by reporters, correspondents or other news sources.

—Long distance telephone charges or news sent to editorial departments of newspapers.

PRICE HIKES IN U.S.

Inflation Trends Noted

NEW YORK (AP)—A rash of price increases raised the spectre of inflation in the United States last week.

More companies joined in the $10-a-ton boost of a price of newsprint, an action that is estimated will cost U.S. newspaper publishers $75,000,000 a year.

Monsanto Co. raised the price of two phosphate plasticizers by 1½ cents a pound and off methyl salicylate, or wintergreen flavoring, by five cents a pound.

Union Carbide Corp., boosted the price of methanol, a basic chemical, by three cents a gallon.

Other producers followed United States Steel Corp.'s increases in steel plate prices.

Dow Chemical Corp. raised the price of styrene monomer, plastic product, one cent a pound.

LUMBER PRICES FIRM

West Coast lumber and plywood prices firmed as a result of the war in Viet Nam and the possibility of an industry strike.

The U.S. commerce department said industry expects to increase spending for new plant and equipment this year by 16 per cent to $60,230,000,000 from the 1964 record of $51,800,000,000.

Major banks raised their minimum lending rate—the interest charged the biggest borrowers—to 5½ per cent from five per cent.

The stock market declined immediately after the announcement.

The unemployment rate fell to 3.7 per cent of the labor force, a 12-year low, in mid-February, from four per cent in January.

Automobile production, helped by American Motors Corp.'s resumption of operations, rose this week to an estimated 199,800 passengers cars from 194,994 last week but trailed the year ago total of 213,263.

The week's total brought car completions for the year to 1,940,825, compared with 2,017,026 at this time last year.

'Hike Won't Hurt'

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union, predicted Saturday night the increase in newsprint prices will not impair the newspaper industry. "I expect the increase will be taken up somewhere along the line, maybe in higher advertising rates," he said in an interview.

HIS SALARY DROPS UNDER HALF MILLION

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp.'s 40 officers and directors collected $5,568,122 in salaries and bonuses in 1965, down from the $5,890,254 they got in 1964.

President Lynn A. Townsend received $489,800 in salary and bonuses last year, compared with $555,900 the previous year.

Townsend's total included $177,000 in salary and fees and incentive compensation bonus of $312,800, compared with $179,000 and $204,100 for 1964.

Chairman George H. Love collected $127,000 in salary and $204,100 in bonus for a total of $312,800, compared with $376,700 for 1964.

Canada Has the Oil, Needs Market in U.S.

EDMONTON (CP) — Canada's oil reserves are sufficient to wipe out this country's $2,000,000,000 balance of payment deficit with the United States, Industry Minister A. R. Patrick told the legislature here.

He made the statement in a survey of Alberta oil problems in reply to questions from Opposition Leader Mike Maccagno.

Mr. Patrick said "indiscriminate" efforts to increase Alberta oil production, which amount to more than half of Canada's, could result in inflation and a drying up of the oil exploration program in the country overnight because of limited markets.

Markets are limited, he said, by a restrictive U.S. oil import policy. Canada's oil exports to the U.S. are held to about three per cent of U.S. requirements. However, he said he thought economic necessity would soon force a change in U.S. policy. It would need careful diplomacy by Canada, Mr. Patrick said, but he thought Canada could be supplying six per cent of U.S. requirements within a few years.

If this happens we will have licked most of our oil problems, Mr. Patrick said.

He said the U.S. is anxious to market the oil being produced by 30 states, even at high production costs. But long-term economics were on Canada's side. Drilling in the U.S. was becoming steadily more expensive and U.S. oil reserves were at a 44-year low.

Conversely, Mr. Patrick said, Alberta drilling costs are decreasing, the demand for excellent, and sulphur prices have doubled in the last year.

He said the production quota for Great Canadian Oil Sands Company's oil extraction plant at Fort McMurray, 200 miles northeast of Edmonton, was set at 45,000 barrels daily when the company was given its permit because of unknown factors in the industry. The plant is due to start production in the fall of 1967.

PRODUCTION

Mr. Patrick said that since the production limit was set, several new oil fields have been discovered in Alberta and offshore oil production from coast provinces has become a possibility, both developments that could limit markets for the Fort McMurray oil.

He said the natural market for Alberta oil is in the west central and western U.S. If American policy becomes more flexible, Great Canadian's production quota could be increased and other producing companies in Alberta, now prorated at 45 per cent of capacity, might be allowed greater production.

JOINT WHALE RESEARCH EYED

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan's Kyokuyo Whaling Co. is negotiating with the Canadian government for participation in a plan for costal whaling based on Canada's east coast, a company spokesman said today.

Under the plan, the Canadian government would charter a whaling ship from Kyokuyo for use in experimental whaling to survey the whale resources off Eastern Canada, Kyokuyo said.

If the experiment showed the existance of sufficient whale resources in these waters, Kyokuyo hoped to organize a joint venture.

U.S. Buying Canada Gold

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. gold stocks increased by $5,000,000 during January, the first monthly increase since the last October and only the third such rise since January, 1965, the federal reserve board has reported.

Reason for the boost was the purchase of $50,000,000 worth of gold from Canada, a transaction that was repeated during February. The second purchase won't show up on the federal reserve board statistics until next month.

A treasury departmen' spokesman said the purchases in Canada more than offset the continuing drain on U.S. gold resources by France and West Germany, which have been cashing excess dollar holdings for gold at $35 an ounce.

U.K. Bonds Lower

LONDON (UPI)—The rise in the Bank of Canada interest rate—bank rate—to 5¼ per cent pushed British government bonds lower in early trading on the British stock market today. Market sources said that the Canadian move increased fears of higher interest rate in other centres.

Paper Price Probe Asked By Publisher

TORONTO (CP) — John Bassett, publisher of The Telegram says it is time for the government to undertake an inquiry into the whole pulp and paper industry in the face of rising newsprint prices.

He said in a signed article in The Telegram Saturday the recently-announced increase of $10 a ton in the price of newsprint "will place a heavy burden on Canadian daily newspapers, and based on the published profits of the main newsprint companies, cannot be justified."

Mr. Bassett said few businesses since the Second World War have been able to load their customers with a corresponding increase that rates with the newsprint companies' series of increases to $144 from $60 a ton since 1945.

The Telegram accompanied the article with a graph showing successive increases from 1945 to 1958, and then a period of stable prices until this year.

"Why have the newsprint companies never been investigated under the Combines Act?" he asked. "Why have successive governments never questioned if Canadian newspapers are being treated equitably?"

Mr. Bassett said other divisions of the paper industry have come under government scrutiny, including the paper box industry and fine paper operations.

This doesn't mean there has been anything illegal in their policies, "but it is legitimate to ask why there hasn't at least been some inquiry if for no other reason than to get answers before the public," he added.

Cigarette Prices Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Tobacco Co. announced today a price increase on all brands of its cigarettes, except one, effective immediately.

A company spokesman said the increase would amount to a cent for a 20-cigarette pack for the consumer although officially the price boost is figured in lots of 1,000 cigarettes.

The one exception, the company said, is Pall Mall filter cigarettes on which the price was reduced to $9.40 for 1,000 from $12.

On Lucky Strike regulars, the price was increased to $9.20 for 1,000 from $8.80 and on other brands to $9.40 from $9.

The company said it would have no statement on the reasons for the price changes.

The retail price for a 20-cigarette pack varies from state to state. In New York, the average price is about 43 cents a pack.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices Continue to Sink

The market continued to sink today at Wall Street, Toronto and Vancouver as price declines reached into almost all sections.

AT NEW YORK volume for t day was estimated at 7,300,000 shares compared with 7,010,000 Friday.

Rails, aerospace issues, airlines, electronics, chemicals, nonferrous metals, steels and office equipments were among the losers.

Cigarette shares were up from the start on news of price increases for cigarettes. Philip Morris held a 4-point gain. Lorillard, Reynolds, American Tobacco and Ligett and Myers held fractional gains.

AT VANCOUVER losses hit a majority of stocks.

Of 18 issues that were active in trading, 15 declined in price. Mining issues were hardest hit.

Biggest losers were Brenda Mines and Pyramid. Brenda lost .60 to $8.50 and pyramid was off .37 to $12.12.

Aretic dropped .12 to $1.75. Peace River Pete was off 02; Prosper .03; Arlington .07 and Bornite .05. Croydon was off .07 and Lornex fell .20 to $3.90. Patricia Solver, Rolling Hills and Rodstrom were all off

MacMillan, Bloedel fell to $27.62 on only 150 shares. Volume to 11 a.m. was 566,517 shares.

AT TORONTO stocks failed to rally in heavy mid-afternoon trading.

Among industrial issues, Imperial Oil fell 1 to 52⅜, B.C. Telephone ¾ to 74¼, Westcoast Transmission ⅝ to 25⅞, CPR and Inglis ½ each to 60½ and 9⅝.

Inco led the base metal group lower, declining 1⅛ to 97⅜. Noranda was off 1 to 51, Denison ½ to 39½ and Cominco ¼ to 44¼. Lake Dufault rose ½ to 13⅝.

Western oils continued to lose ground with Dome Petroleum sliding 1 to 16, Canadian Industrial Gas and Oil and Husky Oil ¼ each to 11⅝ and 13⅝. and Pacific Petroleum ⅛ to 12⅜.

Speculatives remained active with Consolidated Halliwell Climbing 26 cents to 1.65, Tribag 20 cents to 1.60 while D'Eldona dropped 8 cents to 1.01.

AT MONTREAL banks were u but mo stother sections moved fractionally lower in dull trading.

Industrial volume was 80,100 and mines and oils 458,200.

Du Pont led industrials lower by dropping ½ to 42¼.

AT LONDON the stock market drifted lower today on lack of interest and scattered small selling. Steels were quietly firm. There were few movements of consequence in industrials.

British funds were weak, reflecting sterling uncertainties and the Canadian bank-rate increase. Royal Bank of Canada was ⅜ lower.

Board Rules Payoff Is Income

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., provided a Caribbean cruise for the Winnipeg owners of a wholesale firm in 1962, then the revenue department provided the bill.

Leon Rosenberg and his brother, Bernard, paid but appealed. The tax appeal board ruled against them in a judgment made public Saturday.

The Rosenbergs took their wives on the cruise offered by Canadian General Electric as a sales incentive in return for orders to buy CGE radio tubes, TV picture tubes and other wares.

The brothers own Lee-Bern and Co. Ltd., wholesale distributors of electronic goods and household appliances.

The revenue department added the value of their trip to their declared income for 1962. CGE stated the value at $1,498.50 a person, including airline tickets to New York and passage on the liner Gripsholm.

When the Rosenbergs found more than $2,500 added to each of their income returns, they claimed expenses in buying holiday clothes for the trip and hiring a housekeeper for their children.

The tax appeal board said the revenue department rightly considered the value of the trip as part of their income from Lee-Bern and Co. It was not a gift from CGE but a benefit.

Clothing expenses weren't allowed as "the cost of suitable clothing is an expense common to all taxpayers whether they reside within the Arctic Circle or in a warmer climate," the board ruled.

OFFICIALS WERE GEARED FOR 'YES' VOTE

UNPOPULAR SHIFT SYSTEM RULED OUT

Early Call for Tenders to Follow School Plan Victory

The spectre of shift systems in Greater Victoria schools evaporated Saturday with the passage of the school referendum.

District school superintendent John Gough today said the money vote will have an "immediate impact."

Four new schools will go to tender between now and June.

"It will also enable the board to turn to the purchase of six portable classroom units to be used this September in areas of greatest need.

"This will prevent any need for shifts."

Mr. Gough said during the three months just past, following defeat of the school building program last December, the board has worked at top speed preparing plans and specifications in anticipation of a voting day victory.

Working drawings are being placed before the provincial education department immediately for Reynolds Junior-Senior Secondary School and Rockheights Elementary School.

"We expect to call for tenders for both in late March. We hope the construction will start about a month later.

"We expect to call tenders for Newton Elementary School (also) in April and tenders for Christie Point Elementary-Junior Secondary, in about three months," said Mr. Gough.

The Reynolds Junior-Senior will be built on Reynolds Road at Borden and will relieve crowding at S. J. Willis and Lansdowne by serving the Lake Hill district.

Throughout this summer a program of construction of new science labs in existing classrooms gets under way and equipment will be purchased for biology and physics classes and libraries, to accommodate new courses in September.

The money voted Saturday will finance a three-year program which is now expected to be completed on schedule.

The referendum passed easily with a 77 per cent 'yes' vote but only 25 to 30 per cent of eligible voters cast ballots.

The 70 to 75 per cent who abstained or forgot must have included many of the voters who voted 'no' when the same question was put forward in December, and defeated by a narrow margin.

On that occasion, school board officials believe the referendum was adversely affected by a strong opposition to the existing municipal-provincial cost-sharing formula for schools and hospitals.

Opponents said they were not saying there wasn't a need for new schools. But they believed the municipalities should make a stand on the theory that provincial revenues (drawn largely from ability-to-pay taxes) should carry the bulk of the cost load.

They said that under the present system the lion's share of school costs (and hospital and welfare costs) are drawn from property owners through property taxes which do not reflect accurately an ability to pay.

The province has given short shrift to this argument and let it be known in the case of hospitals, that defeat of local fund-raising schemes could only mean delays in provision of necessary facilities.

In December the hospital vote failed and so did the school vote which was held simultaneously.

The school vote required a 60-per-cent majority. But it received only 54.53 in Victoria which outweighed Oak Bay's 60.69, Esquimalt's 62.69, Saanich's 61.42 and View Royal's 75.76.

In Saturday's vote Victoria voted 71.35 per cent yes, Oak Bay 72.16, Esquimalt 79.43, Saanich 61.42 and View Royal 90.30. There were 9,611 yes votes and 2,884 no votes.

6,800 In Smog Fight

Petition Presented Cabinet Committee

A petition signed by more than 6,800 Alberni Valley residents backed a brief demanding elimination of air pollution presented today to a special cabinet committee.

The brief was presented by Andy Bigg who headed a 10-man delegation representing the Alberni Valley Citizens' Committee on Pollution.

The brief demanded legislation to prohibit pollution and regulations establishing an independent research organization concentrating on pollution problems and financed by compulsory assessments on industry.

SHUT THEM DOWN

The independent body should be empowered to shut down industries during excessive pollution periods created particularly by such phenomena as "air inversion" which causes much of the smog problem in the Alberni Valley during winter months.

The brief criticized the present system under which the B.C. Research Council has been appointed to study pollution problems. It said the council inevitably would be biased in industry's favor because it depended on voluntary donations from industry for much of its present income.

'WHITEWASH'

"They sent Dr. Frank Murray up last week and he just stayed five hours," said Mr. Bigg in an interview.

"He couldn't do a good job in that short a time. It's just a whitewash."

Dr. Murray was dispatched to the Alberni Valley by the cabinet committee as its first action since being formed two weeks ago.

The cabinet members are Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell; Forests, Lands and Water Resources Minister Ray Williston, and Industrial Development, Trade and Commerce Minister Ralph Loffmark.

Saanich Asks City's Price For Gorge Park

Saanich today asked the city to set a firm price for Gorge Park so negotiations to buy it can commence.

"For years the Gorge has been neglected by the city," said Saanich Coun. Edward Lum, a representative on Victoria - Saanich Beaches and Parks Commitee and chairman of the municipal parks committee.

"We couldn't stand it anymore so we are proposing to buy it from the city."

Saanich submitted an $11,000 proposal to develop the nine-acre city-owned park last year but heard no more.

"It got bogged down in the city somewhere," said Coun. Lum.

"At the end of last year it was suggested that perhaps Saanich could purchase it but so far it has been up to the city what it wants for it.

"We're waiting for a price to purchase."

Centennial Coordinator To Be Chosen

The last round in the "Who runs the centennial program?" was scheduled for tonight at the regular meeting of the Greater Victoria Confederation Centennial Society.

The society will select one man from eight applicants as co-ordinator for the entire two-year program—which got under way last Friday.

The decision to hire an individual co-ordinator was made after the society ran into heavy criticism for hiring a United States producing firm to run the two-year show.

BOOSTERS of Victoria Spring Flower Festival, April 2 to 10, will wear these daffodil lapel badges, explains Gloria Binks of Chamber of Commerce staff. The event includes choosing of a festival queen, airplane and sailboat rallies, a car roadeo, a bike race, fashion show, ball, parade, art show and other attractions. Some of us of course, will welcome spring on a bench at Beacon Hill. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

NO THREATS

Conciliation Officer Ready For Builders

Conciliation officer George Carmichael will step into the carpenters - contractors dispute later this week.

His services were requested when talks broke down after two meetings in negotiations for a new province-wide contract for 7,500 carpenters and nearly 600 contractors.

He will meet the Provincial Council of Carpenters, representing 29 locals, and the construction industry joint negotiating committee, covering the contractors, together.

$3.49 HOURLY

The current contract providing a basic $3.49 an hour expires next month.

The carpenters are seeking a 35-hour week and an extra 30 cents an hour over two years with no loss in pay with the shorter week. This would add 50 cents.

The contractors offered 45 cents over three years and no change in the eight-hour day, 40-hour week.

Wall Collapse Hurts Workman

A construction worker received hip and back injuries when a retaining wall of logs collapsed and rolled over him shortly before noon today at 2830 Quesnel St.

Injured was Fidele Lessard, 50, of 2731 Quadra. Extent of his injuries were not known at press time.

DALLAS ROAD CLOSED DURING MORNING BLOW

Victoria's southern shores were battered by seas made angry with winds gusting to 50 m.p.h. early this morning.

The weather office reports an east-southeast wind blew to a peak of 50 m.p.h., shortly before 6 a.m.

It abated to 30 m.p.h. with gusts to 50 in the following two hours.

At 9 a.m. the wind, still east-southeast had subsided to 10 m.p.h.

A weather office spokesman said high tides and high winds make a bad combination for the Dallas Road section of Marine Drive.

The section from along Ross Bay was barricaded because waves and driftwood were breaking over the pavement.

Hibernating Canine Caught By Gravel Pit Grizzly

By BILL CHATTERTON

Strange things have turned up from time to time in Butler Brothers' gravel pit on Keating Cross Road in Central Saanich.

The latest is a heavy chunk of sandstone bearing a remarkable resemblance to a dog's head.

The "art-piece" was spotted by Walter Monych, 1937 Keating, as he cleared large stones from a sieve-like apparatus called a "grizzly" with Ken Mollett, 7025 West Saanich Road.

ELEPHANT TUSK

About six years ago an elephant's tusk was unearthed at the pit and a knucklebone of unknown origin was also found.

Mr. Mollett said the sandstone dog head was found between 50 and 70 feet below the surface.

It was only by chance that it was found, he said.

Gravel is scooped up 15 yards at a time and dropped through the "grizzly" but the "dogstone" was slightly too big to go through and had to be cleared off along with other large stones. If it had slipped through it is unlikely it would have been found.

Thinking there may be more to it than meets the eye, Mr. Monych took the head to geologists in Victoria for a diagnosis. He was told it was only a freak.

Possibility of the stone being formed around the skull of a dog was also ruled out.

DOG'S NOSE

The stone has a perfectly shaped dog's nose, forehead and mouth, somewhat similar to a Dalmatian or an Irish Setter. The right side also has an "ear" in just the right position.

Mr. Mollet recalled earlier discoveries in the gravel pit.

He said Dr. Clifford Carl of the Provincial Museum came out to the pit when the tusk was found, and said it could have come from a hairy mammoth. Both the tusk and the knucklebone are now displayed at the museum.

There is a theory that this area was once the estuary of a river running from the B.C. Interior, and the items found in the gravel pit may have been washed hundreds of miles downstream.

It is also possible that the bones and unusual rocks were deposited here by glacial action.

Various bones, crude arrowheads and other bits from the past have been found in the pit over the years. Many more have probably been scooped out by the huge shovels and dumped unnoticed.

16-Year-Old Jailed Year For Series of Car Thefts

A youth who stole four cars in a month was sentenced in central court today to one year definite and one year indefinite.

Ronald G. McWilliams, 16, pleaded guilty to four counts of theft over $50.

He received a similar concurrent term for possession of housebreaking tools. He was convicted of that offence earlier this month.

All autos were recovered by police.

Magistrate William Ostler requested the youth be given "special attention" at Haney Correctional Institute.

Safecrackers Score In Weekend Forays

Church, Garage Among Victims

Weekend safecrackers continued to give city business a bad time Saturday and Sunday nights.

Cash and cheques totalling $1,500 was taken from Tyee Shell Service, 100 Esquimalt Road;

An undetermined amount of cash and liquor was stolen from the Pacific Club, 500 Fort, and

A safe containing $500 at the Christian Reform Church, 661 Anges, resisted thieves who tried to blow it open.

SECOND WEEKEND

It was the second big weekend in a row for thieves who cracked safes at five city business March 5-6.

Loot taken from the service station was $670 cash and $826 in cheques.

Police said the money was taken from a safe which was apparently left unlocked.

Police said the thief entered by throwing a rock through a rear window and climbing through.

A tire iron and hammer found in the shop were used to open the floor safe's "lid" or door. The dial was knocked off.

THREE QUESTIONED

Three youths were questioned by police Sunday afternoon but no arrests were made and investigation is continuing.

Station lessee Sam Rozendaal, told police he did not check the safe when he left the station Saturday night.

Theft was discovered by patrolling constables at 6:56 a.m. Sunday.

Acrobatics three storeys high were performed by yeggs who broke into the Pacific Club Sunday night.

THROUGH VENT

They stood on a fire escape railing to get on to the roof and then entered the building through an air vent.

Liquor cabinets on third and second floors were forced open and cash was taken from a cigarette machine.

Receipts of two barmen were taken from the manager's office after thieves forced the locked door. Loss is estimated under $100.

The burglars entered the church through an unlocked basement door and police believe they knew the location of the safe before they attempted the theft.

They tried to blow the safe open and also knocked the dial off. Saanich police are continuing to investigate.

Bombardment Plea Goes P-f-f-f-t

There were no signs this morning that Saanich residents were flocking to the colors raised by beleaguered John Tisdalle, Social Credit MLA fighting for retention of his present seat in the redistribution plan.

Mr. Tisdalle, who opposes the boundary changes that would shift the urban portions of Saanich into Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt constituencies while adding the Gulf Islands, appealed to Saanich voters to bombard Premier Bennett's office with petitions and telegrams at the weekend.

But an official in the premier's office this morning said "not a thing" had been rceived.

The Socred backbencher asked Saanich voters to demand that existing boundaries be retained and the Gulf Islands added but only as a two-MLA riding.

NEW NAME

The government redistribution bill proposes to end the present situation in which Saanich has 29,700 voters represented by a single MLA. The revised riding, renamed Saanich and the Islands, would have 18,800 voters represented by one MLA, comparable to most ridings.

But Mr. Tisdalle claimed the boundary shifts would "put Saanich out of balance with the rest of the province."

He said Saanich should be given two seats to offset the loss of one seat in Victoria so that Vancouver Island, as a whole, continued to have 10 seats in the legislature.

He said now was the time for Saanich voters to demand the dual-member riding while the government was in the process of modifying its redistribution bill to add one more seat to the Kootenay area.

School Tax Study Fumbled Says Alderman

Ald. Hugh Stephen feels a special committee established by the B.C. School Trustees Association went astray somewhere when it studied education financing.

"I would want to study their detailed report before commenting fully," Ald. Stephen said. "But from their summary it would appear they haven't really proven anything."

The committee, comprised of University of British Columbia Professor A. Wilton Moore, economist; Professor Philip H. White, assessment expert, and Arthur Guttman, general secretary of the trustees organization, said it could not "find support for the view that the weight of the property tax in British Columbia is excessive."

OPPOSITE VIEW

Ald. Stephen says the view of the B.C. committee is directly opposed to the views of the Urban Land Institute of America which recently concluded a similar study.

"They may well have made the mistake of comparing property taxes in the west with property taxes in the east," Ald. Stephen said. "I understand taxes are much higher in the east. But that doesn't prove anything really. It just means that the property tax situation is worse in the east than it is here."

Ald. Stephen said he found it difficult to believe that anyone could refuse to accept the fact that social services and education facilities are burgeoining to such an extent that it is impossible for the property tax to maintain them.

"I am not in favor of the withdrawal of municipalities from sharing school taxes," he said. "But I am in favor of determining where responsibility lies in social and education fields.

"Property taxes certainly are not fair these days. Take the simple example of the house-proud man who sinks all his money into his home. He pays for more in taxes, and therefore more towards education than the man who is content with a simpler home but sinks all his money in a boat or booze or on women."

Ald. Stephen added that it was strange that the trustees' committee is so much at variance with other groups.

"They say taxes are not excessive," he said. "But they do not say what excessive is. In my opinion the weight of taxes becomes excessive when it arrives at the point where it is not worth owning property, or, if we do own property, it is not worth improving. And I think we have just about arrived at that point now."

75 MILLS

Ald. Stephen said he had already forecast that if the present trend continues the Greater Victoria taxpayer will be facing a 75-mill levy by 1971.

"When that happens tax on property will hit the three per cent per annum on capital—and that's excessive," he said.

While stating that property taxes for school purposes are not too high in B.C. the trustees' special committee left the door open for a revised approach and opinion.

The study report stresses that a comprehensive evaluation and revision of the taxing statutes covering real property are long overdue.

"That is what we are asking for," said Ald. Stephen. "While present taxes may not yet be disastrous they will be in the near future unless a new formula is found."

Ask The Times

Q. What can you tell me about Cormorant Point and the lookout which stands there?—N.M.E.

A. The point is believed to have been named after the sloop HMS Cormorant which was stationed here from 1844-50. The lookout is actually a teahouse which was built around 1930, according to provincial archives.

U.K. Bonds Lower

LONDON (UPI)—The rise in the Bank of Canada interest rate—bank rate—to 5¼ per cent pushed British government bonds lower in early trading on the British stock market today. Market sources said that the Canadian move increased fears of higher interest rate in other centres.

VICTORIA — Banks buying cheques at 7¼ premium, notes 7⅛ premium and buying silver at 5¼. Selling cheques at 8 premium, notes 8¼ premium.

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar up 1/32 at 92 59/65 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling down 1/32 at $2.79 19/32.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a premium unch at $1.07⅝ in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Montreal reported near noon today. Pound sterling down 1/16 at $3.00⅝.

Paper Price Probe Asked By Publisher

TORONTO (CP) — John Bassett, publisher of The Telegram says it is time for the government to undertake an inquiry into the whole pulp and paper industry in the face of rising newsprint prices.

He said in a signed article in The Telegram Saturday the recently-announced increase of $10 a ton in the price of newsprint "will place a heavy burden on Canadian daily newspapers, and based on the published profits of the main newsprint companies, cannot be justified."

Mr. Bassett said few businesses since the Second World War have been able to load their customers with a corresponding increase that rates with the newsprint companies' series of increases to $144 from $60 a ton since 1945.

The Telegram accompanied the article with a graph showing successive increases from 1945 to 1958, and then a period of stable prices until this year.

"Why have the newsprint companies never been investigated under the Combines Act?" he asked. "Why have successive governments never questioned if Canadian newspapers are being treated equitably?"

Mr. Bassett said other divisions of the paper industry have come under government scrutiny, including the paper box industry and fine paper operations.

This doesn't mean there has been anything illegal in their policies, "but it is legitimate to ask why there hasn't at least been some inquiry if for no other reason than to get answers before the public," he added.

Cigarette Prices Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Tobacco Co. announced today a price increase on all brands of its cigarettes, except one, effective immediately.

A company spokesman said the increase would amount to a cent for a 20-cigarette pack for the consumer although officially the price boost is figured in lots of 1,000 cigarettes.

The one exception, the company said, is Pall Mall filter cigarettes on which the price was reduced to $9.40 for 1,000 from $12.

On Lucky Strike regulars, the price was increased to $9.20 for 1,000 from $8.80 and on other brands to $9.40 from $9.

The company said it would have no statement on the reasons for the price changes.

The retail price for a 20-cigarette pack varies from state to state. In New York, the average price is about 43 cents a pack.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices Continue to Sink

The market continued to sink today at Wall Street, Toronto and Vancouver as price declines reached into almost all sections.

The Dow-Jones index was off 10.86.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 7,300,000 shares compared with 7,010,000 Friday.

Rails, aerospace issues, airlines, electronics, chemicals, nonferrous metals, steels and office equipments were among the losers.

Cigarette shares were up from the start on news of price increases for cigarettes. Philip Morris held a 4-point gain. Lorillard, Reynolds, American Tobacco and Liggett and Myers held fractional gains.

AT VANCOUVER losses hit a majority of stocks.

Of 18 issues that were active in trading, 15 declined in price. Mining issues were hardest hit.

Biggest losers were Brenda Mines and Pyramid. Brenda lost .60 to $8.50 and Pyramid was off .37 to $12.12.

Arctic dropped .12 to $1.75. Peace River Pete was off 02; Prosper .03; Arlington .07 and Bornite .05. Croydon was off .07 and Lornex fell .20 to $3.90. Patricia Silver, Rolling Hills and Rodstrom were all off

MacMillan, Bloedel fell to $27.62 on only 150 shares.

AT TORONTO stocks failed to rally in heavy mid-afternoon trading.

Among industrial issues, Imperial Oil fell 1 to 52⅜, B.C. Telephone ¾ to 74¼, Westcoast Transmission ⅝ to 25⅞, CPR and Inglis ½ each to 60½ and 9⅝.

Inco led the base metal group lower, declining 1⅛ to 97⅜. Noranda was off 1 to 51, Denison ½ to 39½ and Cominco ¼ to 44¼. Lake Dufault rose ½ to 13⅝.

Western oils continued to lose ground with Dome Petroleum sliding 1 to 16, Canadian Industrial Gas and Oil and Husky Oil ¼ each to 11⅝ and 13⅜, and Pacific Petroleum ⅛ to 12⅜.

Speculatives remained active with Consolidated Halliwell Climbing 26 cents to 1.65, Tribag 20 cents to 1.60 while D'Eldona dropped 8 cents to 1.01.

AT MONTREAL banks were up but most other sections moved fractionally lower in dull trading.

Industrial volume was 80,100 and mines and oils 458,200.

Du Pont led industrials lower by dropping ½ to 42¼.

AT LONDON the stock market drifted lower today on lack of interest and scattered small selling. Steels were quietly firm. There were few movements of consequence in industrials.

British funds were weak, reflecting sterling uncertainties and the Canadian bank-rate increase. Royal Bank of Canada was ⅜ lower.

Board Rules Payoff Is Income

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., provided a Caribbean cruise for the Winnipeg owners of a wholesale firm in 1962, then the revenue department provided the bill.

Leon Rosenberg and his brother, Bernard, paid but appealed. The tax appeal board ruled against them in a judgment made public Saturday.

The Rosenbergs took their wives on the cruise offered by Canadian General Electric as a sales incentive in return for orders to buy CGE radio tubes, TV picture tubes and other wares.

The brothers own Lee-Bern and Co. Ltd., wholesale distributors of electronic goods and household appliances.

The revenue department added the value of their trip to their declared income for 1962. CGE stated the value at $1,498.50 a person, including airline tickets to New York and passage on the liner Gripsholm.

When the Rosenbergs found more than $2,500 added to each of their income returns, they claimed expenses in buying holiday clothes for the trip and hiring a housekeeper for their children.

The tax appeal board said the revenue department rightly considered the value of the trip as part of their income from Lee-Bern and Co. It was not a gift from CGE but a benefit.

Clothing expenses weren't allowed as "the cost of suitable clothing is an expense common to all taxpayers whether they reside within the Arctic Circle or in a warmer climate," the board ruled.

JACKPOT HIT BY 'SEVEN NUNS AT LAS VEGAS'

SEVEN NUNS AT LAS VEGAS
By Natalie White
Director: Nel Horth
Cast:

George Green	Roger Dewell
Sister Rose	Vera Friedrich
Sister Edna	Barbara Broad
Sister Columba	Margaret Dixon
Sister Felicitas	Doreen Rees
Sister Maria	Madeline Johnson
Sister Anne	Patricia Hughes
Sister Frances	Sonia Basanta
Edelman	Chris Johnson

Peaches	Christine Morrison
Boots	Lorraine Bowman
Baby	Doreen Renton
Reverend Mother	Emme Keller

A capacity house filled Langham Court Theatre on Saturday.

As there was a choice of three other live productions that evening, this surely is some indication of the way public taste lies.

Victoria has lately been submerged in heavy Renaissance drama of one kind or another. What it evidently prefers is to float on a bubble like Seven Nuns at Las Vegas, and the gentle humor of this unpretentious comedy fantasy provides a very agreeable evening.

The convent of St. Genesius (excellent set) is situated in the sub-zero wastes of Indiana. Sister Columba is Irish and rheumatic, and delightfully played by Margaret Dixon. She prays to St. Joseph that she may be warm, and lo, the convent is miraculously transported to the broiling desert.

BIBLE BOOM

The epiphany of the nuns causes a sensation in Las Vegas. There is a boom in Bibles and a slump in vice, to the chagrin of nightclub-owner Edelman, on whose property the convent has materialized.

Sister Felicitas is in charge in this absurd situation which becomes quite credible on stage. Played by Doreen Rees she exudes warmth, humanity and authority. Every gesture, inflection of voice, use of eyes and facial expression is just right. This is an absolutely three dimensional performance.

I especially liked also Sister Anne, (Patricia Hughes) a young and flighty nun, and Sister Maria (Madeline Johnson) an old and grumpy one.

BARE LEG

The deportment of all seven is entirely nun-like. For this I imagine the credit belongs to the Sisters of St. Ann, who are mentioned on the program. There was one exception. In a moment of excitement one of the nuns picked up her skirts and ran, displaying, oh horrors, black socks and bare leg.

Chris Johnson as Edelman turned in a convincing performance, though his Jewish accent was a little too thick for comprehension and could be modified somewhat.

The nuns' habits were authentic. But the rest of the costumes were poor. I have never seen anyone wearing a jacket in Las Vegas. Why would Edelman wear a suit, with a brown shirt, when we are told that outside it is 110 degrees? And in nine days of those temperatures he never changed that self-same shirt!

This is the sort of thing which keeps theatre in the category of amateur theatre.

LIVELY NOTE

The three girls from the night club, played by Christine Morrison, Lorraine Bowman and Doreen Renton, were a lively contrasting note, and enthusiastically applauded at every exit. But they came straight from "work" in their costumes. I would have like to have seen them each wearing something different, smarter and more sexy. I enjoyed the pink hair.

The gravest defect in an otherwise good production is the sound equipment. The radio tells us via the news, of the frantic search for the missing nuns, and it is most essential that we hear exactly what "it" (Roger Dewell) is saying.

If I had not previously read the script I would not have understood. The sound was distorted, the announcer spoke too fast, and made no allowance for laugh lines.

DISTORTED

Otherwise director Nel Horth has done a most artistic job in extracting every shade and nuance from the script.

Incidentally I have always understood that men were bored by plays about nuns. Yet I heard more robust laughter from the men in the audience than from the women Saturday night.

Seven Nuns at Las Vegas plays every night this week at 8:30.

'MUSICAL CITY' HITS SOUR NOTE

JOAN MASON HURLEY

Twenty-seven hundred people in Vancouver heard the Foerstrovo Trio. Less than 50 turned out Sunday evening to the McPherson Playhouse here.

What is the matter with Victoria? I know there were other concerts earlier in the day. But we pride ourselves on being a musical city.

Those who didn't come missed a superb concert. This famous Czech trio, sponsored by Les Jeunesse Musicales, consists of Ales Bilęk, pianist, Vaclav Jirovek, cellist and Frantisek Popsisil, violinist. All three are in their thirties, and each is a soloist of international reputation in Europe.

The program was announced from the platform, three out of six possible selections were to be given. The opening number was the delightful Haydn Trio in A major. What could be gayer or more ezquisite than the graceful melodies of the father of all chamber music?

TOTALLY DIFFERENT

The next selection was played from manuscript, a trio in A-minor by the young Czech composer, Ivan Rezac. Not only was the idiom totally different from Haydn, so was the very style of playing, with intricate bowing and pizzicato effects.

I don't know whether it was entirely appreciated by everyone in the audience, but the applause was as thunderous as only 50 people can make it.

In any event, was it my imagination that there was almost a sigh of relief, and certainly a burst of clapping when it was announced that the last item would be the great Archdule Trio of Beethoven.

FINE READING

This extremely satisfying work, symphonic in its scope, received a splendid reading by the trio. Particularly noteworthy for me was the piano, fountains and cascades of sparkling, rippling notes, never overpowering the balance of the three.

I was reminded of Bernard Shaw who said that the riotous humor of Beethoven's music "increased in recklessness with the years and troubles of the writer."

The audience made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers.

One of the encores was the allegretto from the Trio in E-minor of Shostakovich. This driving, pulsating, almost tortured music, symbolic of the war years in which it was written, was one of the most memorable moments of the evening.

Vaclav Jirovek told me afterwards, that in 47 concerts they have played across Canada in two months, the complete Shostakovich trio has been their most popular work, and in B.C. have been audiences "the most attentive."

Who was it said Victoria was a Beethoven town?

ZOOLOGIST:

Babv Seal Clubbing Humane

TORONTO (CP) — A University of Toronto zoologist said Sunday that clubbing baby seals on the Gulf of St. Lawrence is more humane than many methods of trapping and snaring wild animals.

Dr. D. H. Pimlott called for more regulations but said the clubbing "is just as humane as many of the small slaughter-houses in Ontario which are not under federal jurisdiction."

Dr. Pimlott was one of several observers invited by the federal department of fisheries to see the annual seal hunt in the St. Lawrence last week.

There have been criticisms that the hunters, who took 50,000 baby seal pelts in three days, were cruel and brutal, and that some of the baby seals had been skinned alive.

Dr. Pimlott said the skulls of the baby seals are soft and the club is therefore more effective than on adult seals with harder skulls. He said the club has the potential of being a humane weapon, but some abuses have occurred.

He said the annual adult seal hunt in international waters off the northern coast of Newfoundland is more inhumane.

'For Heaven's Sake'

For Heaven's Sake, a satirical Broadway-style play, will be presented in the McPherson Playhouse Monday, March 21, by Heritage Players of Northwest Christian College, Eugene, Ore.

One of the numbers in the show is called Gimme God Blues and is followed by a dance, Aim for Heaven.

Favreau Replies

OTTAWA (CP)—Privy Council president Guy Favreau, speaking in French, today told the Commons he appealed to Mr. Fulton's sense of justice and asked him to do what he could to stop Opposition attacks on the government in the Spencer debate.

He said Mr. Fulton's last words as he left the interview were: "I'll talk to him (Mr. Diefenbaker) if it can help." Mr. Cardin did not know about this interview when he first mentioned the Munsinger case in the Commons.

Utah Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate gave its unqualified support today to holding the 1972 winter Olympic Games in Utah.

It adopted, by voice vote, a resolution approving the nomination of Utah by the U.S. Olympic Committee. The recommendation will be considered by the International Olympic Committee next month in Italy.

4 MINISTERS KNEW WOMAN, SAYS FISHER

TORONTO (CP) — Douglas Fisher, former New Democratic Party member of Parliament for Port Arthur, says he heard the names of four cabinet ministers connected with Gerda Munsinger.

Mrs. Munsinger is the central figure in an uproar that has rocked Parliament with allegations of sex and security cases.

Mr. Fisher, appearing Sunday night on the CBC television program This Hour Has Seven Days, said two of the men he heard of were English-speaking and two French-speaking.

U.S. Denied Visa in '53

WASHINGTON (CP). — The U.S. state department said Monday that Gerda Munsinger, the German woman in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, was refused an American visa in 1953 at Munich, West Germany.

Press officer Robert McCloskey declined to say "at this time" why the visa was denied by a consular official.

But he said that the Canadian government has been informed "very recently" of the reasons.

McCloskey said he does not know whether the blonde, 37-year former beauty queen was married at that time to Mike Munsinger, now a New York city policeman. Munsinger had met her in Europe during U.S. military service.

'Cardin Must Go' —Fulton

OTTAWA (UPI) — Former Conservative Justice Minister Davie Fulton called today for the resignation of Prime Minister Pearson unless he can secure Justice Minister Lucien Cardin's departure from the cabinet.

The former Conservative justice minister said the atmosphere of "poison" now pervading the House could only be removed by Cardin's departure.

"The minister should resign his office, and thereby add to his own stature and restore the stature Parliament has lost due to his conduct," Fulton said to a Commons which was hanging on his every word.

"At the same time, prime minister and the government should disassociate themselves from his remarks. If the justice minister will not resign, the prime minister should dismiss him, and if the prime minister cannot bring himself (to do that), then I don't think I need to tell him what course of action he should pursue."

Times News Services

OTTAWA—With a plea to members of parliament not to betray the trust of the voters who sent them here, Prime Minister Pearson today announced establishment of a judicial inquiry into all aspects of the Munsinger case.

Pearson told a tense and jammed Commons the inquiry would be headed by Mr. Justice Wishart F. Spence, 62, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

He said he hoped to be able to table the terms of reference for the inquiry later in the day.

Speaking to near-full benches on both government and opposition sides of the Commons—and to overflowing visitors' galleries—Pearson said the inquiry's scope specifically laid out the charge that the entanglement of former Conservative ministers with blonde Gerda Munsinger jeopardized the country's safety.

IN UPROAR

The Commons has been in an uproar since last Thursday when Justice Minister Lucien Cardin told a news conference more than one minister in John Diefenbaker's past Conservative government had been involved in a "bona fide security case" with Mrs. Munsinger.

Cardin also accused Diefenbaker of mishandling the case by not referring it to the law officers of the crown and trying to sweep it under the rug.

The House was quiet and seemingly subdued and perhaps remorseful as the prime minister spoke today. Mr. Pearson called the affair "unhappy and distressing."

Mr. Pearson said Parliament had reached a "frightening situation."

The atmosphere and attitudes which degraded Parliament and demeaned democracy must be changed.

Mr. Pearson said he would make no attempt to assess the blame for the situation.

MENTIONS BITTERNESS

But it had not developed suddenly. It was the culmination of long sessions carried on in an atmosphere of extreme partisanship, bitterness and suspicion.

Former Conservative Justice Minister Davie Fulton said today in the Commons he was told by the Liberals eight days before the Munsinger case broke that the affair would be disclosed by the government if the Conservatives persisted in

Sikhs Attack With Spears

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Turbaned Sikh volunteers shouting religious war cries counterattacked thousands of stone-throwing Hindus with spears and swords today after the Hindus marched on the holiest Sikh shrine in New Delhi.

Scores of persons were stabbed and many others were injured by club-swinging police trying to break up the rioting mob.

It was the fourth consecutive day of rioting in India by Hindus protesting the federal government decision to establish an official Punjabi-speaking state. Punjab is the language of the Sikhs.

Thousands of Hindu members of the militant rightwing Jan Sangh party coursed through the streets of old Delhi, burning Sikh shops in the city's largest shopping area.

Police fired tear gas in an effort to quell the riots.

The violence here erupted after two weeks of food riots in West Bengal state which claimed the lives of 26 persons.

Thirty jailed leftist political leaders were scheduled to be released following an amnesty proclaimed by the state governor on the recommendation of the federal home minister, G. L. Nanda.

MARTYRS' DAY

The jailed men included 12 state legislators and a number of communists.

A Martyrs' Day parade was staged Sunday by 50,000 persons honoring the memory of the 26 persons killed in the food riots.

Police also put down disturbances Sunday in the Sikh holy city of Amritsar and at Jullundar in the Punjab.

New Opposition

NAIROBI (Reuters) — An opposition party to President Jomo Kenyatta's Kenya African National Union—the country's only political party—was reported to have been formed today. Some dissident KANU party members said they have broken away to form the opposition group and have the support of about 20 KANU branches throughout the country. They also claimed support from Kenya's left-wing Vice-President Oginga Oginga.

SEVIGNY

'Stunned By Her Call'

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Sevigny, former associate defence minister in the Diefenbaker government, said today he received a telephone call Friday from Gerda Munsinger and he was flabbergasted.

He said in an interview the call from Munich, West Germany, came to his home and was directed to him at his office.

Mr. Sevigny gave no details of the telephone conversation.

"Naturally I was flabbergasted," he said. "I had not seen this person in six years and I assumed that she was dead after the announcement to that effect in the House."

The former cabinet minister said the whole affair had been blown "out of all proportion," and that security is not an issue in the matter.

He said there had never been any personal animosity between himself and Justice Minister Cardin, who brought up the Munsinger matter in the House of Commons.

"It is incredible to think the government would paralyze the nation's business over this totally absurd affair . . . it is sheer nonsense."

"I knew the woman socially, but I have reached a point now where I have said all I am go-

CROWDS GATHER

Circus Atmosphere Around Parliament

OTTAWA (UPI)—"This is nuts. This is nuts."

Such were the words of a harried Parliament Hill security officer Monday as dozens of curious onlookers flocked into the Centre Block in anticipation of an explosive Commons debate on the Munsinger sex and security scandal.

More than two hours before the Commons met more than 100 spectators had congregated in the high-domed main floor lobby of the historic building.

"What time does the House sit?" a grey-haired woman asked the security officer.

Can't I just wander around the building and see what's happening?" an attractive young girl with dark shoulder-length hair wondered.

Extra security staff were called in to handle the expected crush of spectators from normally blase Ottawa.

The main switchboard on Parliament Hill was flooded with callers asking when the sitting started, security officers reported.

The unusual interest wasn't confined only to the public.

By noon, the parliamentary press gallery has issued about 25 temporary passes to visiting newsmen and photographers from Canada and the United States.

The extra newsmen were forced to sit in the public galleries for the day.

HOUSE INFORMED

'Recognize Picture But Not Name:' Hees

Times News Services

OTTAWA—George Hees said in the Commons today he recognizes pictures of Gerda Munsinger as a person he once knew but still does not recall knowing her by that name.

He said that at no time had his personal conduct jeopardized the security of the nation and added:

"I defy the prime minister and the minister of justice to say that I ever did anything to jeopardize or affect the security of my country.

"I challenge them now to state that I did."

Mr. Hees rose on a question of privilege shortly after the opening of the sitting to read a 225-word statement.

He began by recalling that "on several occasions in the last 10 days I have publicly stated that I did not know a person by the name of Olga Munsinger."

"A person of that name now is reported to have said that she lunched with me twice, seven or eight years ago."

Gerda Munsinger was quoted today by the Toronto Star to that effect.

"She may well be right," Mr. Hees went on. "Although I still do not recall knowing any person by that name, I have examined the pictures of that person in the Saturday newspapers and I believe I recognize the woman pictured there."

The Star quotes Gerda as saying in Munich:

"I met George Hees exactly twice. Both times we had lunch at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa in the downstairs dining room. After lunch we parted.

"Mr. Hees knew me by sight and asked me to have lunch with him as his guest because he knew I was a friend of (Pierre) Sevigny."

Gamble Seat, PC Head Told

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Cardin challenged Opposition Leader Diefenbaker today to stake his Commons seat on the results of a judicial inquiry into the Munsinger case.

"Then we will know who has courage and who has not," Mr. Cardin declared in his first Commons mention of the matter since last Thursday.

Mr. Cardin said "I give my word" that he disclosed the case in the Commons March 4 only under provocation. He had no planned and did not intend to use the affair "at that time."

Mr. Cardin also said he hadn't planned to discuss the case at a press conference last Thursday when he said "two or more" ministers in Mr. Diefenbaker's cabinet were involved in a security "risk."

The minister repeated his charge that Mr. Diefenbaker "mishandled" the Gerda Munsinger affair and that he would stake his seat on the allegation.

Mr. Cardin said he is not afraid to name names in the Commons.

SAYS NOT RIGHT THING

But "I don't believe that is the right thing to do," he added. Names could come out at the inquiry. This would be the fairest way to deal with the matter.

Mr. Cardin said Mr. Diefenbaker saw the file and knows the names.

The opposition "only today" was beginning to wonder wha was happening to Parliament In the last several years strategy had been introduced which was destroying Parliament. The government had been fighting against this.

Mr. Cardin said he has been accused of being a coward fo having chosen the moment when Mr. Diefenbaker went fishing t discuss the Munsinger affair a a press conference.

But he had mentioned the affair March 4 when Mr. Diefenbaker was "sitting right i front of me."

GERDA SELLS STORY

By PETER BUCKLEY

MUNICH, West Germany (CP) — Gerda Munsinger, blonde central figure in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, will fly to Canada to clear her name, her new literary agent said today.

The agent, Josef von Ferenczy, said in a statement that Mrs. Munsinger has left Munich to escape reporters, but would remain in West Germany, working with his writers, for two or three days.

In his statement, Ferenczy confirmed that Mrs. Munsinger, a 37-year-old former beauty queen, is the woman named in the Canadian allegations that she had links with two or more former Conservative cabinet ministers.

Ferenczy, who has bought the world rights to her story for his feature agency, Ferenczy Presse Agentur, said he paid hundreds of thousands of marks for Mrs. Munsinger's "shocking story."

The West German mark is worth slightly less than 27 cents in Canadian funds.

LEAVES APARTMENT

Mrs. Munsinger, described by her neighbors as pleasant and respectable, slipped out of her modest apartment Sunday night with two unidentified men and entered a car which had just pulled out. The escorts pushed away one reporter and their car struck another as they drove off.

Meanwhile, the Bild Zeitung, West Germany's largest circulation newspaper, quotes her as saying:

"I am no spy, I skipped out of the East in 1948 because it didn't suit me over there anymore. Of all people, why should I stick out my neck for Canadian politics?

"What's all the fuss? What have I done that's so criminal? Let them bring down the government. That's none of my business any more.

"Naturally I knew Pierre Sevigny (former Conservative cabinet minister); I knew lots of men. But that's my private affair."

'CHARMING GUY'

Then referring to Sevigny, she was quoted as adding thoughtfully:

"It's too bad about Pierre. He was such a charming guy. Just imagine, they want to trip him up on something like that."

Before leaving the apartment Sunday night, Mrs. Munsinger had holed up for 36 hours as she negotiated with persons seeking to buy her story.

Mrs. Munsinger moved into her apartment about three years ago, apparently after spending some time in a Swiss hotel after leaving Canada in 1961. She went to Canada in 1955. The apartment is said to rent for 150 marks ($40) a month.

Klaus Reissner, manager of the Scotch - Kneipe Discoteque, said Mrs. Munsinger had been working on and off there for the last few months, earning $7.50 a night managing the buffet.

He described her as pleasant and obliging and said "she must have been a beauty at one time."

She also left a good impres-

NDP to Vote Against Grits On Munsinger

VANCOUVER (UPI) — National NDP leader T. C. Douglas said today his party would vote to defeat the government over its handling of the Munsinger case.

But he doubts the Libera administration will be topple because the Creditistes hav said "they will support th government, and the Socia Credit will probably follo suit," he added.

Douglas, in Vancouver for speaking engagement, criticize Justice Minister Lucien Cardi especially.

"He handled the whole situa tion very badly, and the prim minister looks exceptionally i competent in the face of th current situation," he added.

Douglas condemned Cardin actions in calling a pres conference "and making buck shot accusations which h wouldn't substantiate in th House . . ."

HUMPHREY:

Do Not Isolate Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey says he believes the containment of China's "agressive militancy" is a worthy objective but the Peking regime should not be isolated "from the family of mankind."

Humphrey said Sunday Americans "ought to maintain as best we can a spirit of friendship toward the Chinese people, but recognizing what the regime is and making that regime understand they can not achieve their purpose by military power."

He accused China of supplying small arms and munitions to North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong. He said the United States is "prepared at this moment to accept a ceasefire" in Viet Nam and include Chinese Communist representatives in any peace negotiations.

In other weekend developments:

—India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said that while China should be contained it also should be admitted to the United Nations. She suggested that exclusion of China from the UN may have contributed to present problems. "Perhaps if China had not been so isolated it wouldn't have been so aggressive," she said on ABC's radio-television program Issues and Answers.

—Representative Melvin R. Laird (Rep.—Wis.), appearing on the CBS radio-television program Face The Nation, called upon President Johnson to clarify his position on "including Communists in a coalition government" in South Viet Nam.

—Governors of 39 states unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policy. The action came after the governors were briefed at the White House by Johnson and his advisers.

Ronning was not available for comment on reports that he had talks with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and that he delivered a message from Prime Minister Pearson.

BABIES BORN WITH DRUG ADDICTION

NEW YORK (UPI) — The department of health said Sunday hundreds of babies are born annually in New York City with the symptoms of drug addiction.

According to the department, the babies suffer from "neonatal drug addiction" — the result of being poisoned during pregnancy by the narcotics taken by their mothers.

If untreated, many of the neonatal addicts, who "suffer all the tortures of drug withdrawal," soon die.

ARMY NABS VIET WAR OPPONENT

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—An American army private who says he's on a hunger strike to protest the war in Viet Nam, was arrested Saturday for participating in a peace demonstration while in uniform.

Private Michael Murphy of Olympia, Wash., was arrested by military police when he met seven members of the Seattle Youth for Peace in Viet Nam group at the main gate of the fort here.

The peace marchers were demonstrating to protest Murphy's alleged mistreatment by the army, and in support of his stand.

Fort Lewis officials said Murphy was being restricted to barracks until military police report to the battalion commander.

Sex 'Is Part of Spying' Hooded Ex-Clerk Claims

TORONTO (CP)—Igor Gouzenko, the Russian cipher clerk who pulled the plug on a Soviet spy ring in Canada in 1945, made one of his rare public appearances Sunday night, claiming that the Soviet Union fills its embassy in Ottawa with espionage agents.

Gouzenko, with his head coverd in a white hood, was interviewed on the CBC television program This Hour Has Seven Days. His last public appearance was about 18 months ago when he was seen similarly hooded on CBC's Front Page Challenge.

A CBC spokesman said Sunday's interview was taped immediately before broadcast. Gouzenko has been living incognito under the eyes of the RCMP in a small Ontario town since the spy trials which followed his disclosures.

GOUZENKO
. . . brings a 'message'

He said he had agreed to appear on television to "bring a message to the Canadian people."

He said the Soviet Union sends nobody to Canada unless "he is a Soviet agent." These agents collect any information which might be useful in influencing people, he said.

Sex is definitely part of spying, he said, and gave as an example a message that once passed through his hands instructing an agent to "court a girl and marry her, if necessary."

Gouzenko said the agent was already married with children, but he did not elaborate on the incident.

CASTRO READY FOR CHINA SPLIT

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today Cuba is prepared for a break in diplomatic relations with China, which he accused of "launching an imperialist - type campaign against Cuba."

He also denied rumors of growing internal opposition to his government.

In an angry 4½-hour speech, Castro said Peking apparently was trying to provoke a break in relations by carrying out a "new campaign of calumny" and continuing its "economic aggressions" against Cuba.

Castro said he was considering limiting the number of Chinese officials in Cuba as a result of a Chinese request to take out of the country trucks, cars and other large equipment belonging to Peking's representatives in Cuba.

The deterioration in relations between Havana and Peking became known Jan. 2 when Castro accused China of reneging on an agreement to supply Cuba with 250,000 tons of rice this year. Peking said he was lying.

"It is sad and humiliating," Castro shouted, "that in the midst of the battle that our people are waging against imperialism . . . we have to, at the same time, distract our energies to reply to those whom we considered our sincere allies."

Speaking at Havana University ceremonies commemorating the 1957 student attempt to assassinate dictator Fulgencio Batista, Castro said his revolutionary regime has created "a great climate of security and a great climate of confidence."

U.K. Bonds Lower

LONDON (UPI)—The rise in the Bank of Canada interest rate—bank rate—to 5¼ per cent pushed British government bonds lower in early trading on the British stock market today. Market sources said that the Canadian move increased fears of higher interest rate in other centres.

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA — Banks buying cheques at 7¼ premium, notes 7⅛ premium and buying silver at 5⅛. Selling cheques at 8 premium, notes 8¼ premium.

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar up 1/32 at 92 59/65 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling down 1/32 at $2.79 19/32.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a premium unch at $1.07⅝ in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Montreal reported near noon today. Pound sterling down 1/16 at $3.00⅝.

Paper Price Probe Asked By Publisher

TORONTO (CP) — John Bassett, publisher of The Telegram says it is time for the government to undertake an inquiry into the whole pulp and paper industry in the face of rising newsprint prices.

He said in a signed article in The Telegram Saturday the recently-announced increase of $10 a ton in the price of newsprint "will place a heavy burden on Canadian daily newspapers, and based on the published profits of the main newsprint companies, cannot be justified."

Mr. Bassett said few businesses since the Second World War have been able to load their customers with a corresponding increase that rates with the newsprint companies' series of increases to $144 from $60 a ton since 1945.

The Telegram accompanied the article with a graph showing successive increases from 1945 to 1958, and then a period of stable prices until this year.

"Why have the newsprint companies never been investigated under the Combines Act?" he asked. "Why have successive governments never questioned if Canadian newspapers are being treated equitably?"

Mr. Bassett said other divisions of the paper industry have come under government scrutiny, including the paper box industry and fine paper operations.

This doesn't mean there has been anything illegal in their policies, "but it is legitimate to ask why there hasn't at least been some inquiry if for no other reason than to get answers before the public," he added.

Cigarette Prices Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Tobacco Co. announced today a price increase on all brands of its cigarettes, except one, effective immediately.

A company spokesman said the increase would amount to a cent for a 20-cigarette pack for the consumer although officially the price boost is figured in lots of 1,000 cigarettes.

The one exception, the company said, is Pall Mall filter cigarettes on which the price was reduced to $9.40 for 1,000 from $12.

On Lucky Strike regulars, the price was increased to $9.20 for 1,000 from $8.80 and on other brands to $9.40 from $9.

The company said it would have no statement on the reasons for the price changes.

The retail price for a 20-cigarette pack varies from state to state. In New York, the average price is about 43 cents a pack.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices Continue to Sink

The market continued to sink today at Wall Street, Toronto and Vancouver as price declines reached into almost all sections.

The Dow-Jones index was off 10.86.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 7,300,000 shares compared with 7,010,000 Friday.

Rails, aerospace issues, airlines, electronics, chemicals, nonferrous metals, steels and office equipments were among the losers.

Cigarette shares were up from the start on news of price increases for cigarettes. Philip Morris held a 4-point gain. Lorillard, Reynolds, American Tobacco and Liggett and Myers held fractional gains.

AT VANCOUVER losses hit a majority of stocks.

Of 18 issues that were active in trading, 15 declined in price. Mining issues were hardest hit.

Biggest losers were Brenda Mines and Pyramid. Brenda lost .60 to $8.50 and Pyramid was off .37 to $12.12.

Arctic dropped .12 to $1.75. Peace River Pete was off 02; Prosper .03; Arlington .07 and Bornite .05. Croydon was off .07 and Lornex fell .20 to $3.90. Patricia Silver, Rolling Hills and Rodstrom were all off

MacMillan, Bloedel fell to $27.62 on only 150 shares.

AT TORONTO stocks failed to rally in heavy mid-afternoon trading.

Among industrial issues, Imperial Oil fell 1 to 52⅝, B.C. Telephone ¾ to 74¼, Westcoast Transmission ⅝ to 25⅞, CPR and Inglis ½ each to 60½ and 9⅝.

Inco led the base metal group lower, declining 1⅛ to 97⅜. Noranda was off 1 to 51, Denison ½ to 39½ and Cominco ¼ to 44¼. Lake Dufault rose ½ to 13⅝.

Western oils continued to lose ground with Dome Petroleum sliding 1 to 16, Canadian Industrial Gas and Oil and Husky Oil ¼ each to 11⅝ and 13⅝, and Pacific Petroleum ⅛ to 12⅜.

Speculatives remained active with Consolidated Halliwell Climbing 26 cents to 1.65, Tribag 20 cents to 1.60 while D'Eldona dropped 8 cents to 1.01.

AT MONTREAL banks were up but most other sections moved fractionally lower in dull trading.

Industrial volume was 80,100 and mines and oils 458,200.

Du Pont led industrials lower by dropping ½ to 42¼.

AT LONDON the stock market drifted lower today on lack of interest and scattered small selling. Steels were quietly firm. There were few movements of consequence in industrials.

British funds were weak, reflecting sterling uncertainties and the Canadian bank-rate increase. Royal Bank of Canada was ⅜ lower.

Board Rules Payoff Is Income

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., provided a Caribbean cruise for the Winnipeg owners of a wholesale firm in 1962, then the revenue department provided the bill.

Leon Rosenberg and his brother, Bernard, paid but appealed. The tax appeal board ruled against them in a judgment made public Saturday.

The Rosenbergs took their wives on the cruise offered by Canadian General Electric as a sales incentive in return for orders to buy CGE radio tubes, TV picture tubes and other wares.

The brothers own Lee-Bern and Co. Ltd., wholesale distributors of electronic goods and household appliances.

The revenue department added the value of their trip to their declared income for 1962. CGE stated the value at $1,498.50 a person, including airline tickets to New York and passage on the liner Gripsholm.

When the Rosenbergs found more than $2,500 added to each of their income returns, they claimed expenses in buying holiday clothes for the trip and hiring a housekeeper for their children.

The tax appeal board said the revenue department rightly considered the value of the trip as part of their income from Lee-Bern and Co. It was not a gift from CGE but a benefit.

Clothing expenses weren't allowed as "the cost of suitable clothing is an expense common to all taxpayers whether they reside within the Arctic Circle or in a warmer climate," the board ruled.
